Fire Hall Renovation, Communication Upgrade Top Capital Improvement List

PENNY WILLIAMS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The CIP – the Town's Capital Improvement Program – was up for discussion by the Londonderry Planning Board, with Jon Vogl, Geographic Information Systems manager and comprehensive planner, and various representatives of the proposed CIP projects discussing the main points, priority level and the cost.

The Planning Board accepted all the presented proposals, which will move on to the Town Council for consideration.

Central Fire Station
Listed as Priority 1, meaning it cannot be delayed and is needed immediately for health and safety, is a renovation project for the Central Fire Station.

Fire Chief Darren O'Brien spoke to the project at the Wednesday, Sept. 14 meeting. The cost is $4,083,433, with $408,343

Expanded Design Presented for Litchfield Road Elderly Housing

PENNY WILLIAMS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

More housing units are proposed for the latest conceptual design of an elderly housing development slated for 7 Litchfield Road.

The Londonderry Planning Board heard from Kent Brown of Brown Engineering at its Wednesday, Sept. 14 meeting.

The previous discussion of the DeCarolus development proposed 48 units on the 14-plus acre parcel. The board was split at the time between favoring townhouse or rental apartments.

Brown said the new concept offers four, six-unit townhouse buildings and four, eight-unit apartment buildings, with a 2-acre lot subdivided off for a duplex. This increased the total number of proposed units to 56, and Brown pointed out that density would allow more than that number.

The developer is seeking an easement from abutters in order to put in sewer and water lines to Mammoth Road, a key factor in gaining the ability to get the sewer line to the last manhole on Mammoth Road before crossing the brook.

Each of the units would be two bedrooms, but no decision has been made on whether the units would be for sale or for rent. The townhouses may be for sale, with the apartments for rent, but again, no decision has been reached. The market currently favors all rental, the board was told.

The board said the latest proposal was a nice compromise of townhouse and apartment units. Brown noted that the developer is still looking for feedback from the board but hoped this would be the final concept to be presented.

Woodmont's Duck Pond, Wetlands Impacts Go To Conservation

KATHLEEN D. BAILEY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The project team for Woodmont Commons will have one more meeting with the Londonderry Conservation Commission before going to the Planning Board in October.

Ari Pollock, an attorney working with the developers, and Jeff Kavan, an engineer with T.F. Moran, met with the Commission at its Sept. 13 meeting. After an extended discussion on wetland impacts, it was agreed that the developers should cross a few more t's before going to the Planning Board with this phase of the project.

Where they've been

Pollock sketched a brief history of the project, noting that the Master Plan had been approved in September 2013. A process involving a charette, peer review and public outreach occurred, he said. Many pieces of the project were reviewed by Town Counsel, such as who would pay for the infrastructure necessary to support the planned development, who would pay for the streets, and other issues.

The site plan for the first phase, the relocation of Market Basket and the redevelopment of the Market Basket plaza, was approved in the summer and fall of 2015, Pollock reminded the Commission. The store itself had relocated five years before, and more recently the old building and adjacent structures were torn down. The parking lot was expanded and a new retail plaza, including a relocated liquor store and Hallmark store, was built. Home Goods and T.J. Maxx also moved from their former homes at the Shaw's plaza.

"We also prepared pad sites for future users," Pollock said. He added that he hasn't come forward with plans for the pad sites because he is wait-

Londonderry Developments Topic at Regional Planning

KATHLEEN D. BAILEY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

A Londonderry perspective will be part of the agenda when the Southern New Hampshire Planning Commission meets Tuesday, Sept. 27 in Manchester.

Londonderry Town Planner Colleen Mailloux said the Commission meets every month, and communities take turns presenting their projects and progress, "so the rest of the region will know what we're doing."

Mailloux said she plans to speak on the Woodmont Commons development and also on the activity at Pettengill Road near the airport, which has included F.W. Webb and EFI.

There is "a lot of activity" in Londonderry and in Southern New Hampshire in general, Mailloux observed. "The economy is coming back," she said, adding that her office has seen both new businesses coming in and expansion, remodeling or relocating of existing businesses. There are also a lot of small projects in the works, according to Mailloux.

"We are busy," she said.

The meeting is Tuesday, Sept. 27, at 11 a.m. at 438 Dubuque St., Manchester.

Pickin' Time

Harrison Hillman stretches for just the right apple on Tuesday morning as apple picking season gets underway at Moose Hill Orchard. Two varieties were ready for harvest this week, with more being set to go next weekend. So far McIntosh and Jonamacs can be picked, with Honey Crisp apples starting on Saturday. Harrison was visting with his family from Sanibel, Fla., and stopped at Mack's on their way home.

Disaster Training Drill Planned for Manchester Airport

KATHLEEN D. BAILEY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry Fire Department lent its personnel, equipment and expertise to a training exercise scheduled for Sept. 21, after Londonderry Times press time, at the Manchester-Boston Regional Airport.

Fire Chief Darren O'Brien said the exercise is conducted every three years. "It's a full-scale exercise simulating an aircraft emergency," he said. "It usually involves a problem with the engine, a problem with the landing gear, smoke on board, or something similar."

The exercise involves an active emergency, with multiple patients transported to area hospitals, O'Brien said in a phone interview. "It involves a lot of entities," he said.

Londonderry is sending 10 staff members, two ambulances and one fire engine, he said. "Our role is to run the EMS (emergency medical services) branch of the operation." They will lead the way in patient triage, treatment and transportation, according to O'Brien.

While the exercises have been going on for years, this is the first time one has been held mid-week, O'Brien said. The Pease Air National Guard facility also holds training exercises every three years, and the Manchester airport is trying to get on a different schedule, he said.

There will be two staging areas, one at the airport rescue station and one in an overflow parking lot, he said. Thirty-plus ambulances are expected from a number of towns as far north as Concord.

The "patients," students at local nursing schools, will be separated under different-colored tarps according to the nature of their injuries, O'Brien said. They will wear "mouflage," special makeup to simulate an injury, and will have tags around their necks delineating their blood pressure, respiratory state and more. "That allows the first responders to know their 'condition,'" O'Brien said.

The program was to begin at 9 a.m. and run for 3-1/2 hours, after which participants were to debrief and critique, he said.

The program will be held on the East-West runway at the airport, and though adjustments will be made for weather, it will be held rain or shine, he said.

O'Brien said the scenario for the "disaster" was created by the airport administration under FAA (Federal Aviation Administration) guidelines. They were originally going to go with a terrorist scenario, he said, but decided to change it because they wanted more involvement for EMS services.

Housing

The board members had a few questions but for the most part were pleased with the revised design. Most approved the mix of townhouses and apartments, particularly given the topography of the parcel and retaining the all-on-one-floor design.

The board asked about the duplex but that won't be considered until after a traffic study is done and the site plan is developed.

Chair Art Rugg said the new concept design looks good and there is a need for what it proposes. He recommended the developers work closely with abutters to avoid any issues from that quarter that would delay or make things difficult. Brown said they were already doing that.

Rugg said the development proposal should also go before the Heritage Commission, particularly if there are stone walls on the parcel. Brown said the parcel survey was not complete. Rugg reminded him that if a wall is a boundary, it can't be touched, and said the developer also needs to meet with the Conservation Commission.

Brown thanked the board and staff for their input and said the priority right now is getting the sewer and water lines set.

Think for Yourself

Would you rather be exposed to as many ideas as possible and make up your own mind as to their worth, or have someone else, sanctioned by the government, decide what you should know.

That's the essence of what the American Library Association's Banned Books Week, which takes place Sept. 25 through Oct. 1, is all about. Its whole purpose is to celebrate the freedom to read and the importance of the First Amendment.

Banned Books Week reminds us of books that people have attempted to keep from the public for myriad reasons. But in all cases, the challenge – the attempt to keep a book from you and me – involves people saying they have the right to tell others what they cannot read. We can't accept that.

Parents have the right and the duty to guide their children's moral values and oversee their reading. They do not have the right to dictate what anyone else's children read. But that's what a request to ban a book means.

In simple terms, what you like to read may not be what I like to read, but neither of us has the right to prevent the other from reading what we want.

Do you read the Bible? Did you enjoy "The Catcher in the Rye" or "The Grapes of Wrath" or "To Kill a Mockingbird" or "The Lord of the Flies" or "Brave New World" or "The Call of the Wild" or "Native Son." How about novels by Toni Morrison or Ernest Hemingway?

All faced banning.

Society faces grave danger when restraints are placed on availability of information. That's why we cherish press freedom, and why our country's founders enshrined it in the Constitution. And that's why we think you should be able to go the library and select any book you want – without someone having censored the collection first.

Don't take your freedom to read for granted. There are people eager to tell you – and libraries – what they've decided should be kept away from us. That's called censorship. And there is no place for it in American society.

Of course some books contain viewpoints offensive to some readers. The solution? Don't read the book.

Banned Books Week celebrates open access to the expression of ideas, even those out of the mainstream.

We invite you to celebrate your right to think for yourself this week by visiting your local library and checking out a book. Your choice. Any one at all.

Johnson and Weld Ticket

To the editor:

The Libertarian ticket of Johnson for President and Weld for Vice President provides a huge amount of executive experience acquired when they were governors of their states.

I believe governors are the most qualified politicians to ascend to the Presidency. With this ticket we have a former governor available to assume the Presidency.

Johnson and Weld believe in limited government intrusion while operating within the bounds of the Constitution, which places them in line with current public sentiment. They are fiscal conservatives and social liberals.

In comparison, Clinton is untrustworthy and is for big government and the promotion of welfare programs. Trump is an extremist who could ignore the Constitution and get us into deep trouble in the world. He is not qualified to be President.

We need experienced, trustworthy, and normal people leading our country. Support the Johnson/Weld ticket in the polls so they can participate in the Presidential debates.

Candidate's Thanks

To the editor:

To the voters in Londonderry:

Thank you to everyone who voted for me in the primary. It was my pleasure and privilege to meet all who answered my door knocks and to have engaged in the many conversations. Because of your trust and support, I will be moving on to the general election on Nov. 8.

I congratulate the other candidates, including those who will not be moving on, for their effort and willingness to serve Londonderry. Serving in my first term has been an honor and I've fully enjoyed the experience. I humbly thank you again for your support and I welcome the opportunity to continue my service come this November.

Sept. 27 Meeting Set for Exit 4A Update in Derry

KATHLEEN D. BAILEY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

A meeting to update the public on the progress and impact of Exit 4A will be held Tuesday, Sept. 27, at 7 p.m. in the third-floor meeting room of the Derry Municipal Center.

The purpose of the meeting is to present residents and public officials with information and to solicit public input "in order to ensure that project decisions meet public transportation needs, community goals, and protect and enhance the environment," according to a press release.

The new interchange will be located between Exits 4 and 5 of Interstate 93 in Londonderry. Its intent is to relieve traffic along Route 102 and provide a mechanism for economic development, according to a press release. A one-mile connector road would run from I-93 to Folsom Road and Tseneto Road.

The project may affect historic properties, and owners of properties eligible for the National Register of Historic Places are encouraged to attend and may become consulting parties.

Derry and Londonderry are obligated for $5 million each after a court settlement with the former developer, Boston North.

Those needing assistance or auxiliary communication equipment due to sensory impairment or other disability should contact the Bureau of Right-of-Way, NHDOT, PO Box 483, Concord NH 03302-0483 or call 271-3222 - TDD Access: Relay NH 1-800-735-2964. For more information, call 271-2171.

Correction: In the Sept. 1 edition, an article about Alateen at the Upper Room should have said "Alateen is a support group for children ages 9 to 19 who have been affected by someone else's drinking/drug addiction."

Collective Bargaining Agreements Get Voter Approval

PENNY WILLIAMS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

State Primary election results from Londonderry saw voters supporting the two petition articles regarding collective bargaining agreements.

Article one was approved 2,170 to 1,073 and ratified the collective bargaining agreement between Londonderry Administrative Employees Association, Town Administrative personnel, and the Town of Londonderry. The article outlined the cost of the 1.5 percent average salary and benefits rate increase for the years 2017, 2018, 2019 and 2020.

The town, because the article passed, will have to raise $42,905 in property taxes resulting in a tax impact of $0.01 in fiscal year 2017 based on the projected assessed values.

Article 2 was approved by a 2,112 to 1,133 vote and ratifies the extension of the collective bargaining agreement between AFSCME (American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees) Local 1801 and the Town of Londonderry. This also involves an average salary and benefit rate increase of 1.5 percent for the years 2017, 2018, 2019 and 2020. As the article passed, the Town will need to raise $51,114 in property taxes, resulting in a tax rate impact of $0.01 in fiscal year 2017 based on projected assessed values.

Londonderry Town Clerk Sherry Farrell said that of the Town's 17,273 registered voters, 3,369 votes were cast, 954 by Democrats and 2,415 by Republicans. This worked out to about a 20 percent voter turnout.

The big race in Londonderry was for the seven State Representative seats. The race saw 10 Republican candidates and six Democrats. All the Democrats will appear on the November ballot. They are: Anne Warner with 733 votes, Ted Combes with 717 votes, Robin Skudlarek with 693 votes, Gary Vermillion with 690 votes, Alexander Rego with 679 votes, and Paul Skudlarek with 675 votes.

On the Republican side candidates, winning the most votes was incumbent David Lundgren with 1,561 votes. He was followed by incumbents Al Baldasaro with 1,367 votes and Sherman Packard with 1,353 votes. Also headed for the November ballot are Martin Bove with 1,301 votes, Betsy McKinney with 1,279 votes, Doug Thomas with 1,112 votes and Bob Rimol with 958 votes. Frank Honer, Dan Lekas and Roger Fillio failed to make the cut.

The voters followed the state in supporting Republican Chris Sununu in his race for Governor, with 676 votes, and on the Democratic side supported Colin Van Ostern with 443 votes; Sununu and Van Ostern will face each other on the November ballot.

Londonderry Republicans also supported incumbent U.S. Senator Kelly Ayotte for the U.S. Senate seat with 1,919 votes; she will run against Democrat Maggie Hassan in November. Hassan was unopposed.

Democrat and former Congresswoman Carol Shea-Porter ran unopposed for U.S. Representative in District 1. Londonderry voters supported losing candidate Rich Ashooh in the Congressional race; he received 1,066 votes, compared to the eventual District 1 Republican winner, Frank Guinta, with 1,065 votes.

The State Senate seat was won on the Republican side by incumbent Sharon Carson with 1,666 votes. She will be opposed in November by Democrat Tammy Siekmann, who ran unopposed.

In the Executive Councilor race for District 4, Democrat Chris Pappas ran unopposed, and Republican Joseph Kelly Levasseur, with 986 votes, defeated Jim Adams.

In the Rockingham County Sheriff's race, Republican David Lovejoy won with 995 votes but lost countywide. Londonderry voters supported Republican County Attorney winner Patricia Conway with 1,264 votes.

- PROVIDER ON CALL - KNOW MORE ABOUT OSTEOPOROSIS AND TAKING BETTER CARE OF YOUR BONES

Osteoporosis is a serious disease in which bones become so weak they can break from just a sudden bump or a fall from standing height. Because osteoporosis is often a "silent" disease with few warning signs or symptoms, you may not even know you have osteoporosis until you break a bone. And many more women may be unaware they have low bone mass (osteopenia), which if left untreated may progress to osteoporosis.

Osteoporosis results when the honeycomb-like bone tissue becomes more porous, leaving the bone structurally weak. You may not know that breaking a bone as an adult may be a warning sign of osteoporosis and that every minute approximately 2 new fractures due to osteoporosis occur in women in the U.S. Approximately 22 million American women age 50 and older have osteopenia and 8 million have osteoporosis.

As you age, you may be at increased risk for osteoporosis. You may also be at risk if you are past menopause; have a family history of osteoporosis; are Caucasian or Asian; have a small, thin frame; have lost weight; have lost height; drink alcohol excessively and/or smoke; do not get enough calcium and/or vitamin D each day or have a sedentary lifestyle. If you think that you may be at risk of osteoporosis, taking calcium and vitamin D alone may not be enough.

While this information is not exhaustive, it is important that if you have any concerns, you see your primary care provider who will help you get the best care possible.

As a Family Practitioner for over 20 years in Southern New Hampshire, I have treated new borns to individuals in their Golden Years. My staff and I believe that prevention is the best cure. And we like to do it the old-fashioned way, by listening and caring for each patient as if they were our own family. At the same time, we do not ignore the innovations that are taking place in medicine and participate in the EPIC electronic medical records in conjunction with the Elliot Hospital.

Our practice is located at the Tower Hill Professional Park at 182 Rockingham Road, Suite 9, Londonderry, conveniently accessible near Exit 5 of Interstate 93. We accept most major insurances. If you are looking for a Family Friendly Environment, we can be reached at (603) 434-4363.

Zoning Ordinance Overhaul Set for Planning Board Reviews

PENNY WILLIAMS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Town Planner Colleen Mailbox and John Vogl, Geographic Information Systems Manager and Comprehensive Planner, have provided the Londonderry Planning Board with a plan to overhaul the zoning ordinance.

There have been changes in the personnel helping with the project but the money for the work ends in June of 2017 so the final changes will have to be before the board and approved by April or May. To that end, Mailloux and Vogl presented a proposed schedule of what they will be bringing to the Planning Board meetings.

Mailloux told the board at its Wednesday, Sept. 14 meeting that the basis for the zoning ordinance rewrite stems from the findings of a zoning audit completed in 2014. The recently adopted housing amendments to the ordinance and amendments to the site plan regulations should be considered, she said, as the Town has treated these projects as the first steps to a comprehensive zoning update.

The rewrite will also incorporate other planning documents, studies and processes pertaining to Londonderry and the goals of the Planning Board.

Such documents may include the 2013 Master Plan, land use regulations, Town GIS (Geographic Information System), transportation plans, the most recent Sewer Facilities Plan, current economic development strategies, the Woodmont Commons Master Plan, the Londonderry Hazard Mitigation Plan, the most recent Capital Improvement Program (CIP), the Historic Preservation Task Force summary, the Open Space Plan, and any other relevant documents identified by the Town and consultant.

It is anticipated that the Planning Board will include the zoning ordinance re-write on at least one agenda each month, starting this month, Mailloux said. Planning Board workshops are anticipated to occur over a period of nine months, including public hearings. The Town Council will hold a first reading at the meeting immediately following the Planning Board's vote to send the re-write to the Council for adoption.

The final product would be a comprehensive update of the existing ordinance that can be adopted by the Council. The overhaul would involve:

- A logical reorganization and simplification of the ordinance, with a reduction in its length.
- Consolidation of definitions.
- Elimination of redundancies, contradictions and inconsistencies.

- Clear and complete statements of requirements, procedures, and review criteria.

- Elimination of impact fees, growth management and innovative land use control provisions that have been allowed to sunset or been placed on hold.

- Reduction in separate listed uses.

- Re-examination of basis and appropriateness of procedural distinctions among uses, including the Routes 28 and 102 Performance Overlay Districts.

- Refining of the concept and definition of "usable uplands" to guard against the encroachment of development on environmentally sensitive areas.

- Consolidation of industrial and commercial districts by function and type of location.

- Standards review of floodplain sections for consistency with FEMA (Federal Emergency Management Agency) guidelines and current practices and standards.

- Extension of MUC (Mixed Use Commercial) provisions more broadly throughout commercial areas and application of GB (Gateway Business) standards to industrial areas.

- Extension of applicability and range of discretionary options available through such permitting tools as MUC, GB, PUD (Planned Unit Development), Conservation Subdivision and Back Lot Development.

- Consolidation of similar Conditional Use procedures and criteria.

- Consolidation of property development standards such as access, buffers, outdoor structures, temporary structures, accessory structures, and signs.

- Promotion of broader range of home occupations, with discretionary approval based on exterior effects.

- Reliance on statute for small wind energy systems.

Mailloux said they will bring the draft overhauled items to the board a few at a time and a week prior to the meeting at which they will be discussed. The October meeting will likely look at the first round of drafts on how the reorganization will proceed, definitions, redundancies, clarity and elimination of sunsets and holds.

She noted there has been a change in the consultant's point person for Londonderry. Arnett Development is the consultant, with Bill Parker the point person.

Michael Speltz asked if the zoning issues, items, and promises in the Master Plan that comprise about one-third of that document will be addressed by the overhaul. Mailloux said some will and some won't.

Presence of Turtles Plays Into Lorden Commons Plan

KATHLEEN D. BAILEY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry Conservation Commission has approved an amended plan for the Lorden Commons development.

At its Sept. 13 meeting the Commission heard from Jason Lopez, an engineer working with the developer, on the wetlands plan for the development in the north part of town. It was Lopez's second appearance before the Commission, with whom he had discussed wetland impacts in an earlier meeting.

The property is Tax Map 16, Lot 38.

Lopez said that it is necessary to have impact within the 50-foot buffer. "Part of the roadway is within the buffer," he said. The sewer main and sub-surface utilities are also in the buffer, he said.

In doing test pits, he discovered ledge, he said. "The design requires 3 feet of standing water and the ledge would help with that," he said.

Lopez said he had "played around with the design" and reduced the impact by 35 percent, from 18,080 square feet to 11,620 square feet. In the 25-foot buffer, that is a 55 percent reduction, or 3,320 square feet as opposed to 7,425 square feet.

"We tightened the roadside slope," he said. "It will need a guard rail."

Commission member Deborah Lievens asked about the 3 feet of standing water in the event of a drought, such as the current one, and Lopez said he was looking at modifications. While best practices call for a pond to be dug 5 feet below the elevation, this one will be 6 feet, he said.

"It is designed to take advantage of the high water table in the off-season," he said.

There is a higher probability of encountering groundwater, Lopez said, adding, "But can I guarantee it? No."

A wetlands consultant has seen both Blanding's and Spotted turtles in the area. "We have documented them," Lopez said. The Fish and Game Department has asked consultant Mark West to map them so they can put the turtles in their system, Lopez said.

He added that a meeting was planned for Sept. 21 with the developers, Fish and Game, the Wetlands Bureau and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

The turtles were first seen in 2010 on the original wetland mapping, and were observed more recently by West. The area is dotted with vernal pools, one of their habitats, he said.

Lievens asked how they can protect the turtles when they are crossing the road, and Lopez said, "We are planning for one larger pipe, that they can potentially go through."

"Turtles will not use a pipe," Lievens said. "It is too dark and too narrow."

The EPA originally wanted speed bumps, but that was vetoed by town staff, Lopez said.

They are planning to put up signs on both sides of the road, he said.

Member Gene Harrington said, "With a development like this, all the homes are built by the same person. Would it be possible to work with Fish and Game and prepare a hand-out?"

Members suggested installing a box culvert instead of a pipe.

Members also expressed concern about the developer's plan to deed the open space from the first phase, Open Space A, to the town. While deeding is preferable to an easement, it could change with the management of the property. "And we'll have 138 abutters," member Mike Speltz said.

While transfer of the conservation land to the town is in the conditional use plan, Speltz pressed to have an official deed and Lopez said he would look into it.

Amendments to the motion to approve included suggesting an open-bottom box culvert to help the turtles make their crossing, but to defer to the EPA for the dimensions.

The Commission voted unanimously to approve the amended plan.

OBITUARY

Esther Davies

Esther Lee (Varney) Davies died Sept. 13, 2016 surrounded by her family at her home in Londonderry after a year-long illness.

She grew up in the Camden-Rockport area of Maine and graduated from Camden-Rockport High School.

She had lived in Londonderry since 1987 and worked at Sears in Manchester.

She loved camping with her family and tending her garden.

She is survived by her husband, Chris, and their daughters Rhiannon Vadney and her husband, Adam, of Hudson and Megan Davies of Londonderry; her grandsons Trenton and Tanner; her father, Howard Varney of Belmont, Maine; her sisters Arlene Harriman and her husband, Tracy, of Belmont, Maine and Susan Willey of Old Orchard Beach, Maine; nieces Traci, Debbie and Laurie; a nephew, Jeremy; and cousin Dickie and their families. She was predeceased by her mother, Marion.

After cremation, a memorial visitation will be held Saturday, Sept. 24 from 3 to 5 p.m. at the Peabody Funeral Homes and Crematorium, 290 Mammoth Road, Londonderry. In lieu of flowers donations in her name may be made to a charitable organization of the donor's choice or to the American Cancer Society. To send a condolence, visit www.peabodyfuneralhome.com.

for architectural and engineering proposed for 2018 and construction at $3,675,090 slated for 2019.

The current building was constructed in the 1970s, he said. The renovation would add square footage as well as renovations to the existing administration, operations, communications, radio equipment room, fire prevention, plans review spaces, medical equipment supply storage, gear storage, maintenance area, and laundry. It would also reconfigure the station workspaces to meet the demands of the public and increase efficiency.

Fire & Police Communication

O'Brien and Police Lt. Jeremy Mague addressed the second CIP project, for Fire and Police communication equipment and infrastructure upgrade. This was presented as a Priority 2, meaning it is necessary within three years to maintain the basic level and quality of service.

After discussion, the Planning Board moved the project to Priority 1 status.

O'Brien and Mague laid out the present communications system deficiencies and showed where communications are difficult or impossible within the Town, despite existing communication towers. The plan has an overall cost of $1,500,000 with bonded costs anticipated with an annual appropriation of $400,000 to lease equipment starting in 2019. The $1.5 million cost represents the estimated share of the total project cost that is considered capital facility.

The plan calls for improving communications with emergency responders, local public works, and other agencies within the town's mutual aid area. It would replace aging equipment with state-of-the-art communications system equipment and allow for the expansion of services with surrounding communities, which should generate revenue by adding towns for which Londonderry would dispatch. Londonderry now dispatches for Hampstead as well as Londonderry.

The plan would replace existing equipment for Police, Fire and Public Works and would establish sites within the Town to construct additional towers for enhancing communication.

The Planning Board asked whether it would be possible to do this piecemeal, perhaps in combination with the Central Fire Station restoration.

O'Brien said it could be done in pieces but that would not get the job done, and would not save money in the long run.

The Planning Board voted to move the project to a Priority 1 status and to seek the whole amount.

School District Office

A new SAU (School Administrative Unit) building for the School District is a Priority 2 project slated to cost $3,700,000, with $370,000 for 2019 for architectural and engineering and $3,330,000 for construction in 2020.

This project would build a new District Office building. The present building has been expanded past capacity and the HVAC (heating, ventilation and air conditioning) system has not kept pace, leading to poor air quality conditions and overcrowding.

School District Business Manager Peter Curro fielded questions from the board and said several sites are under consideration, but no decision has been reached. The board agreed with the need for this project and accepted the priority 2 status.

School District Auditorium

Curro also discussed the proposed School District auditorium, listed as Priority 3, meaning it is desirable and needed within four to six years to improve the quality and level of services.

The cost of this project is $9 million, with proposed funding for 2019 of $900,000 for architectural and engineering and $8,100,000 for construction in 2020.

This building was contemplated to follow the construction of the high school but that never happened. Curro said it is needed now to enhance and provide for the district's music and performing arts programs, as well as to meet the community need for a performing arts center. He said the facility could be used as an acoustically sound classroom lecture area.

New Elementary School

Curro spoke of the need down the road for another elementary school. A new school facility would be a Priority 3 at a cost of $24 million, with $2,400,000 in 2022 for architectural and engineering and $21,600,000 in 2023 for construction.

He said the growth of the Londonderry student population and the residential development projects in progress and on the drawing board tend to make this a probable need. He said it would likely be a 500-student elementary school on the east or northeast side of town.

The Planning Board discussed what might be done with the existing schools to deal with the potential enrollment growth.

Middle School Expansion

Curro then spoke of the project to expand Londonderry Middle School's core facilities. This is a Priority 3 project with a $3 million price tag that would see $300,000 for architectural and engineering in 2022 and construction in 2023 at $2,700,000.

Curro noted the potential for combining construction of the school district projects to take advantage of economies of scale. The core upgrade at LMS would be to the library, gym, cafe, kitchen and front offices. The school has been expanded over time but the core facilities have not been and students now eat in two separate areas, one of them far from the kitchen.

The Planning Board considered this a necessary project.

Outdoor Recreation

Conservation Commission member Mike Speltz spoke to the Outdoor Recreation Enhancement project, a Priority 3 with a price tag of $100,000. This project would be seeking funding in 2018.

Conceptual plans are in progress from Stantec regarding recreation improvements to existing conservation areas. Speltz called the request for $100,000 a place holder because the commission has not received all the information and engineering and recommendations from Stantec yet.

At present he thinks the proposal will revolve around parking at the Musquash recreation area. However, he said he wants Town Council support and to see if there is voter support for spend-

Motorcyclist Dies in Sunday Crash on Route 28

PENNY WILLIAMS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

A fatal accident just south of the Manchester line on Route 28 in Londonderry claimed the life of a motorcyclist and shut down the road for hours Sunday night, Londonderry Police Det. Chris Olson said the crash occurred Sunday just after 8 p.m. The deceased is a 28-year-old man from Manchester, whose name had not been released as of press time, pending notice to the next of kin.

The police said the single vehicle accident happened when the motorcyclist was traveling north on Route 28 just before the road splits into Routes 28 and 28A. The motorcycle struck a utility pole, and the cyclist was pronounced dead at the scene.

Olson said the road was shut down for approximately three hours and the cause is still under investigation by Londonderry Police.

Londonderry police and fire officials, including an accident reconstruction team, were on the scene Sunday night.

ing money to provide recreation area enhancements. He told the Planning Board he hoped to have all the information needed by the time the CIP is presented to the Town Council in October.

Two Priority 3 Public Works sewer projects were also presented.

South Sewer

The first is a Public Works and Engineering - Environmental Division project for the South Londonderry Sewer Phase II, at a cost of $3,631,050. This would entail construction of the South Londonderry Phase II sewer to expand service to capture a mix of commercial and residential land uses north and south of Route 102 (Nashua Road), consistent with the Town's Sewer Facility Plan adopted in 2005. The project would require $363,105 for architectural and engineering in 2022 with construction coming in 2023 at a cost of $3,267,945.

North Sewer

The second sewer project, also a Priority 3, is a Public Works and Engineering - Sewer Division for the Mammoth Road North sewer extension. This project comes in at a cost of $410,481, with $41,048 coming in 2022 for architectural and engineering and $369,433 coming in 2023 for actual construction.

The project involves a bottleneck situation of a 10-inch pipe at Sanborn and Mammoth roads.

The Planning Board accepted both projects as proposed.

Town Common Drainage

Vogl said he had one more project to add to the list, this one from the Heritage Commission for improved drainage work at the Town Common to make it more usable.

This would be a Priority 3 and is estimated to cost $225,000, slated for 2019. The Heritage Commission wants the work done in preparation for the 300th anniversary of Londonderry.

The Planning Board voted to approve adding this project to the CIP.

Baldasaro Recognized by American Conservative Union

KATHLEEN D. BAILEY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

A Londonderry state representative and conservative activist has been honored for his efforts for the second year in a row.

Alfred Baldasaro was honored by the American Conservative Union for voting 100 percent for conservative causes. He received a plaque and was recognized in a reception two weeks ago.

The American Conservative Union is a national organization, Baldasaro said. They formerly just honored U.S. Senators and Representatives, but in recent years have expanded their recognition to the state level.

Only 20 to 30 percent of the state reps in the country qualify for the award, Baldasaro said in a phone interview.

"The award is for commitment to America's core principles as written in the Constitution," Baldasaro said.

Baldasaro seeks reelection to his state seat in November.

Wetland impact

Pollock and Kavan first discussed the impact on wetlands on Michels Way, the street named for the late John Michels, a Londonderry attorney on the project, and running from the end of the Market Basket plaza to Pillsbury Road. There will be two wetlands, Pollock said, an existing one called Duck Pond and a retention pond for storm management.

Pollock said the plan is to make the retention pond a recreational amenity for the residents and community, with a walking trail.

Kavan said the developers are redoing the retention pond. The new design will be about 4 acres, and will discharge into Duck Pond. "We will not create a new discharge," he said.

The walking trail will go around the pond and will be for 8/10 of a mile, he said, though there will also be a culvert in the middle to break up the trip. "Some people won't want to walk 8/10 of a mile," he said.

Kavan said the developers plan to maintain the tree cover and plant more trees, and noted there will be a total of 10 acres for passive recreational use.

Chairman Marge Badois asked if the path would be paved and Kavan said it would not, but would be stone dust and gravel. It will be graded for ADA (Americans with Disabilities Act) accessibility, which requires a 5 percent or less grade, he said.

There will also be bike paths on either side of Michels Way, Kavan added.

Kavan said the traffic will circulate through two small roundabouts and will be no more than 25 miles per hour.

The recreation area is 900 feet from Main Street, the "walkable downtown" of the development, he said.

There is another retention pond on the east side of the property, he said, with "a couple of encroachments" on the 50-foot buffer.

The total impact on wetlands is 101,000 square feet, Kavan said. But he added that 50,000 to 60,000 square feet were previously approved, "so it's about 1 acre left." If the walking path is deducted, that leaves 4/10 to 5/10 of an acre, he said.

Questions

Commission member Gene Harrington asked, "If you're redoing the area of the pond, do you have to file another wetlands permit?"

Kavan said he had spoken to the state and he didn't think so. "We don't see it as an issue," he said.

Member Mike Speltz

asked if the footprints of the buildings on the drawings were accurate.

Kavan said some of the footprints were accurate according to architects, while others are "placeholders."

"If the plan is approved, this is where they will be allowed to be," Pollock said. "It's as final as anything."

Speltz asked what the impact would be to the wetlands, and Kavan said it would be from grading for the trail. "There is grading for ADA compliance and other grading," he said.

Speltz also asked about retention and Kavan said the plan is to keep 3 feet of standing water and some wetlands vegetation. "When a storm comes the water will come in and fill it up," he said. "It will settle and mix in the pond, then discharge. There will be some detention there so it will not increase the rate of runoff."

"So there would be no runoff in a 100-year storm?" Speltz asked.

"Normally, yes," Kavan responded.

There will be no buildings in the buffer but some drainage structures, Pollock said.

Members expressed concern about the eastern end of the project, with Speltz saying, "Would it be the end of the world if a couple of these buildings were not built?"

Pollock said the buildings were part of the planned "streetscape."

Speltz also asked if the large, W-shaped building could be moved, but Kavan said that would bump it up against the state park-and-ride. "The building," he said, "is where it is because of the streetscape."

There is a substantial flat area that the developers plan to use for snow storage, Kavan said. Speltz suggested that they truck the snow out, noting, "If you dump salt-laden snow, it will run into Indian Brook, and then into Beaver Brook."

"Offsite storage makes sense to us," Pollock said, noting that it is part of their stormwater management plan.

Harrington also noted that in driving by the site, he saw purple loosestrife, which is an invasive plant. "Do you have a plan for that? It will spread across the site," he said.

"I just heard about it today," Pollock said. "We have no intention of having it there." He said he would bring the issue back to the developers.

"We will have to address that," Kavan said.

And Badois said, "Wherever they got that soil, they shouldn't have."

Member Mike Bready observed, "We ought to go back to the original site plan and look at this in context of that."

Kavan noted that the site plan is coming before the Planning Board in October, and members asked him and Pollock to come back on Sept. 27 for one more discussion.

LONDONDERRY SPORTS

Win, Tie Leave Londonderry High Boy Booters at 3-2-1

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

A hard-fought, one-goal win over Exeter followed by a hard-fought tie with Alvirne of Hudson last week left the Londonderry High boys' soccer team with a 3-2-1 record stepping into this week.

The Lancers were a single goal better than the Exeter Blue Hawks in a 4-3 barn-burner played in Londonderry on Tuesday, Sept. 13.

The Lancers snagged a 1-0 lead five minutes into the contest when Luca Amarena was set up by Josh Rutina. But a mere 1:30 later the Blue Hawks were celebrating the tally that knotted the score at 1-1. And that was where the score stood when the teams adjourned for half-time.

But Exeter claimed its first lead of the day five minutes into the second half, with the Lancers knotting the score once again 10 minutes after that when Brian Frechette set up Nalen Iarribino.

Frechette then put Londonderry back up 10 minutes after that off a set-up by Luke Cava, but the Hawks evened the score at 3-3 a mere two minutes later.

The winning goal was potted by Rutina in the 76th minute of play, and 4-3 was where the score ended up.

LHS goalie Cam Wheeler contributed three stops to the Londonderry success.

"I thought the first goal we scored was the best all year," said coach Todd Ellis. "We really incorporated the things we have been working on. Unfortunately, we lost Owen Creed - most likely for the season - with a broken clavicle. After the injury, I thought the players really stepped up and just keep plugging away. Josh Rutina was able to give us the lead by hustling and capitalizing on a mistake in the back. After we score, we need to step it up and look to get the next one, not give a goal up."

Two days later, the Lancers engaged in a back and forth battle with a struggling Alvirne crew at LHS. And that match wound up in a 2-2 deadlock.

Each team netted one goal in the first half, with Cava doing the honors off a corner kick in minute 24 for the hosts. But four minutes later Alvirne tied things up.

Jayden West had the opportunity to break the tie with a penalty kick right in front of the Broncos goal, but just missed the left post leaving the game tied at the half.

Londonderry regained the lead at 2-1 nine minutes into the second period on a pretty goal by Amarena, who headed a corner kick by Iarribino into the Broncos' net.

But Alvirne battled back and potted the equalizer with just five minutes remaining, and 2-2 was where the score stayed.

Wheeler made four saves in the LHS net, and his teammates smacked a total of nine shots on the opposing cage.

"Alvirne played us tough," said Ellis. "We created some great opportunities but did not capitalize. We look to learn a lesson from this tie and make it better next week."

This week, the Lancers faced a slate that had them at Merrimack on Tuesday, Sept. 20 (after Londonderry Times press time) before the big Mack Plaque match with rival Pinkerton at LHS this Saturday.

LHS Field Hockey Gains Momentum, Keeps Rolling With Tight Wins

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High field hockey squad has gotten a little bit warm of late, bouncing its 2016 record up over the .500 mark to 3-2-1 by winning three of its last four matches.

Coach Laura Federico's hard-working crew drove its record over .500 from 2-2-1 to 3-2-1 with a 3-2 comeback victory over the struggling Merrimack High Lady Tomahawks of former LHS field hockey mentor Ann MacLean at Londonderry High Friday, Sept. 16.

Merrimack potted the only goal of the first half to head to halftime with an advantage, but the hosts outscored their opponent by a 3-1 tally in the second half to win.

Krista Fletcher, Alivia Proulx, and Lauren Mullen rifled home shots for the locals, with Gabby L'Hereux, Allie Marsh, and Maeve McPhail garnered assists. Lady Lancers' goalie Danielle Ziv contributed three saves to the successful Londonderry High performance.

In Monday's game in Nashua against a struggling Nashua South Lady Purple Panthers' the rain cooperated, and Londonderry took full advantage by beating South 3-1.

Alivia Proulx gave the Lady Lancers a 1-0 lead - with Maeve McPhail getting the assist - in the first half, and the locals put the win away with second half markers from Allie Marsh (assisted by Allie Whitehead) and Lauren Mullen (unassisted).

"The team played well and worked together to capitalize on the opportunities that were given to them," said Federico. "South was a strong team with some players with great stick work, and the entire team had a strong desire to win."

The Lady Lancers are slated to play the rival Pinkerton Academy Lady Astros in a big Mack Plaque match at LHS this coming Saturday, Sept. 24.

Lancer Golf Contingent Works Toward Success

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The 2016 season has been a real challenge thus far for Londonderry High's first-year varsity golf coach Dan Grant and his Lancer charges. But they continue to work diligently for successes.

The Lancers collected their second win of the 2016 campaign - moving to 2-8 in the process - by finishing in the middle of the results of a three-team match at the Rochester Country Club Tuesday, Sept. 13.

Londonderry tallied a team score of 208 to wind up between the victorious and undefeated Keene High Blackbirds (10-0) and their 184 and third-place host Spaulding and its 217.

Three days later on Friday, Sept. 16 at the Concord Country Club, the Londonderry crew finished narrowly out of second place in a three-team match with the host Concord Crimson Tide and the extremely tough Bedford High Bulldogs.

Bedford (15-1) tallied a low team score of 198 to win the match, Concord (6-6) shot a 212 to take second, and the Lancers had a 216 to end up third and slip to 2-10 on the campaign.

The locals will be at home at the Passaconaway Country Club in Litchfield Wednesday, Sept. 21 (after Londonderry Times press time) to face off against Merrimack and Exeter, and they'll travel to Manchester and the Derryfield Country Club the next day to battle Manchester Memorial and Concord again.

Lady Lancer Booters Bounce Record Up To 4-2 With Successes

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

After dealing with consecutive losses to Bishop Guertin and Concord recently, the 2-2 Londonderry High girls' soccer squad returned to the winning path last week with defeats of previously-unbeaten Exeter and struggling Alvirne.

Facing an Exeter High team on its own home pitch is never easy, not to mention a Lady Blue Hawks' crew that is a perfect 4-0 to start the 2016 season. But the Lady Lancers were unfazed by the challenge on Tuesday, Sept. 13, and they brought home a 2-1 victory that evening.

Freshman standout Olivia Stowell played a huge part in the success, potting both Londonderry markers as she and her teammates made their record 3-2.

Stowell netted goal number one in the 16th minute of the opening half, and the locals rolled into halftime with a 1-0 advantage.

The Lady Hawks knotted the score at 1-1, 13 minutes into half number two, but Erin Barnes set up burgeoning star Stowell for the winner with a mere five minutes left in regulation time.

Goalie Ryann Boudreau contributed four saves to the noteworthy Londonderry performance.

Two days later at Alvirne High School in Hudson, the Lady Lancers had considerably less trouble with a scuffling Lady Broncos' bunch, which entered that match with a 1-4 record.

Londonderry netted three unanswered goals in the first half and then one more in the second to make the short bus ride home a pleasant one.

The locals went up 1-0 in the 15th minute when Barnes set up Gretchen McGrath, and it became a 2-0 contest six minutes later when Stowell assisted on a marker by Devyn Enwright.

The Lancers' lead bulged to 3-0 in 34th minute when Kat Rivard set up Stowell for another tally, and LHS went into halftime with a pretty comfy advantage.

Alvirne trimmed its deficit to two goals at 3-1 18 minutes into the second half and kept its comeback hopes percolating, but when Stowell set up Gwen Barnes for another LHS goal with five minutes left to go, comeback hopes fell into the Freshman Olivia Stowell, dribbles the ball with teammate Samantha LeClair looking on, has become a big force for the LHS girls of late.

Astros Look to Keep Mack Streak Rolling, Lancers Aim to Halt It

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The facts understandably engender a feeling of pride on one side and a sense of disappointment on the other. Pinkerton Academy has won the Mack Plaque each of the last 14 years in its annual fall varsity sports rivalry series with Londonderry High School. But be that as it may, hope springs eternal every autumn at LHS as the Lancers never lack for heart or determination as they aim to turn the tide against the larger school.

Almost all of the 2016 Mack Plaque events will take place on the campus of LHS late this week, with the fun getting started when the two struggling football squads will face off on the LHS gridiron on Friday at 7 p.m.

And on Saturday, Sept. 24 play will begin at 10 a.m. when the volleyball squads will be in the Londonderry High gym aiming to spike each other down.

The PA and LHS cross-country teams will run against each other at the Manchester Invitational in Derryfield Park that day, with start times to be announced, and the field hockey contingents will face off on the LHS pitch behind the Matthew Thornton School at noon.

At 2 p.m. the girls' soccer teams will kick off, and at 4 p.m. it'll be the Astro and Lancer boy booters battling it out.

The golf squads will not be facing off until Friday, Sept. 30 at the Hoodcroft Country Club.

Pinkerton held on to the Mack Plaque for the 14th consecutive year last fall by tallying a 6-2 record in the 2015 games, with victories in golf, football, volleyball, girls' soccer, and both boys' and girls' cross-country. Londonderry's victories in field hockey and boys' soccer were both of the exciting overtime variety.

The Mack Plaque games began in the fall of 1983 in what has proven to be a successful push to celebrate the sports rivalry between the schools in the neighboring towns of Derry and Londonderry.

Londonderry High Boy Harriers Keep Their Successes Going

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Veteran coach Matt Smith has been able to derive a fine amount of pride out of the performances of his 2016

Londonderry High boys' cross-country crew recently.

In a road meet in Hudson at Alvirne High School on Tuesday, Sept. 13, the Lancers had a great meet in easily defeating both the host Alvirne Broncos and the Dover High Green Wave.

Londonderry tallied an exceptional score of 21 to win, Alvirne scored a 49 to end up second, and Dover claimed a 69 to end up third out of three crews.

Chris Zaino was the first runner to cross the finish line, doing so in 16 minutes and 31.1 seconds. His fellow Lancer Declan Hotter came in third (17:31.2), and other Londonderry finishers in the top 10 included Jake Donnelly in fourth (17:42.5), Nathan Seeley in sixth (18:08.1), Connor Keeley in seventh place (18:13.9), Kerry Daley in ninth (18:32.5), and Kyle Friere in the 10th slot (18:37.4).

And then on Saturday, Sept. 17 at the Nashua North-South Invitational at Nashua High School South, the Lancers placed a solid fourth out of 11 contingents.

Zaino took second place overall with his time of 16:06, and Hotter (17th), Donnelly (19th), and Keeley (26th) all wound up in the top 30 of a race that had 73 finishers. Additionally, the locals had Daley bag 36th place and Carter Letalien snag 43rd place.

The Londonderry males will be at an invitational again this coming Saturday when they take on historic Derryfield Park at the annual Manchester Invitational. That outcome will play into the Mack Plaque results.

Athletes of the Week

For the Week of Sept. 11

Nick McCann, Senior, Golf

This skilled team captain led his Lancers to their first two wins of the season, shooting a 46 at the Atkinson Country Club in a win over Timberlane and a 43 at the Rochester Country Club to defeat Spaulding.

Sophia Poulin, Senior, Field Hockey

This battle-tested veteran is a center-back who has been playing on varsity for four years. She is a strong presence on the field, maintains her poise in the circle, and always moves the ball up field to open space.

Struggles Continue For Volleyball Crew

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The 2016 season has been fraught with challenges for the Londonderry High girls' volleyball team, which stepped into this week seeking both its first game and match wins of the still-young campaign.

The Lady Lancers were dealt 3-0 defeats by Exeter on the seacoast Wednesday, Sept. 14 and the Alvirne High Lady Broncos in Hudson two evenings later.

The Lady Lancers gave the Lady Broncos a handful of trouble in the latter match but fell by tight scores of 26-24, 25-23, and 25-19 in the three games.

Jenna Peterson got 10 service points and an ace and five assists for LHS, Ashley Andrews contributed 10 digs, and Meghan Brown and Josie Collins each tallied three shot blocks.

This week's slate had the squad quite busy with matches at home against Merrimack on Tuesday, Sept. 20 and Nashua South the next day, and a Saturday morning Mack Plaque match with scuffling Pinkerton.

Lancer Football Continent Gets Bounced by Bedford Bulldogs, 47-0

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School football squad is still in search of its first 2016 victory following a pretty nightmarish road trip to Bedford High Friday night, Sept. 16.

The now 0-3 Lancers were held scoreless by an undefeated Bedford Bulldogs' bunch in a lopsided, 47-0 contest in which the host Bulldogs tallied 454 total offensive yards on 289 passing and 165 rushing. Londonderry, meanwhile, was held to just 137 total offensive yards on one rough night.

The now 3-0 Bulldogs led 6-0 after one quarter, 19-0 at halftime, and 26-0 at the end of three periods before the hosts put an exclamation mark on their productive evening with 21 more points in the fourth quarter.

Lancer quarterback Jake Stevens completed 11 passes for 63 yards, connecting with Jake Holland four times and Cam MacDonald and Pete Navarro three times each. But Stevens also threw three of the four picks hurled by Londonderry quarterbacks in the tough defeat. The LHS signal-caller also rushed for a team-high 35 yards.

Bedford got a big night from its quarterback Connor Robert, who completed 17 of the 26 passes he lofted skyward for 289 yards and four touchdowns.

The Lancer squad will aim to make their first victory of the still-young campaign a big one when they face off against the rival Pinkerton Academy Astros (1-2), who have lost their last two games, in Mack Plaque play at Londonderry High on Friday evening, Sept. 23.

Backpack Campaign Shows Power of Community

A posting on the Londonderry Mom's Facebook page has led to the collection and filling of multiple backpacks for needy youth in the community.

Caitlin Shapleigh, 13, of Londonderry has, for the past two years, worked on a community service campaign called "Kids Can Too!" to show youngsters younger than she is how easy it is to volunteer and make a difference in their communities. She does a service project every month, which she documents in photos for a PowerPoint presentation.

One of her favorites is a project she does every August. Having a new backpack and new school supplies can make a difference for kids, she said, and when she started the backpack project, she asked her friends to bring back-to-school supplies instead of gifts for her birthday, and they were able to stuff two backpacks. Last year she contacted friends and family as well as using her birthday money and was able to stuff four backpacks.

This year her goal was to collect enough items to stuff six backpacks, but thanks to the generosity of the Londonderry community, she ended up filling 25. She donated them through the Kids Café program in Manchester.

Grange No. 44 Hosts Scarecrows on the Common

As part of its community outreach, Londonderry Grange No. 44 has scarecrow skeletons on sale. To purchase a kit that includes everything needed to build the skeleton, send an email to grangescarecrows44@gmail.com or call Janet at 432-5849.

The Grange asks that residents dress their scarecrow and bring it to the Town Common and woods Oct. 1-12 to display it. The Grange will host the scarecrows through Oct. 31.

A People's Choice Award will be presented.

Grange members hope this will be the first of an annual town event.

Most of the wood used in making the scarecrow skeletons was reclaimed. With the aid of Boy Scout Troop 521, the Grange has 50 scarecrow kits to offer to the public.

Kits will be available on Saturday, Sept. 24 during Troop 521's Yard Sale from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Grange Hall. The boys are raising money to fund a trip to the Grand Tetons for the solar eclipse in 2017, and are accepting yard sake donations excluding electronics for the sale. Donations can be left at the Grange Hall on Saturday prior to 8 a.m. or during the yard sale.

Classified Advertising

READERS ARE CAUTIONED that we occasionally run ads that require an initial investment or money in advance. We urge our readers to "do their homework" before responding to any ad, check out the advertiser thoroughly and verify their claims to your total satisfaction. Only then should you proceed at your own risk. We try to screen ads that require you to send money before receiving a product or service. But these efforts are no substitute for your own investigation, and we don't endorse or guarantee any claims made in any of the ads we publish. If you want more information about claims made in ads on subjects such as work at home opportunities, travel or vacation specials, purchasing land or vehicles from government surplus or below wholesale, loans or other credit opportunities (including credit repair), or weight loss and other health products and services, we urge you to contact the Office of Attorney General, Consumer Protection Bureau, 33 Capitol Street, Concord, NH 03301 (603-271-3641) or the Better Business Bureau at 603-224-1991. Publisher is not responsible for any loss of business if an ad does not run, and we reserve the right to revoke any ad if deemed necessary. No refunds will be given for prepaid ads.

WANTED

Nutfield Publishing is looking for a town reporter who wants to make a difference.

We need someone with a sharp eye for finding the personal touch in community news, and with the ability to manage lots of assignments, ask the tough questions, and write clearly.

The job covers a broad range of reporting, from local government to school news to features, all with a focus on the people we cover. This is not a job for a beginner. It requires a four-year college degree and reporting experience. Apply with cover letter, resume and clips.

OBITUARY

Joseph A. Callina

Mr. Joseph A. Callina, of Londonderry, NH and formerly of Somerville, MA, passed away surrounded by his family on Friday, Sept. 16, he was 93. Born in Boston and raised in Medford, he was the son of the late Anthony and Nancy (Picone) Callina. He was the beloved husband of the late Grace (Spalvero) Callina; together they raised their family in Somerville.

Joseph served honorably during WWII in the US Army Air Corps. After working in the shoe industry he began a 19-year career with the MBTA. He worked his way through the ranks beginning as driver, a train operator, then retired as a maintenance shop supervisor. Joe loved being outdoors in the sunshine and enjoyed his daily morning walks around the neighborhood, which he continued into his 90's. He could often be found working in the yard or putting around the house. In earlier years he and his wife Grace enjoyed their second home in Delray Beach, Florida. He was a longtime member of the Carmen's Union Local 589 MBTA and member of the Commander's Club with the DAV.

He is lovingly remembered by his devoted children, Carol Cronin and her husband Bob of Londonderry, NH, Al Callina and his wife Sue of Salem, NH, Marie Callina of Windham, NH and the late Nancy Piontkoski. Cherished Grandpa of Joe, Michael, Heidi, Lauren, Kelly and Jeff and Great Grandpa of Mia, Zoe and Avery. Also survived by many nieces and nephews.

Funeral Procession from the George L. Doherty Funeral Home, 855 Broadway (Powder House Sq.) Somerville on Friday at 9AM followed by a Funeral Mass celebrated in St. Clement Church, Somerville/Medford at 10AM. Relatives and friends invited to attend. Calling Hours Thursday 4pm to 7pm. Interment with military honors will be at Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford. For more information or to send a condolence message please visit www.dohertyfuneralservice.com.
