School Board Discusses Charter Amendment, Online Criticism

IDAN VNITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry School Board held a public hearing at the Tuesday, Aug. 6, meeting regarding the proposed amendment to the current Londonderry School District Charter.

During the previous School Board meeting, the administration presented a proposal for the charter amendment, regarding the definitions and calculation of the default budget. The default budget, according to the proposed amendment, "is not in fact a budget. It is an 'amount' that will be raised if the proposed operating budget is defeated."

On Tuesday, School District's Business Administrator Peter Curro explained that the legislation on the default budget was changed a few years ago and that contracts that were not approved on the ballot could not be calculated or added to the default budget. As an example, Curro gave the annual transportation contract.

According to Curro, the new legislation created a situation where there was a difference of $250,000-$300,000 between the old default budget calculation and the new one, meaning that if a default budget was to pass in any year, it will automatically be $250,000-$300,000 lower than what the School District knows it needs and is contractually obligated to pay. The real issue, Curro added, is that if the default budget was voted in by the voters in two consecutive years, it created a $500,000-$600,000 difference that must be "found" at the expense of

250th Nutfield Time Capsule Discovered To Be Empty

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

One of the most awaited events on this year's Old Home Day celebration was the opening and unveiling of the 250th Nutfield Time Capsule, which was sealed half a century ago by locals. Unfortunately, this exciting event, which was scheduled to take place on the Town Common's main stage at 2 p.m. on Saturday, will not be happening.

At the Nutfield 300th meeting that was held on Monday, Aug. 12 at Town Hall, just before the beginning of Old Home Day celebration, Paul Lindemann, who operates the Nutfield History blog, told the committee members that the Time Capsule was recently discovered to be empty.

"It is an interesting wrinkle," said Lindemann. "I'm glad we know this now and not on the Common." He went on to explain what is believed to have happened with the capsule: "It's been in a strongbox in the New Hampshire room, in the Derry Public Library, which is a limited access room. You have to ask for permission to get in there. It's an historian's space.

Rick Holmes (Former Derry's Town Historian) went in a couple of weeks ago to check it out and found that it was empty. We had, at the museum, a package with the combination to that box and a hand written note saying 'Open on the Nutfield 300th'. Perfect. But when Rick went, he found that the same combination was also placed on the back of the strongbox. That means that anybody that had access to that room over the past 50 years could have potentially opened the box and taken what was in it."

After Lindemann's announcement, committee members discussed a few different options for the new situation. One suggestion was to put together, from what is available today, things that they believed might have been in the Time Capsule, such as newspapers front pages from the day it was sealed.

Other than that, Lindemann also presented the Nutfield 300th Booth plan. The booth will be staged on Saturday at the Town Common and sell the Londonderry and Windham 300th Medallions. The medallions will be sold for $5 in the Nutfield 300th booth, as well as at the Morrison House. Visitors will be able to take with them the 300th brochure, where all the summer activities and events are presented, as well as the 1718 Migration Booklet and a brochure with the Morrison House activities.

On display, the booth will have the 300th Events

Photo Album, the Nutfield Families Profiles and Research Guide, the 300th Driving Tour Booklet and the Civil War Soldiers of Derry book preview. There will also be a slideshow of the 300th events on the television in the back of the booth.

Rules For Portable Storage Containers Debated By Planning Board

MIKE BYERLY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Planning Board held their third public workshop on proposed changes to the town ordinance that governs the use of portable structures, including portable storage containers, in residential, industrial and commercial districts.

In the last year, the town building department hired an additional code enforcement officer who has been working through the backlog of complaints about storage containers remaining on properties for too long.

At the March 4 Town Council meeting, Marc Fortin of the Remi Fortin Company, which leases such containers, raised the concern that some of their customers who have had containers for years were being told to remove them. In response, the Council referred the matter to the Planning Board.

The Planning Board first discussed the topic on April 10 with Fortin presenting his thoughts on why the current ordinance should be relaxed. He argued that portable containers are less expensive than building permanent structures or using off-site storage. He also said that portables are more convenient than off-site storage and that there have been few complaints about portables.

For residential properties, the current zoning ordinance allows only one container no larger than ten feet wide, twenty feet long, and ten feet high for a period of six months. The building inspector can grant an additional six-month extension under special circumstances.

A building permit is also required and there are setback requirements governing how close it can be to permanent structures and lot boundaries. In the case of a permitted construction project at the residential property, all of the ordinance rules can be ignored, but the container must be removed within 14 days of the issuance of a certificate of occupancy.

The currently proposed changes would allow containers up to 40 feet long; would do away with the requirement for a building permit; and require that the container be on the side or in back of the residence.

Member Ann Ciampa brought up the concern she had on the advertising used on the storage boxes. Saying the units should have to follow some sort of guideline on the amount of signage that can be posted on them. She also felt there was some grey area in the new ordinance on the placement of the boxes.

Board Member Al Sypek added that he would like language added requiring the containers to be in good repair to avoid having them be eyesores.

The Board had an extended discussion about how to reword the six-month limitation to remove a loophole that would allow someone to temporarily remove the container and then return it to get another six months.

The current ordinances for commercial and industrial districts are largely the same as that for residential. Only one container is allowed, and the size restriction is the same. Containers are only allowed for 45 consecutive days and 90 total days in a year, far less than the six months allowed in residential zones.

The proposed changes in the commercial and industrial districts would allow for forty-foot-long containers that could be in place for up to six months. Businesses would normally still be restricted to one container; however, they could be allowed more than one if an approved site plan allowed it. As with residential, the requirement to obtain a building permit would be eliminated.

Resident Tony DeFrancesco addressed the Board to remind them that one of their duties was to protect the aesthetics of the town. He felt that portable containers should not be allowed to stay in place for extended time periods since they are unsightly in residential areas.

He added that he felt portable containers in residential areas was an incursion of a commercial element into neighborhoods. He also questioned the wisdom of eliminating the building permit requirement since it brought in some revenue to the town.

Town Planner Colleen Mailloux said that town staff support eliminating the building permit requirement since it is overly onerous and does not add value to the process. She said that staff did not support extending the allowed use timeframe past six months.

The Planning Board did not voice any opposition to her position, but opted to continue the public review at their September 11 meeting so that Chief Building Inspector Richard Canuel could weigh in.

Celebrate Your Town

August has arrived. The flowers are blooming, the garden is producing, fall sports practices will be starting; yet there's still plenty of time to sit on the porch and enjoy the fine weather.

It's the heart of summer even if you can't help but catch a glimpse of fall some evenings and that means it's time for town festivals.

This coming weekend, Londonderry's Old Home Day celebration Aug. 14-17.

Unfortunately, this year voters in Sandown voted down the celebration, but Chester's Town Fair is on Sept. 7 and Derryfest in Derry is on Sept. 21.

It's time to get over to the park or the green or the common in the center of town and meet and greet friends and neighbors. This year is special as some towns are celebrating the 300th Anniversary of the settlement of the Nutfield area.

Whatever the date or the name of the event, you're treated to a back-to-basics festival, with games of skill or chance, festival food, parades, displays of old-time kitchen skills, old world crafters, and artist and often a fireworks display to cap off the evening. Special activities geared to seniors or children abound, along with concerts, audience participation and good old down home fun. What's new is often what's old too, as long-ago games of tug of war and sack races catch the attention of today's youngsters.

Regardless of what kind of hectic modern life we lead the rest of the year; the annual town festivals bring us all together and give us glimpses of a time passed. They get us out of our homes and our backyards and back to the center of town, and slow us down to share in fun with our neighbors.

Celebrations don't come packaged and ready to go, they're the work of a multitude of volunteers and a variety of groups, all sharing a couple of things; a love of their real or adopted hometown, and a desire to make their town festival a fun-filled event with something for everyone. These are events that everyone will want to schedule and come back to every year. That's the heart of what these old-fashioned summer gatherings are all about.

And while our weekday lives often require long hours in another community, sometimes in another state, summer encourages us to get outside and chat with our neighbors.

So mark your calendar for your town's homecoming festival and plan to celebrate where you live.

Whether you've chosen your town or it's where you were born, it's a big part of your life and a big part of who you are.

Make this the year to get a little better acquainted with your neighbors and your town history, and take part in a summer rite that is part of what living in New England is all about.

Thank You "Doc" Lundgren

To the editor,
I have known David "Doc" Lundgren for well over two decades. I cannot say that I know him very well, but I think I know the type of person that he is. It is truly a shame that he was unceremoniously dumped as the sponsor of the Old Home Days Road Race. I ran his race at least 20 times whenever we were in town for the Old Home Days events. I ran because it was right here in Londonderry, easy to register, the fee, as I recall, was reasonable, but most important to me was that all runners received one of those white memento tee shirts with the stupid spine on the back. I know I still have a couple lying around somewhere, but most have become rags after many years of useful purpose. I did not interview anyone in preparation to writing this article, but I did approach Doc who told me that he would just rather forget about it and move on. Even though I admit to not knowing him very well, for a very long time I have believed if I asked him for a favor he would help me out if he could. Seems like that sort of gentleman.

Known as "The Wizard" around the greens of a golf course by many of his golfing buddies Doc can sometimes be irreverent with his comments to his fellow man and woman, but you know there is wit behind his comments and always, always followed by a smile. I will miss the man with the white hair standing in the middle of the street on race day offering water and encouragement to all his runners. I am sure others will too. And speaking of that white hair he must dye it or something because for as long as I have known him it has been his trademark.

David, life and your race will go on without you, but I am sure you have left your mark on many of us. If there was a better more deserving way to end your 30-year sponsorship of the Old Home Days Road Race than a termination phone call someone should have offered the option. Doc - some of us remember and we appreciated your efforts!

A Brief History of the Founding of Nutfield

ANN CHIAMPA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The history of the town of Nutfield dates back to 1718 when a group of 16 Scots-Irish families boarded the ship Robert and left Ireland bound for New England.

The desire to start a new life without religious wars and persecution urged them to pursue the trip.

Upon arrival, they were not warmly welcomed in Boston and were directed towards Maine.

After setting sail to head north, the ship became frozen in at Casco Bay. There they almost starved to death but for the delivery of some grain brought from Boston.

They then considered that area's living conditions intollerable, and by the spring thaw, they set sail back down the coast, then up the Merrimac to Haverhill.

After hearing of a 12 square mile tract of land to the north that was abundant with nut trees, they decided it would be a good site to establish a settlement. And so they did, and after arriving on April 11, 1719, they gave thanks and prayer the next day on the banks of Beaver Pond, led by the Rev. James McGregor in sermon.

In 1722, Nutfield was incorporated as a township and renamed Londonderry after the city in Ireland from which many of the settlers had come from.

Nutfield was the first inland settlement in the Merrimack Valley and held within its boundaries the current towns of Londonderry, Derry and Windham, the Derryfield section of Manchester, and portions of Hudson and Salem.

As the number of settlers grew, areas of Londonderry split off to form other other towns. In 1742, Windham was incorporated. In 1827, the eastern section of Londonderry was the last to split off and became the town of Derry.

As we celebrate the 300th Anniversary of the original settlement of Nutfield this year, we can look forward to celebrating our Town of Londonderry's 300th Anniversary in 2022.

Manchester Airport Seeks Rezoning of Neighboring Properties

MIKE BYERLY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Representatives of Manchester-Boston Regional Airport came to the Planning Board asking to have nine parcels abutting the airport rezoned to Gateway Business District. It will eventually be up to the Town Council to make a decision on the request, but the rezoning process requires that the Planning Board make a recommendation to the Council.

Without going into details, Steve Keach of Keach-Nordstrom Associates said that the airport was in exploratory discussions to attract a hospitality/convention center. The area targeted for the potential development is currently a mix of commercial, industrial and residential zones with some also within the Airport Overlay District. None of those zones permit conference centers.

Of the nine parcels, six are owned by the City of Manchester, one by airport, one by Londonderry and one co-owned by Manchester and the Benton Family Realty Trust. The parcels are located at 1 Highlander Way, 1A Highlander Way, 2A Highlander Way, 2 Rear Highlander Way, 139 Brown Ave, 3385 Brown Ave, 1 Elm Way, 6 Elm Way and 4 Sparks Ave.

According to the town ordinance, "The Gateway Business District (GB) is intended to allow for the development of gateways to the Town of Londonderry, centers of commerce, and employment centers for the Southern NH region."

"It is the desire of the Town of Londonderry that all of these activities be developed in a manner that both serves the business interests contained in the district, and in a manner that conveys a campus atmosphere to those arriving here."

Airport Director Ted Kitchens elaborated on the business driver behind the rezoning request, saying "Perhaps the largest limiting factor in attracting additional air service is our high cost per plane the carriers have to pay to operate out of the airport. Quite simply the Manchester-Boston Airport is the 5th most expensive of our size in the nation to operate out of."

"The proposed rezoning before the Planning Board will assist the airport in marketing land for potential lease. The leases represents a long-term revenue stream to the airport which helps offset these operating costs. And that lowers the cost we pass along to the carriers."

Kitchens added that in his opinion, the Gateway Business designation was perfect for the area around the airport, stating "If this isn't a gateway, I don't know what would be."

The area under discussion is roughly bordered by Airport Way, Executive Drive, Brown Ave, Perimeter Road and Ray Wiczorek Drive. There are some existing businesses and structures within the areas including the Executive Health and Sports Center, a large parking lot, a few residential houses and other buildings.

Board Member Ann Ciampa asked if the Executive health club would remain if the development proceeds. Kitchens confirmed that it would remain in place.

Resident Neil Dunn cautioned the Planning Board about moving too quickly on the rezoning request. He preferred that any zoning requests be considered on a parcel by parcel basis as potential projects emerge more fully. He was also concerned that the airport last did a noise study in 1992. He felt that the study should be done so that the results could be used to guide development of the parcels especially as relates to noise mitigation that might be required.

Town Planner Colleen

Mailloux agreed that an updated noise study was needed, but not as a prerequisite to the requested zoning change. Kitchens said that an updated noise study would be part of the next master plan update at the airport.

Kitchens also noted that since 1992 plane technology has improved so that planes are quieter and air traffic is way down in the past 10 years, so he suspects that overall airport noise has actually declined since 1992.

After limited discussion, the Planning Board voted unanimously to recommend the zoning change to the Town Council.

other parts of the budget. The purpose of the proposed amendment, said Curro, "is to give the voters a responsible default budget to vote on."

In a memo that Curro sent to the Superintendent Scott Laliberte on Jul. 11, he wrote that "the amendment defines in more detail a new process for calculating the default budget during the budget development process" and also that "the amendment, if approved, would allow the change in cost for any/all approved/ongoing contracts by the School Board and/or administration when calculating the default budget."

In the memo, Curro adds that "the proposed change in the charter is minor in nature and would not require a committee for a charter amendment. If this amendment is approved by the School Board, it then goes to various State agencies for approval... if those agencies approve the amendment, the School Board has the ability to put it to a vote in March 2020 via a special warrant article." Curro also said at the meeting that he has spoken to the Town Manager and that the town is considering whether they also want to make a change to the charter.

The School Board

Chair, Nancy Hendricks, read a statement by School Board member Michael Saucier, who was not present in the meeting. Saucier wrote that he supports changing the language of the charter to return to the way the school budget was calculated previous to last year. He stated three reasons for his support: Making the change will allow sending the budget to the voters on the ballot in the way they understand and used for many years, before the change mandated by the state law last year. Saucier claimed that the state law was very confusing and could lead voters to incorrectly think that the School Board is asking for increases beyond what has been traditionally included in the default budget; second, the board's support for a change will put the question on the ballot for the voters to decide; third, if the change is to made, it does not mean that the School Board will now have some new ability to force major projects on voters. Any new major project will still be a separate warrant article and must be approved publicly by the board in order to be placed on the ballot.

Saucier's statement came in light of online criticism of the School Board in recent weeks. On Jul. 31, Al Baldasaro, member of the New Hampshire House of Representatives who lives in Londonderry, wrote on his Facebook page: "Wow, this must be stopped, Londonderry taxpayers can't afford this... is there a loop hole in the law, giving school board the authority to approve a 70 million dollar bond and add it to the Default Budget? Can they make a charter change without voter's approval? Wake up taxpayers!"

Baldasaro's post was in comment to a post by Town Treasurer and Old Home Day Committee Chair, and School Board member Steve Young's partner Kathy Wagner, who wrote in an account named "Bob Slater for Londonderry School Board," "We really thought the School District cared about the Londonderry Taxpayers and the Children. THEY DON'T! Just like the shenanigans they played to get the deluxe office in the sky. Head of finance is pulling games again. Peter... We must show up and stop the travesty of 70 MILLION DOLLARS in cost being approved by five members of the School Board. Read this. If we don't voice our opposition, it will become part of the default budget. The charter must not be changed. This is a end around to get all they want. They are trying to pull the same game to allow them to spend MILLIONS for school projects without voter approval."

At the end of the public hearing, the School Board Chair Hendricks referred to the online criticism and said: "I try not to pay attention to it. I know that there has been a lot of very, very negative information out there about the School Board and I know that there has been an awful lot of misinformation out there. I find it shameful and irresponsible. And so, if you know any of the individuals that are perpetuating this irresponsible information, if you would encourage them to call us that would be mostly appreciated."

The board voted 4-0 in favor and will move forward with the proposed charter amendment.

Town Calls for Bid on Demolition of Former SAU Building

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Town of Londonderry published on Friday (Aug. 9) a RFP (Request for Proposal) for the demolition of the former SAU building. The town said it is accepting bids for the demolition of the building that is attached to the existing Town Hall at 268C Mammoth Rd. and served for many years as the School District's administrative location, before the offices were moved to the new space last summer. The town says that right now it is internally considering some ideas as of what to do with the space, after the demolition of the building, but that no final decision has been made at this time. On the March 2019 elections there were two articles on the warrant regarding the building and both passed. Article 17 was approved with a 1,933-619 result and rescinded the 1984 Warrant Article that granted, in that year's Town and School meeting, the authority for the School District's offices to be located on that lot, which is owned by the town. It also authorized the Town Council to take any action necessary to carry the vote.

Article 18 passed with a 1,711-929 result. The article called for the town to raise and appropriate $378,500 for the purpose of demolition and rebuilding and addition to town hall and authorize the use of this amount from the June 30 Unassigned und Balance towards this appropriation. With the two articles approved, the town is focusing on rebuilding an addition to Town Hall after the demolition.

According to the RFP, bid packages are available in the Town Manager's Department or on the town's website. Sealed bids must be received in the Londonderry Finance Department by Sep. 4, 2019, no later than 2 p.m.

If forwarded by mail, the sealed envelope containing the proposal and marked as directed must be enclosed in another envelope and addressed to the Town of Londonderry, preferably by registered mail. The address is: Town Hall, 268B Mammoth Road, Londonderry, NH 03053. Attention: Finance Department Purchasing Agent. All envelopes must be marked "Former SAU Building Demolition". Questions can be referred to Steve Cotton at (603) 432-1100 X119 or scotton@londonderrynh.org.

Received bids will be publicly opened and read aloud at the Londonderry Town Hall, in the Moose Hill Conference Room, on Sep. 4, 2019 at 2:15 p.m. and all bids must be valid for a period of 90 days following their opening. The town said it reserves the right to reject any or all bids and take such action as may be deemed necessary in the best interests of the town.

The town also said that in addition to the demolition of the structure, the contractor will be responsible for disconnecting utilities (electric, water, natural gas, fire alarm, building fire sprinkler, etc.), clean up, disposal of all debris, leveling the ground where the foot print of the structure existed, all permitting and fees. All work will be performed in accordance with building codes and any required permits and inspections will be the responsibility of the contractor(s).

Rec Committee Continues to Seek Budget Fix

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Town's Recreation Director, Art Psaledas, informed the four Recreation Committee members that were present in the Monday, Aug. 12 meeting that he has spoken to the Town's Finance Director about the budget issues that were raised by the committee members during a recent meeting.

Psaledas said that he asked about the Extendable Maintenance Trust Fund and was told that the Recreation Committee does not qualify for it. It was suggested that the committee will go to the direction of the Capital Reserves Fund to find funding for major needs, such as a repair of a mower.

The Recreation Committee's use of the Capital Reserves Fund is something that can be established with a petition warrant article in the next elections, on March 2020. In this scenario, the committee will ask the town to vote and put a certain amount of money in that fund for recreational use. Then, if the committee will find itself in need to expend the fund, it will have to go to Town Council for approval. Psaledas was asked at the meeting how much money was approximately left over on this year's Recreation Committee's budget and said that the number is slightly higher than usual and is around $5,000-$6,000, an amount that the committee members do not want to see taken away from the committee, but instead, being kept for future needs.

Psaledas also said that damage was done to one of the portable restrooms on West Road after someone inside the restroom lit off fireworks inside a bottle of cologne, which had alcohol content, and it exploded. Psaledas added that he told the soccer group who is in charge of the restrooms there that they should file a police report regarding the restroom that was partly destroyed, as part of it was burnt out. The deductible might be too big to make it worth filing a report to the town's insurance.

ries refused to take in any of the Jewish refugees. Only the Dominican Republic agreed to allow in some Jews. All kinds of excuses were stated. Canadian Prime Minister Mackenzie King said "We must ... seek to keep this part of the Continent free from unrest and from too great an intermixture of foreign strains of blood." The British, who controlled Palestine, refused to allow the Jews to emigrate because of the ongoing conflict between Arabs and Jews. The French said they could not help. The U.S. State Department, who had at least one Jew hater in a prominent position, blocked entry to the U.S. Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Honduras and Panama said they wanted no traders or intellectuals. Argentina said it had enough immigrants from Europe. Australia said it had no racial problems and did not want to create any.

After the conference a number of countries relented and allowed relatively small numbers of Jews to enter their countries, including the U.S. during 1938 to 1940 - 120,000; Britain - 100,000; Australia - 15,000; and the Dominican Republic - 800.

However, from 1940 to 1945 approximately 6,000,000 Jews were murdered by Nazi Germany.

Based on all of the persecution, discrimination, and violence against Jews down through millennia, including the events previously stated in this letter, it became obviously essential to establish Israel as a homeland for Jews, and this occurred in 1948.

Road north of Lance Avenue to one-way traffic only.”

“This ordinance came as a result of concerns relating to traffic safety on Wilson Road after several incidents, including crashes involving school buses. This portion of Wilson Road is substandard and does not comply with the Town’s road design standards. It is currently 19 feet wide, and the width is further reduced in the winter due to lack of snow storage and does not have adequate storm-water drainage.”

In 2012 and 2013, Evans Family Limited Partnership had conceptual discussions with the Planning Board about this same parcel. Back then, Planning, Public Works, Fire Department, Police Department and the School District expressed concerns with the poor condition of the road. The consensus of the Planning Board was that the subdivision of lots on the one-way portion of Wilson Road would require improvements of the road to meet town standards.

This Planning Board session started with the applicant describing some updates to the plan made since the last review. These included the addition of some driveway culverts, the movement of a driveway and a detention pond. No major proposed changes to the condition of Wilson Road were presented.

A few members of the Board expressed disappointment that there was not a plan to improve the road. They feel that once a plan is developed, the applicant could then approach the town to discuss sharing the cost of the road upgrade.

Chairman Art Rugg said, “We don’t know how much the town is responsible for or we don’t know how much the applicant is responsible for. We’re at a dead end so to speak.”

In response, Charlie Evans replied, “You’re asking us to spend a sizeable amount of money on a town road to demonstrate the geometry the staff would like to see with no guarantee that we going to have an end result in approving the subdivision.”

“The town has no funds, no allocation, so we could be sitting there after we spend all this money with no guarantee of any kind of outcome.”

Evans made the case that the lesser work on the road that he is willing to do would be an improvement over the current state. He also felt that the amount of traffic added would have minimal impact. At one point, Evens offered to pay 5% of the road design cost if the town picked up the rest.

Rugg said that Evans would have to talk with the Town Council about that since the Planning Board is not authorized to make expenditures.

Planning Board member Jake Butler, who had recused himself from the discussion, spoke as a resident in favor of letting Evans proceed without significant road improvements. He said it was the town’s fault that the road was substandard and that it was not fair to ask the applicant to make the improvements.

Nobody on the Board vocalized any support for that position. Rugg gave Evans the option to have them vote up or down on the plan or continue it for two months to give time for Evans to see if he could work out a mutually agreeable plan with the town.

Evans opted for a continuance.

Madallion Marking 300th Anniversary Can Be Purchased During Old Home Day

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Over the past several months, the Nutfield Anniversary Committee has been working on ways to celebrate this momentous occasion.

One of the ways they came up with, was to produce a commemorative coin.

The coin features historically significant images on both the front and back, and will be available for purchase during this year’s Old Home Day celebration.

On Saturday, Aug. 17, those wishing to purchase the medallion can do so by stopping by Booth 44 on the Town Common. The cost of the coin is $5.

They are also currently on sale at the Town Hall in the Town Clerk’s office.

The artwork that created the images stamped into the medallion were originally created by the artist Kevin Jankowski. Those images were taken from a painting and drawing and reassembled to create the artwork for the coin, and served as the inspiration for the 300th medallion.

LONDONDERRY SPORTS

Londonderry, Derry Police and Fire Ready for Softball Game

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The 120th Old Home Day celebration in Londonderry is happening this week, and this year it is collaborating with the Nutfield 300th Anniversary Committee and introducing a change to the annual softball game, which for years has been a rivalry between local cops and fire fighters.

While in the past, the Friday night game saw the Londonderry Police Department and Fire Department face each other for a night of spirited rivalry. Although, in the past few years, the contest, which has taken place at Matthew Thornton Elementary School, has been cancelled due to inclement weather.

This year, the two Londonderry departments are joining forces and playing against their old rivals from the other side of the interstate, Derry, who will be sending their own Police and Fire departments team to compete, reinstating the heated rivalry from 300 years past, when the town areas divided.

According to the Old Home Day Committee website, the game will be played on Friday, Aug. 16 and is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. at the Londonderry High School Varsity field.

After the game attendees are invited to a free concert by Manchuka that will begin at 7:15 p.m., near the front entrance of the Londonderry High school. After the concert, if the weather allows it, there will also be a fireworks display launched from the upper lacrosse field, near the football field (starting at 8:45 p.m.).

Kids Summer Fun Run Program Concludes Record Breaking Season

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The 45th annual Kids Summer Fun Run program, organized by the Greater Derry Track Club, concluded on Monday, Aug. 5, at the Londonderry High School track, where this year's winners for the 9-year-olds to 13-year-olds boys' and girls' categories were announced.

The summer program had six race events happening this year every Monday night, with only one of them getting rained out.

Race Director Colleen Falardeau, who has been leading the Fun Run for the past three years with her husband, said that this year's 685 participating children, ages 2 to 13, are an all-time record.

An estimated 1,600 pounds of non-perishable food items were collected as part of the program throughout the summer. These items were collected each week when families registered their children to race. Those items were dropped off to the St. Jude's food pantry in Londonderry and the St. Thomas Aquinas food pantry in Derry.

"It's getting bigger and bigger", said Falardeau while the kids were running in the summer's final event, which was "friendly" and did not count for the season's total score. "This venue, the high school track, works very well for us. There is parking, it is in a safe location and it is central, so we get many kids from both Derry and Londonderry coming."

And while she is happy to see the increased numbers, Falardeau also knows, "The biggest challenge that the program has, moving forward, is the numbers. If it grew too big on us, it might lose some of what we have right now. Our numbers should stay around this, maybe 700 or 750 kids and we will be good."

One of the mothers that was standing on the field, waiting for her child to finish his race on the final night said that the family came back from Cape Cod so the kid could participate in the season finale of the Fun Runs.

"The parents really love it", says Falardeau.

"We hear about a lot of people that come home from vacation just because the kids really want to run here."

Two Lancers to Play in Lynn Invitational Baseball Tournament

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Two Londonderry High School students from the class of 2020, Sean Cavanaugh and Chris Tutt, will be part of this week's Lynn Invitational, a major baseball showcase tournament that will be held in Lynn, Mass.

Each year, many scouts from New England colleges and universities and even from Major League Baseball teams attend the tournament and dozens of former participants were selected along the years in the MLB Draft. The tournament begins on Thursday, Aug. 15, and each of the eight teams will play three games until Saturday. On Sunday there will be two Top Prospects games.

Both Londonderry athletes are part of the "Navy" team. Tutt will be playing in second base and the outfield and Cavanaugh is scheduled to pitch on Friday starting at 3:30 p.m. against the "Red" team. "It is a tournament for kids from all around New England", explains Cavanaugh. "You apply to be in the tournament and you either get denied or accepted. I'm not sure how many applied, but it was a lot."

In order to apply, an athlete must be playing on his high school's Varsity team. "They also ask for any awards that you got and positions you played", said Cavanaugh, who applied a pitcher, first baseman and third baseman. "I'm hoping to play well and maybe I get seen and have the opportunity. I want to play baseball in college."

Last year, it was the recently graduated Zach Luongo and Nick Cote who were representing Londonderry High School in Lynn, with the latter even being selected for the All-Stars team.

Just a few weeks ago, it was the Cavanaugh single that sent Cote home for the only run in the State Championship game, where the Lancers celebrated a 1-0 win over Bedford. "I still look back at the video and it was a magical moment. As a team we all felt that we did it. I'm feeling confident going into my senior year. Back-to-back championships will be great, but we want to have a winning season first and make the playoffs again."

Sean Cavanaugh had the only RBI that LHS needed for the state title.

Chris Tutt celebrates after Division I win against Bedford.

READERS ARE CAUTIONED that we occasionally run ads that require an initial investment or money in advance. We urge our readers to "do their homework" before responding to any ad, check out the advertiser thoroughly and verify their claims to your total satisfaction. Only then should you proceed at your own risk. We try to screen ads that require you to send money before receiving a product or service. But these efforts are no substitute for your own investigation, and we don't endorse or guarantee any claims made in any of the ads we publish. If you want more information about claims made in ads on subjects such as work at home opportunities, travel or vacation specials, purchasing land or vehicles from government surplus or below wholesale, loans or other credit opportunities (including credit repair), or weight loss and other health products and services, we urge you to contact the Office of Attorney General, Consumer Protection Bureau, 33 Capitol Street, Concord, NH 03301 (603-271-3641) or the Better Business Bureau at 603-224-1991. Publisher is not responsible for any loss of business if an ad does not run, and we reserve the right to revoke any ad if deemed necessary. No refunds will be given for prepaid ads.

Concerts on the Common Heads Indoors for HELP! Show

The popular Beatles cover band, HELP!, was the featured performers at last week's Concert on the Common. That concert wound up having to be brought indoors to the Matthew Thornton gymnasium after a bout of rainstorms moved through the area on Wednesday. A large crowd filled out the space, and every chair was needed to accommodate attendees.
