Conservation Approves Renovation of Kendall Pond Area Amenities

MIKE BYERLY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

After recently finishing the new parking area and trail clean-up at the Kendall Pond Conservation area, the Conservation Commission revived plans to make improvements to the amenities provided at the area. Many years ago, a kiosk, picnic tables, benches and educational signs describing the trees on the property were added by Boy Scouts.

Much of what was added is in a state of disrepair. The Commission voted to use no more than $10,000 from the Conservation fund to replace or improve the area including new picnic tables and benches, an upgraded kiosk, new educational signs, a platform overlooking the stream and a

School Board Ponders Solutions to Moose Hill

LYNN THOMAS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The focus of the Londonderry School Board's Oct. 23, meeting was a presentation by Superintendent Scott Laliberte on a report of Facilities Study.

The study was designed to find options for space use and expansion in kindergarten through grade five. The intent of the study was to provide a list of options for discussion going forward, rather than make any decisions presently. The lengthy presentation was very detailed and demonstrated that the decision to expand Moose Hill or create another elementary school is not as simple as it seems. The desire for full day kindergarten plays a major role in the discussion, as Moose Hill currently has no kitchen, no cafeteria, and the library is in a classroom. Were full day kindergarten to be offered, there would be a need for seven to eight more classrooms, space for special education, a lunch room, a kitchen, additional teachers and support staff.

Laliberte stressed that the board should take, "time to do our homework to do some good work for the community." There were many options suggested: putting a second floor on the north wing of Moose Hill, adding a pod with four classrooms, relocating the LEEP program to another facility, and moving kindergarten to the three elementary schools there by making Moose Hill a fourth elementary school. The pros and cons of each option were presented, and the board noted it would be helpful to have a cost analysis provided for the options. The goal, according to one slide in the presentation, "is to arrive at a direction that results in physical space that best supports stu-

Firefighters Get Down in The Trenches at Woodmont

In light of the amount of new construction taking place in town, the Londonderry Fire Department took advantage of the help Woodmont Commons gave first responders in digging trenches for them to run through exercises on trench extraction. According to Battalion Chief Jim Roger, the need for the brush up course is more important now than it has ever been. With construction happening at the airport area, Woodmont, the I-93 expansion and large apartment complexes, being able to quickly extract anyone trapped in a confined space is paramount in saving lives. Photos by Chris Paul

Budget Committee Hears Requests For Non-Profit Funding

MIKE BYERLY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Each year the town provides grant funding to a number of local non-profits that provide social services in the area, including to Londonderry residents. Last year's budget for such funding was $46,687. This year the budget is expected to be the same, although there was discussion at the meeting about possibly asking the Town Council for a bit more budget this year.

Seven organizations explained how they serve Londonderry residents and made requests for funding. Additional organizations are expected to make their case during the Nov. 15 Budget Committee meeting.

First up was Big Brothers Big Sisters of NH which provides 1:1 youth mentoring by pairing kids in need with volunteer mentors. Most children in the program are dealing with an incarcerated, divorced or drug-addicted parent.

They currently serve three kids in Londonderry and have five adult volunteers from Londonderry. There is a waiting list of six kids waiting for new volunteers to join. They do not get any state funding and rely 100% on grants and fundraising from 60 cities and towns in NH. Their request this year is the same as last year, $940.

The YMCA of Greater Londonderry approached the Committee requesting $5,000 to expand their teen program after requesting $2,500 last year. Plans to support the teen program include renovating a space to make it teen centric. The space would have sturdy furniture, a pool table and computers to do homework. There would also be a media center with music, video games and TV for afterschool hours before their parents get home from work. Eighty percent of people using the YMCA services are Londonderry residents.

The Upper Room in Derry, a family resource center, requested $11,700, with no increase over last year's grant. That grant amount funds 1.4% of their total budget. The Upper Room's programs support children, youth, and families throughout life and help people overcome challenges and crisis.

Last year, 51 Londonderry youths received direct early intervention services, 85 residents were serviced by the food pantry and 45 residents received family support services. Three Londonderry residents serve on their Board of Directors and numerous residents volunteer with the organization. Ten percent of people receiving services live in Londonderry.

Upper Room does get some partial funding from the state for their adolescent wellness and juvenile diversion programs. Eighty-seven percent of funds go directly to providing services with the remainder paying for administrative needs.

Rockingham County Meals on Wheels provides meals to people who have trouble getting out of their houses, often because of age or disability. They also do wellness checks while delivering meals. The organization asked for a $4,400 grant this year, which is the same as their funding from Londonderry last year.

Their spokesperson said that by providing meals they keep a vulnerable population nourished, which cuts down on the use of emergency medical services in town. In the past year, they served 142 Londonderry residents. Each meal costs them $9 to provide. State and federal funding covers $5.78 of each meal, cities and towns are asked to pay $0.38 and the rest is covered by voluntary donations from meal recipients or other fundraising.

Sonshine Soup kitchen presented next. Located in Derry, they primarily serve free meals to low income residents, although they also have a small inventory of donated clothing. They served at least 564 Londonderry residents last year. They cannot provide an exact number because they do not require that people using their services provide personal information.

They are asking for $2,500 this year, which is an increase over last year to reflect rising food prices. They do not get any state or federal funding and 86% of the money they raise goes directly to providing services.

The Friends Retired and Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) presented as well. Friends RSVP does not provide services directly, rather they recruit senior volunteers and match them with non-profits in need of volunteers. Friends RSVP is a Senior Corps Program that is partially funded by the federal government with a requirement that local matching funds be secured. They were seeking $800 in town funding.

Forty-two Londonderry residents participated as volunteers providing 4,370 hours of service. While organizations benefit from the volunteer services, the volunteers benefit by staying active, leading to better health. The program also offers an exercise class called Bone Builders at the Londonderry Senior Center.

Last up for the evening was the American Red Cross, which immediately supports families in times of crisis. In Londonderry this has typically meant help following a house fire. Last year, the Red Cross provided support to a total of 20 residents displaced by four fires.

The support comes in the form of temporary housing, clothing and other potential needs. Supporting a family of four requires $1,200-1,500 from Red Cross. The Red Cross does not receive federal funding and 91% of funds raised go directly to providing services.

Local Police Announce Drug Take Back Day

The Londonderry Police Department would like to thank all who participated in the fall Drug Take-Back program sponsored by the South Central NH Public Health Network. In partnership with the DEA and several Southern New Hampshire Communities, citizens throughout the region could drop off unwanted or expired medication at select locations throughout the state.

The Londonderry Police Department participated in this program on Saturday Oct. 27, from 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. As a result we turned over 68lbs of unwanted medication and 4lbs of syringes and needles to the DEA. We extend a special thanks to Substance Misuse and Prevention coordinator Kate MacDonald for all of her assistance with this event. For those members of the Londonderry community who were unable to make it to the event today, the Londonderry Police Department has a prescription drug drop box in the lobby of the police department which is available 24/7 for disposal of medications. If there are any questions regarding the disposal of medication or prescription drugs please contact Sgt. Joseph Bellino jbellino@londonderryhpd.org.

Every Vote Counts

Election Day is Tuesday, Nov. 6, and we have the opportunity once again to cast our votes for candidates ranging from Governor, to state representatives. Those elected will be placed in positions of power and asked to make vitally important decisions that in many cases affect our daily lives.

When you vote for a candidate, we hope you consider what that person stands for. All candidates make generalized pledges that they will support veterans, they will lower taxes but no one acting alone can accomplish those things. And just about every decision requires money to back it, which translates into some form of increased taxation, regardless of your candidate's political party.

We suggest you look deeply into who you support as a candidate, do they actually bother to attend to their elected duties.

When questioned about the real issues, many candidates choose to answer with platitudes rather than with facts. Few are honest enough to admit that in just about all cases, one person alone cannot effect broad-based change.

We remind you that every candidate is going to smile broadly, shake as many hands as possible, promise wonderful things, whatever it takes to persuade us. Even if you've already made up your mind, consider your choice again. Read as much as you can about each candidate, and ask questions. If you've always voted one party, be open-minded and listen to what the other party says as you make your decision. Do they vote the strict party line or seek to compromise; are they someone who reaches across the aisle? Whatever your preference on that issue, you should know what to expect of the people you seek to elect.

Because local elections usually impact our wallets the most, we encourage you to pay particular attention to your state legislators' records. It's worth asking them how they propose to handle continually rising property taxes and energy costs, as well as support our schools and local government.

It's an answer and more importantly, a solution that needs to be found right away before none of us will be able to afford our homes and business.

Your vote counts, but it means so much more if it's not based on inflammatory rhetoric or physical appearance or a bright smile or a party label. All those will become nothing more substantial than a fading memory after the election. Think about what kind of State you want this to be. Don't sit out the election because you don't like anyone on the list. Someone will win the election, and we suspect you'll be sorry if you haven't weighed in. So don't forget to vote Nov. 6.

Vote Nov. 6th

To the editor,

Yes, as a nation, as a country, we are at a crossroads. Your vote not only counts but will be extremely important this election. This is an opportunity to put those in office who will stand up for Truth and stand with the people of this country. Not for those who will be Spineless Puppets to the wanna be Dictator.

Do you support the 130 golf trips, 24 rallies, 5000+ tweets thus far all on YOUR dime? Heck it's only cost 75 Million so far. Do you support the non-stop lying coming from the White house? Do you support a Lier in chief who attacks the Media every time they call him on it? Do you support that Republicans all get in line step and play follow the leader? Do you support out of control spending? Are you tired of whoo hoo tax cuts for Corporations and the wealthy, but I think we need to cut Social Security and Medicare to pay for it (Boy, that's getting old)? A vote Republican says yes, I do support this.

Oh, and BIG shout out to the FBI! The speed of the catch helped much more than you know. After the mail bombing threat, the Conservative right wing garbage machine was in full swing. Was just a matter of hours and they were peddling: Hoax, Democratic trick, No real threat. As usual, without a shred of fact to go along with it. Just too keep those poor souls brainwashed and infected with propaganda.

As far as our Illustrious Governor goes, the only vote from me is a vote of no confidence. Why? I don't suppose you had the pleasure of listening to him recently on a Low on the dial, AM hate radio station? Host: Did you fix the (voting) problem in NH? What shall I go tell the President when I speak with him? Makes you really want to throw up.

I am sure you might still prefer to listen to that ignorant lying clown in the white house. However, you know what's a real national emergency? How about hate crimes in this country up 12 % in a year. Wonder why? Could it be these folks feel empowered now that their savior is the president? That he feeds them hate and raw meat on a daily basis? Wait, aren't these the folks the person who WAS elected by vote, by the people of this country, warned us about?

We (as in we the people) need to end this Lunacy and restore America to something more than a laughing stock of the entire world!

And I have to say this: If you were part of the problem that handed us this pile of garbage, this is your chance to get it right.

Trump's Tariffs Hurting States

To the editor,

President Trump is trying to correct a trade imbalance by imposing tariffs on products imported from China. China has retaliated by imposing tariffs on our exports to China.

Trump's tariffs will cost automaker Ford $1 billion in 2018 and 2019 and require significant layoffs. Exports from the BMW plant in Greer, SC are down 35% in August 2018 versus August 2017. Honda USA is incurring hundreds of millions of dollars in unplanned costs because of Trump's steel tariffs.

States incurring substantial revenue losses include:

Louisiana a $5.7 billion loss, with China its top export market

Washington $5.2 billion, with China its top export market

California $4 billion, with China its third largest export market

Illinois $2.1 billion, with China its third largest export market

South Carolina $2.6 billion, with China its top export market

Alabama $2.4 billion, with China its second largest export market

Texas $1.4 billion, with China its third largest export market

Kentucky $917 million, with China its fourth largest export market

Michigan $842 million, with China its third largest export market

Ohio $826 million, with China its third largest export market

Many states are suffering economic problems with declining exports and job losses because of Trump's tariffs.

November 6 Election

To the editor,

If Democrats win control of the U.S. House of Representatives (House) November 6 and Nancy Pelosi is elected Speaker of the House, as surely she will, she'll move to rescind Trump's 2017 income tax cut. In effect, an income tax increase. There's little likelihood that happens as the Senate is currently Republican controlled and Trump would veto such legislation. Tax legislation originates in the House and must pass a majority vote to forward to the Senate for vote. Trump wants a 2019 Phase 2 income tax cut to further expand tax cuts to the middle-class. If Democrats control the majority seats in the House after November, Democrats via their obstructionist agenda will veto the 2019 Phase 2 tax cut. Only because Republicans were a majority in the House in 2017 did Trump's 2017 income tax cuts pass through the House to the Senate for signing by Trump. Not a single Democrat in the House or Senate voted for Trump's income tax cut. Thank you Republicans! A House controlled by Democrats after November will not only stop Trump's Phase 2, but will kill any legislation to fund a southern border wall to stop illegal immigrants currently costing over $100M annually to process illegal immigrants every year; money that can be spent to buy ships and weapons to meet challenges from China and Russia and win a war against either, or possibly both simultaneously. If we can't win wars, as surely there will be based on history, America will not survive. The immigrant caravan currently in the news is just the beginning as Democrats want this tragedy to sew dissention and division to benefit November elections. Hillary states that only if Democrats are elected will obstructionism and divisiveness stop. Doesn't this infer that Democrats are responsible for the divisiveness that exists in America? Despite Trump's faults (no one is perfect), Trump took an economy limping at an average 2% annual growth rate during Obama's 8 years and produced a current growth rate of 4.2%. Trump deregulated Obama's business overreach hindering business growth. The result, 3.7% unemployment; lowest in 50 years. The Heritage Foundation estimates households in 2018 will average a tax cut of $1,400, and $2,900 on average for married couples with two kids. Over the next 10 years, take-home pay for the average household will increase more than $26,000 and $44,000 for a family of four due to tax cuts and strong economy. Nancy Pelosi may think 2017 tax cuts were

"crumbs", but that's a lot of bread to many. November 6 is a general election; Democrats and Independents can vote for any candidate. Do you want to fall back to Obama's 8 years of slow economic growth, possible recession, government overreach into our lives, or go with a Trump economy with more money in your pockets via Phase 2? No? Then vote for Eddie Edwards from District 1 for the U.S. House of Representatives. Better yet, vote a straight Republican ticket as Republican candidates not only support Trump's agenda, but also America's values of low taxation, less government interference in our lives, strong economy, strong military and the philosophy of earning one's way in life.

Lobbying

To the editor,

A NHPR story on October 19th dealt with New Hampshire Legislators relying on lobbyists for re-election cash. Featured prominently in this story was our Senator Sharon Carson. She said lobbyists "serve a practical role, too. With so many legislators and so few legislative staffers, she and her colleagues rely heavily on lobbyists as sources of reliable information on policy issues."

"Especially in the New Hampshire Senate, because we're so small, we work very closely with lobbyists. We get to know them very closely, and I count some of them as friends," said Carson, adding that some of those friendships date back to before her time in office. "Saying 'I define the relationship, not the lobbyist.'"

Really, donations from lobbying firms and their clients accounted for $27,600 to her campaign while all other sources accounted for only $7,950. That is over 75% of her re-election funding comes from lobbyist.

There is a reason that drug sales representatives give doctors gifts or so many other sales presentations begin with a gift. You psychologically want to balance the scale by doing something in return. Even if it is just listening to something you would otherwise ignore. When by admission, lobbyists are providing valuable staff work on legislation, how can this not have a disproportionate impact on the legislative process?

When casting your ballot on November 6th, I think you should consider if your representative is working for you or is partnered with someone else.

ZBA Signs Off On Sign Variances For Businesses On Route 102

MIKE BYERLY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

A case related to a plan to redevelop the Citizen's Bank location on Route 102 came before the Zoning Board of Adjustment. Josh Muckelvaney of Anchor Signs came from South Carolina to appear on behalf of Mattress Firm, who are negotiating a lease on the property.

Mattress Firm was seeking approval to have three signs on their proposed building when only one is normally allowed. They also sought a total sign area of just under 150 square feet, when 50 square feet is allowed by ordinance.

The entire project, which would ultimately include a new Citizen's Bank building, a ConvenientMD urgent care and the Mattress Firm store, is currently under review through the town's Design Review Committee process. The urgent care would be in the front corner along Michels Way and Route 102. The 4,000 square feet Mattress Firm would be behind the urgent care, also along Michels Way at the intersection with Garden Lane. The entrance to Mattress Firm would be from Garden Lane.

According to Muckelvaney, Mattress Firm has not committed to lease the planned space and may factor in the decision of the ZBA in this case when deciding whether to move forward. He pointed out that the signs being requested are smaller than what Mattress Firm typically uses.

The three requested signs would be on three sides of the building, one each facing Garden Lane, Michels Way and Route 102, respectively. Each of the three signs would be just under 50 sq. ft. in size. The sign on the front of the building would not require a variance since one sign under 50 sq. ft. is allowed.

Muckelvaney said that a sign facing Michels Way was needed to enhance public safety. Without that sign, drivers might not be able to locate Mattress Firm until they reached the intersection of Michels and Garden, leading to a quick left turn being required. He said that the sign along Route 102 was needed so that drivers on that busy road could locate the business.

He also contended that having Mattress Firm there would bring more retail traffic to the area, which would increase the value of nearby businesses. He added that while the total required square footage of the signs was almost 150, each of the individual signs met the 50 sq. ft. maximum allowed by the ordinance.

The board agreed 4-1 to allow the variances with Chairperson Neil Dunn the lone dissenter. The board felt that the location and orientation of the building on the site justified having three signs. Dunn disagreed saying, "The trouble is it is all self-imposed because they located the buildings and they put it tight, so they could get everything there, so now they're here for signs. I'm not a big fan of this at all."

In a second case, Craig Moore of Barlo Signs presented a request to make changes to a non-conforming sign at 103 Nashua Road on behalf of Rivard Pizza LLC, a Domino's franchisee and Renegade's Pub. The sign had been granted variances in 2010 to allow the pylon sign to be closer to the road than is allowed by ordinance.

Barlo Signs was looking simply to change the names of the businesses on the sign to reflect the current businesses. If they had to adhere to the letter of the ordinance, they would have to relocate the sign to the middle of the parking lot.

Member Jacqueline Benard noted that there was room to move the sign elsewhere on the property without putting it in the parking lot. Moore said that this was true, but in that location the sign would be partially blocked by a telephone pole and a wooded area.

Member Tiffany Richardson noted that even in its current location, the view from Route 102 is obscured so that a driver must slow and make the turn quickly once they see the sign. She felt that moving the sign would only make the problem worse.

After brief deliberation, the board unanimously felt that the updated sign made sense from a safety standpoint and that it would be an improvement over the current sign.

small sign along the road to help drivers identify the area.

Member Mike Noone shared that the state prison system has a program that can provide free labor to build picnic tables if the town provides the lumber. The Commission agreed to pursue that option for the picnic tables.

Related to Kendall

Pond, Member Bob Maxwell shared that he had reviewed footage from a 28-day period and found that 500 individuals or groups used the area over that period. He also noted that the camera captured a coyote and a couple of suspicious looking individuals. The individuals were not observed doing anything illegal, but he forwarded the pictures to LPD for their reference.

The Commission got an initial look at a giant dredge and fill application submitted by the New Hampshire Department of Transportation (DOT) for work related to exit 4A. Dredge and Fill applications are submitted when projects will impact wetlands and waterways and must be approved by the State Department of Environmental Services (DES).

As part of the DES review, Conservation Commissions from the affected towns review the proposal and provide non-binding comments to DES. Due to the extent of the project, the Commission agreed to review it more thoroughly and discuss it in their Nov. 9 meeting.

During the initial review the Commission made a few observations including that within Londonderry and Derry, 4.34 acres of wet areas will be impacted by the project. DOT estimates that on the high end the wetland impacts would require DOT to make a $2.8M payment to the DES Aquatic Resources Mitigation (ARM) fund as compensation for damaging or filling in wetlands. The ARM fund makes grants to projects across New Hampshire to preserve conservation areas.

Chairwoman Marge Badois shared a report from the Southern New Hampshire Planning Commission (SNHPC) about the number of people using the Hickory Hill trailhead to enter the Musquash Conservation Area. At the request of the Conservation Commission, a people counting device was placed there from October 4-16.

During that period a daily average average of 88 people or groups used that trailhead which is just one of several ways to enter the Musquash. Weekend days averaged 134 people while weekdays averaged 70 people. Groups of people walking side-by-side get counted as one, so the actual number of users is probably higher than the reported number.

The Commission reviewed a plan called the Paul Farm Subdivision. The plan would create seven new house lots near 75 Litchfield Road off a new proposed cul-de-sac called Paul Farm Road. An eighth lot would contain the house currently occupied by the landowner, Jonathan Paul.

The Commission noted that there are wetlands on the property. Part of the current house and just about the entire backyard are in the buffer surrounding a pond and the Great Canada Swamp. Building a new development would not be allowed; however, the current house had been grandfathered in because it predated the implementation of the town's Conservation Overlay District (COD).

Because of the new development of the property, the developer will have to comply with parts of the COD regulation including putting conservation buffer signs along the buffer and not treating the backyard with any lawn chemicals.

New Londonderry High School Drumline Club To Start Practicing This Week

MIKE BYERLY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The idea for a competitive drumline had been floating around for years, and new Music Director Serge Beaulieu decided to make it his project to complete. On Oct. 23, the School Board approved a winter percussion drumline as a new club, which will not be funded by the school. There is currently a drumline that does not attend competitions and is mainly a fall recreation. The new club will focus on a more theatrical performance for the winter season and will attend several competitions in New England organized by the New England Scholastic Band Association.

As a new club not receiving funding from the High School, there will be participation fees to cover the cost of transportation, purchasing music and obtaining costumes. Beaulieu has done his best to keep the fees low and expects fundraising to help manage the costs. Beaulieu has set up a deposit system of $150 towards the anticipated total of approximately $350 for each student that participates. For any student unable to afford the fees, Beaulieu believes extra fundraising can be done to assist them. In the future, Beaulieu hopes to make the club a school team which will then receive funding from the school. The invitation to join is open to any member of the band, and the show will be designed around the number of participants.

Beaulieu believes students will find the competitive aspect of the club "more challenging" than traditional marching band, and that it will enable "students to push their own limits." Beaulieu says, "in a competition, where students are scrutinized, the critique is effective at increasing playing skills and improving performance. It is very educational for students." Beaulieu is thankful to the School Board for approving the new club, and to the staff at the high school for their enthusiasm. Assisting Beaulieu with the drumline will be Assistant Band Instructor Joe Mundy, and percussion instructors Gary Gosselin and Keith Veale. The drumline will begin practicing on Tuesday nights starting on October 30 from 5-8 pm. In December, a second weekly practice on Sunday nights will be added.

Beaulieu is excited for the students to attend the competitions. He says, "There are some really good groups. The shows are very creative and theatrical. There is a story told through the music and the costuming is very good, crazy good." He thinks the experience will enhance the students' playing ability as a whole and benefit the band as well. The judging will be a learning experience that the students can use to self-evaluate. Unfortunately, the timing did not work out for the drumline to be able to attend the finals this year, as the weekend it is held conflicts with the performance of a high school musical, and many students are participating in that. There will be no conflict for the band's annual trip to New York for St. Patrick's Day. Beaulieu hopes scheduling for next year will enable more competitions, and that as the program grows they may be able to write custom music for their shows. Beaulieu's long-range goal would be attending a national competition in Dayton, Ohio called the WGI World Championship.

dent learning, allows us to accommodate impending growth in the community, and does so in a manner that is fiscally responsible for the taxpayers of Londonderry." School Board Chair Jen Ganem summarized the complexity of the issue when she stated, "This will be a long ongoing discussion" before adjourning the meeting.

The School Board's first order of business that evening was to entertain presentations for two new clubs. The first was for a bicycle club which would hold weekend bike rides on the rail trails. The board liked the idea and the club was approved. The second club was for a winter drumline club that would compete in the New England Scholastic Board Association competitions. The club would start practicing next week and continue through March with two practices a week on Tuesday nights from 5-8 and Sunday nights from 5-9. Fundraising would help lower transportation costs and the price of uniforms. Serge Beaulieu, the Music Director at LHS, felt it would be "fun for students to learn more challenging music." Beaulieu felt there was no downside to the new club as the equipment is already owned, the staff is already pre-approved by the high school and the winter practice would help strengthen the band. The club was approved.

Lady Lancer Soccer Crew Reaches Final Four by Blanking Nashua

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Truth be told, the Londonderry High girls' soccer squad wasn't severely tested by the Nashua South Purple Panthers when those two teams met up in Division I quarterfinal-round tournament action at the Presentation of Mary Academy in Hudson on Sunday, Oct. 28.

The top-seeded Lady Lancers never lost their focus against the number eight South side in taking a 4-0 shutout win that propelled them into final four action at Exeter High School Thursday, Nov. 1 - after Londonderry Times press time - in their continuing search of the first state championship in program history.

The match was played on the neutral field in Hudson because recent rains left the Londonderry High pitch quite soggy. But it didn't really matter to the Lancers where they played. The number one ranked team in D-I didn't play the Lady Panthers during a regular season in which the locals went 14-1-1. And the drubbing of the Nashuans enabled the Londonderry bunch to extend its current undefeated streak to 10 games (9-0-1) and punched its ticket to the final four.

South stepped into that match having gone 9-2-1 in its last dozen contests including a 3-0 whitewashing of number nine Portsmouth in preliminary-round tourney play. But the Nashuans weren't any match for Londonderry, which managed its 10th shutout of the season in the defeat of the Panthers.

Londonderry scored three times in the first half and added one other marker in the second half en route to the victory. Londonderry enjoyed a lopsided 23-4 advantage in shots on net.

"If you don't play a strong defensive game as a team, we will exploit that," said LHS coach Derek Dane. "If you don't play aggressively, we will exploit that. This is probably the most skilled group we've had. We play the same system we've always played, and the kids have bought in."

The locals netted the only goal they'd wind up needing to take this tourney victory 7:03 in when Olivia Stowell lofted a shot toward the South net from the right wing of the opposing zone, with the ball sailing through the hands of the goalie and landing in the slot. And LHS veteran Darby Dupuis was there to put the ball into the open net.

Stowell advanced the lead to 2-0 a little more than three minutes later after taking a pass from Gwen Barnes and smacking a shot from the right of the right goal post into the opposite corner of the net.

The Lancer advantage bulged to 3-0 with just 2:13 remaining in the half when Barnes potted a direct kick, and that was

Lancer Football Finishes Up With a Fifth Straight Victory

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The hot Londonderry High football squad completed its 2018 regular season in superb fashion last week, bagging its fifth consecutive win and moving to 8-1 overall with a dominating 28-7 win over the Blue Hawks in Exeter Friday night,

Oct. 26. The Lancers stepped into that contest already knowing that they were assured of a Division I playoff spot, and when the evening's contests were over the Lancer crew found out that it was lined up with the arch-rival Pinkerton Academy Astros in a quarterfinal-round contest at LHS this Saturday at 1 p.m.

The Astros entered that evening facing a must-win situation in a rematch of the 2017 D-I championship contest in Hampton against the defending state champion Winnacunnet High Warriors. And PA bagged that win fairly handily to claim a playoff spot.

Londonderry's regular season-ending success against the host Exeter Blue Hawks - who stepped into that contest with a .500 record of 4-4 - had a certain symmetry to it as the Lancers tallied seven points in each of the four quarters while their defense held Exeter to just seven in quarter number three.

The locals claimed a 7-0 lead with 3:13 left in the opening quarter when quarterback Evan Cormier completed a 10-yard scoring pass to Alex Tsetilas. And the team's record-setting kicker Zach Chau added the first of his four extra points on the night to cap off that early success.

The LHS lead bulged to 14-0 with 8:23 remaining in quarter two when Jeff Wiedenfeld sprinted to pay-dirt from two yards out.

It became a 21-0 game a little less than three minutes into the third period when Wiedenfeld bagged six more points, this time on a seven-yard carry.

The host Hawks did their only scoring of the evening four minutes later on a short run, but the visitors ended the scoring a mere 17 seconds into quarter four when Cormier lofted a 13-yard scoring pass to Tyler Kayo.

Cormier - who dealt with a couple of sore ankles which forced him to the sidelines for a half a week earlier in a win over Dover - finished his fine evening with 10 pass completions on 13 attempts for 162 yards and two scores. He also rushed for 48 yards on eight carries. Wiedenfeld collected 69 yards on 20 runs with his two scores. Cole Keegan and Tsetilas each caught three balls from their signal-caller Cormier. The winning side managed some 289 yards worth of offense while the Blue Hawks collected 216.

That resounding success left the South Division regular season champs from Londonderry contemplating their forthcoming playoff battle with a Pinkerton Academy crew which handed the Lancers a rather humbling 34-14 defeat back on Sept. 21 in Mack Plaque play in Londonderry. However, in the five games each of those two contingents played since that memorable September evening the Lancers were a perfect 5-0 while PA was 3-2 with losses to Salem and Windham. And the LHS crew beat both of those opponents in finishing at a superb 8-1.

"I'm happy for our players for clinching the top seed in the division," said LHS coach Jimmy Lauzon. "They put a lot of hard work into this. We found a nice rhythm on offense, our defense was sound, and hopefully we can continue it going into the playoffs."

After battling nagging injuries early in the season, this young stalwart turned in his best race of the season at the Division I meet, placing sixth overall. His time of 16:30 in wet, cold conditions is a personal best on the Derryfield Park course.

Grace McDonough, Freshman, Girls' Cross-Country

This skilled newcomer was her team's top finisher at the D-I meet held at Derryfield Park in the wet storm last Saturday and qualified to run in this week's Meet of Champions. She was able to finish with one of her best races in terrible weather due to her consistent hard work.

where the score stood at the break with the Lady Lancers having tallied a stellar 14-1 advantage in shots on net as well.

The locals would enjoy a 9-3 advantage in shots on net in the second half and receive their fourth goal of the match with 12:13 to go when Gillian Vilela banged home a shot from 30 yards out after receiving a pass from Sammy LeClair.

LHS goalie Jazzy Richards turned aside all four South shots in helping her team to its first tourney victory, which forwarded the Lancers to the semifinal-round battle with number four Bedford High who beat fifth-seeded Concord 2-1 in their quarterfinal game also played on Sunday.

Londonderry High girls' soccer squads have reached state finals a total of three times including in 2002, 2010, and 2015, with losses to Manchester West, Exeter, and Pinkerton (on penalty kicks) in those matches.

The Lady Lancers have, in longtime coach Dane, one of the most respected varsity mentors in the entire state. And although the LHS squad has yet to collect a crown under his leadership, this could well be the year for that very thing to happen.

Lancer Boys' Soccer Grounded by Blackbirds in the D-I Tourney

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

After earning the number 10 seed in tough Division I with its solid 9-6-1 regular season record, the Londonderry High boys' soccer squad found itself facing a ride to Keene and a first-round tournament battle with a strong Keene High Blackbirds' bunch last Wednesday, Oct. 24.

And as fate would have it, coach Todd Ellis and his LHS charges would have their 2018 campaign come to a close on that Keene pitch after being outscored 2-1 by their seventh-ranked hosts.

The Blackbirds stepped into the tourney having gone 4-1 in their final five regular season matches, and their record sat at a fine 10-4-2. Londonderry, meanwhile, went 1-2 in its last three matches. The two squads did not face each other during the regular campaign.

Coach Ellis' bunch had to play catch-up right from the early part of the game, with Keene potting its first marker eight minutes in and adding a second before the half was over.

The Lancers finally tickled the twine inside the Keene cage in minute number 70 with Brady Hanley doing the honors. But the tying tally wasn't forthcoming for the locals during the final 10 minutes despite their considerable efforts to bag it. LHS goalie Alex Hufford made a total of four stops to help keep his squad in the fray.

"Keene came out and put a lot of pressure on us with the home crowd behind them," said coach Ellis. "They scored early in the first half, and then again on a broken play. Although we had chances in the first half, we made adjustments and carried the better of the play in the second, but were only able to score one goal late. Hopefully, the underclassmen can learn from the ups and downs of this year and put it to good use for next year."

The veteran coach had his team start the 2018 campaign by winning three of its first four matches. But then came a three-game losing skid, which was followed by an uplifting and promising six-game undefeated string during which the Londonderry contingent posted a 5-0-1 mark and climbed comfortably over the .500 mark.

But the team suffered losses to Merrimack and Hanover during its final three regular season matches, and the trip out to Keene for tournament play didn't wind up being fruitful for the locals.

Senior Spirit

The Londonderry Lancer spirit squad recognized the team's seniors during the final home football game on Friday, Oct. 19. The team's departing seniors are, in front from left, Katie Hughes, Kaylee Rowan, Jayden Stac and Erin Leonard. The girls will be defending their D-I Fall title on Sunday, Nov. 4 in the Pinkerton Academy Hackler Gymnasium. They are scheduled to hit the floor just after 3 p.m.

LHS Volleyball Hits End of its 2018 Road in Tournament

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

There wasn't about to be anything easy regarding the 15th-seeded Londonderry High girls' volleyball squad's first round tournament match-up with the second-ranked Nashua South Lady Purple Panthers in the Gate City last Thursday, Oct. 25.

But the Lady Lancers showed fight and skill in that match in at least taking one set from an extremely tough opponent which went a stellar 17-1 during the regular season.

The final numbers will show coach Matt Leonard's Lady Lancers with a 6-13 overall record. But folks who watched the LHS contingent during its campaign will assure you that there was growth and development in the players' skills as things rolled along.

The skilled South squad didn't have an easy time of it with the Lady Lancers in the tournament battle but managed 25-17 and 25-21 successes in the first two sets before seeing Londonderry exhibit its toughness and talent in winning game three by a 25-23 tally.

The locals faced deficits of 12-2 and 18-10 in that third set, but they put their all into a comeback effort which paid off.

However, the Nashuans ended Londonderry's season by claiming a 25-17 success in set four.

Coach Leonard's young ladies had a promising start to their 2018 campaign, going 3-1 in their first four matches and 4-2 through the first six. But then came a 1-9 skid through the next 10 before a 1-1 finish which included a 3-1 success at Merrimack High against the host Lady Tomahawks.

LHS Cross-Country Crews Take on Division's Best at Derryfield

CHRIS PANTAZIS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High boys' cross-country team advanced to this coming weekend's state Meet of Champions at Nashua High School South as a team and the Lady Lancer harriers placed one skilled young individual there with their performances at the Division I championships in Manchester's Derryfield Park in simply lousy weather last Saturday, Oct. 27.

The wind and the rain and the chill which everybody expected from the Nor'Easter made the runners and spectators pretty uncomfortable, but the harriers soldiered on and did their best.

For coach Matt Smith's Lancer males their best was good enough for a fifth place finish in a Division I race won handily - as expected - by the powerful Concord High Crimson Tide.

The top seven teams and top 30 individuals advanced to this Saturday's Meet of Champions.

The LHS effort was spearheaded by Will Heenan, who placed an excellent sixth overall in 16 minutes and 30 seconds. Crossing the line behind him were his teammates Kerry Daley in 20th (16:59), Eric Nowak in 26th place (17:09), Matt Griffin in the 30th spot (17:17), Dylan Hotter in 31st (17:25), Kyle Hogle in 35th place (17:29), and Ben Palumbo four slots back in 39th (17:34). That boys' race had a total of 126 finishers.

The girls' race - which had 111 young ladies cross the line - was won for the fourth consecutive year by the Pinkerton Academy Lady Astros with their score of 81 points. The Exeter Lady Blue Hawks were perilously close to unseating the defending state champs with a score of 84. Londonderry ended up a modest 11th.

Veteran Lady Lancer cross-country runner Caitlin Boufford finished among the top 40 runners at last Saturday's D-I championships.

Freshman Grace McDonough advanced to the Meet of Champs as an individual by placing 27th overall in 20:48. Her veteran teammate Caitlin Boufford finished up 38th overall in 21 minutes and 2 seconds on the wet ground.
