Town Common Shut Down While Drainage Project Takes Place

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Construction work began on the Londonderry Town Common last week to correct the drainage problems on the Town Common, and during the project the Common will remain closed until the efforts are completed. “During this time, we cannot allow any events to take place on the Common”, said the notice on the town’s website.

Janusz Czyzowski, the town’s Director of Public Works and Engineering, explained that work on the project, which received the voter’s approval on the ballot in March’s elections (Article 16, cost of $235,000), had to wait

Pennichuck Variance for Water Tower Denied by Zoning Board

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

A Public Hearing of the Zoning Board of Adjustment was held on Wednesday, Sept. 18. The meeting, lasting four hours long, was to consider a request for a variance made by Pennichuck East Utility.

The Utility was seeking a variance to allow a water tank 156 feet in height, where only 35 feet in height is allowed, at a location on 7 Rear Gordon Drive.

The project rallied many are residents to argue against the plan, and the final result ended with the board voting 4-0 against it (with one member abstaining) and the request for variance was denied.

The Moose Hill Council Chamber at Town Hall was packed for this hearing that had been continued from the Aug. 21 meeting, following a request by the applicant company. Last month, when the board decided on postponing the Public Hearing, the official reason that was given was that Pennichuck asked for the postponement due to the amount of information their representatives had to present.

The Public Hearing began with a presentation by Pennichuck’s representatives that lasted approximately one hour. Attorney Patricia Panciocco spoke on behalf of the company and presented the request, before John Boisvert, Pennichuck’s

Chief Engineer, said: “This project has been a long time coming. We have been monitoring and looking at water use within the town of Londonderry since we’ve acquired the system, but more importantly, since the 2010-2011 period, when we started to see demands and spikes within the community due to a growth within the town. Those numbers were close to reaching the limits that our pumps can deliver to Londonderry.” He further explained the problems Pennichuck sees in the current water system in Londonderry and in providing enough water to the town, including its fire protection.

Building Project on Sanborn Road Raises Many Questions

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Construction on the two new buildings located on 30 Sanborn Road in North Londonderry is almost completed. According to the development company, owned by developer Steven Lewis, the first building in the “Sanborn Crossing Senior Living” should be ready and opened in December of this year and the second building, a few months later.

The two new buildings, each four-stories in height, will have 102 apartments, which are described as Affordable Senior Housing, but the project that broke ground nine months ago is still raising several questions.

Local developer, Joe DeCarolus, attempted to build Affordable Senior Housing in Londonderry, about a decade ago, but eventually decided to switch gears and develop a non-subsidized workforce housing on Stonehenge Road, instead of a subsidized senior housing. However, local residents resisted the project at the time and were successful in stopping it from moving forward.

The affordable housing issue was brought up again a few years later and the 13.67-acre land on Sanborn Road, a property that was owned by the town for the past two decades, was chosen as the new location for the building project.

Lewis told the Londonderry Times that Salem continued on page 8

Resident Still Questions Back-up Generator Request By Police Department

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Six months ago, in March, Article No. 15 on the 2019 Ballot passed, approving the money and purchase of an emergency back-up generator for the Londonderry Police Department. The funding for the generator came from the June 30 Unassigned Fund Balance.

However, the article raised questions even before the election. New questions are still arising and a recent response to an inquiry made by local resident and former Town Treasurer, Richard Bielinski, reflects what can be interpreted as a very problematic process, that eventually led to the request of town funding in Article No. 15.

Back on March 4, eight days prior to the elections, Bielinski attended the Town Council meeting to express his concerns with Article 15. As was reported in this paper's March 7 issue, Bielinski told the Town Council members that the current CAT generator had only been used for approximately 533 hours over its 15-year time period in Town. Bielinski did extensive research that showed that these types of generators' typically have a lifespan of 30,000 hours. Therefore, according to the research the current generator at the LPD was used for less than two percent of its useable life.

Bielinski said at a private meeting with a police department representative he was told that the Police Department did not have a new back-up generator on its "must have" list and that the new generator will serve as a back-up to the already existing back-up generator. At a later date Town Council Chair, John Farrell, answered, similar questions and according to the meeting minutes, indicated that the primary generator was 16 years old and has shown its age through some of its repairs.

Bielinski based his surprise with the need of a new generator for the Police Department on the presentation made at the deliberative session. The reports that were made on the current generator, just confirmed, that the generator did not show any kind of problems. The reports, which Bielinski shared with the Londonderry Times, go back to 2011 and the only two maintenance jobs that were included were made on the Automatic Transfer Switch (ATS), which is not part of the generator. The ATS is a device that transfers power supply from the primary source to the back-up, once it senses a failure or outage.

While homeowners can take a few minutes to connect and start their generator once their primary source loses power, places like the Police Department must have an automatic and instant response time. However, the ATS, the only thing that the reports show was fixed (Once on Nov. 2017 for $580 and once on Jun. 2018 for $7,116.14), is definitely not part of the generator and 30 pages filled with inspection reports claim everything is fine. So why the need for a new generator?

Bielinski continued to ask questions even after Article 15 eventually passed in the elections. He says he made calls for six months, but only after a 91-A Right to Know request, sent by him to the Police Department, did he received some answers and these are also troubling.

Bielinski shared with the Londonderry Times an email he received from the Assistant Town Solicitor, Michael Malaguti, on Sept. 4. Bielinski asked to see a load test report, showing what power is required by the building currently. This kind of report will show what size generator is needed. The answer he received was that "no responsive governmental or public records are available."

At the July 15 Town Council meeting, a resolution was approved after Chief of Fire Department, Darren O'Brien, received a grant from the state to replace the 100 kilowatt generator with a 200 kilowatt generator, since the smaller one was not sufficient for the Fire Department building after the ongoing renovations. That renovated building is roughly the same size as the Police Department, but an email sent by Andrew Royce, a Milton CAT Outside Sales Representative to Police Building Maintenance Supervisor, Michael Cousins, on Jul. 19 shows prices for 300, 350 and 400-kilowatt generators.

Even if there is a need for a stronger generator for the Police Department than the one the Fire Department will have after the renovations, how can someone know it if no test report was done? And if it was done, why is it not available for the public? When Bielinski asked if any effort was put forth to look for an outside grant to purchase the new generator for the Police Department, like the Chief of Fire Department did, the response was again, "no responsive governmental or public record are available."

That was also the answer Bielinski received from Malaguti when he asked if there was any report showing that the current generator is indeed beyond the serviceable life. In addition, there were "no responsive governmental or public records available" to his request to see if there was a RFP (Request for Proposal) for a new generator. These questions remain open in regard to the new backup generator for the Londonderry Police Department.

Another issue Bielinski brought up at that meeting was with the wording of Article 15, on the ballot that read "If passed, this article will require the Town to raise $0.00 in property taxes, resulting in a tax rate impact of $0.00 in FY 20 based upon projected assessed values." He said that while there might not be a need to raise more property taxes for the new generator, the $175,000 will be taken from the Unassigned Fund Balance, which is a fund consisting of previous tax dollars paid by Londonderry residents. Bielinski thought the public should know that and Farrell, Finance Director, Justin Campo, and Town Manager, Kevin Smith, agreed with him.

The town's final response to Bielinski inquires was sent to him by email from Malaguti. It stated "It is my understanding that the Town has worked with you for months to address your concerns about the generator. I understand you have spoken with Administrative Support Coordinator Steve Cotton, Police Captain Patrick Cheetham, and Police Building Maintenance Supervisor Michael Cousins. (I read in the Londonderry Times that you found Captain Cheetham "very helpful" and that he provided you with "details [and] further insight." I was therefore surprised to read in your August 22 email how you characterize your interactions with Town and Police officials regarding this matter.) May I suggest that should sixteen weeks elapse after a future request for information made by you with no response from the Town, that you simply follow up with the party to whom you made the request in a timely fashion? Contrary to your suggestion, no one has "asked [Captain Cheetham] not to send any information," and I expect the Town will continue to comply with the law as it pertains to mandated disclosures of governmental and public records.

"I further understand that this dispute has reached an adversarial posture with the filing (by you) of a complaint suggesting the possibility of criminality on the part of Town officials. Let me be clear. You have every right to continue to advance whatever complaints you may have against the Town and its officials, however frivolous or meritorious such complaints may be. You also have the right to continue to make requests for information, which the Town will answer as required by law. However, given the posture of this dispute—as confirmed by the tone of your August 22 communication—I must respectfully request that you direct all future communication concerning this matter to my attention. This request should not be construed to apply to meetings of the Town Council or any other public body, where you should feel free to interact with town officials directly subject to any procedural rules that may apply to such proceedings."

A Change of Season

Orange has never been a favorite color, but about this time every year, our thoughts turn to multiple things orange.

Pumpkins. Changing leaves. Hunting vests.

The color is a sign of the shift in seasons.

Monday, Sept. 23, was the first day of autumn, and the change of seasons is a hard one to miss this year. Even the warm days have a different feel it's warmth that tells of the end of summer, not the ongoing intensity of July and August. The darkness falls early now, as that set the stage for us to prepare to set our clocks back on Nov. 3. There's no mistaking the cold bite of the evening air or the sound of the furnace clicking on for the first time in months.

We can still enjoy plenty of days of wearing flip-flops and shorts, but their time is running out for the year. The trees in local orchards are full of apples, and if that's not a sure sign of fall in New England, we don't know what is. Take advantage of that bounty and plan a trip to pick apples and set aside some time to bake pies and make cider and sauce. We're fortunate to have the chance to taste the real thing, literally in our own backyards.

Driving around this week, a table piled with small pumpkins and mums came into view just another sign. Stop by any local garden center or farmstand, and you're sure to find a colorful display of mums and cornstalks, something it's hard to resist buying to decorate a front porch or mailbox. You can't miss the shift. The season is changing. And that means Halloween will be upon us before we know it there's that orange again.

We don't need a calendar to tell us about the crispness in the evening air, the yellowing of the light. And the trees are giving us a preview already of the glorious display to come in the weeks ahead.

It's a perfect season to take a walk not to hot or cold and very few bugs. Visit your town conservation areas and discover the hidden treasures of the woodlands you and your neighbors have preserved. Soon enough, your outdoor exercise will be directed at raking those colorful leaves whose time has come.

All in all, it's a wonderful time of year, a time when nature's bounty and beauty are on display for everyone to enjoy. And as New Englanders, we know what comes next.

Iran Threatens Neighbors and U.S.

To the editor,

Iran is the leading promoter of Islamic terrorism in the world. It actively supports Hezbollah in Lebanon, Iraq, and Syria; and Hamas in Palestine. Iran has infiltrated the Iraqi government and Iraqi military forces. It has extensive military forces in Syria.

Iran threatens the stability of the Middle East. Saudi Arabia, Jordan, Kuwait, the Gulf States and Israel are concerned with Iran's aggressive moves in Syria and Iraq, and now it has attacked Saudi oil facilities.

Iran attacked oil tankers and continues to approach U.S. Navy ships in international waters in the Persian Gulf with threatening maneuvers. It wants to control the Strait of Hormuz, which is a navigational bottleneck on a major maritime route for oil shipments. The U. S. Navy is committed to keeping the sea lanes open to free trade.

Iran is emboldened and is threatening countries in the Middle East. We have deployed a carrier strike group and B52 bombers to the region along with a few thousand additional troops. We have to increase our offensive missile forces and combat aircraft in the region to support friendly Arab countries' military actions against Iran. We might have to send defensive troops to Saudi Arabia.

Drainage

until after the summer, since the Common was a main location in many annual festivities and activities such as Concerts on the Common and a number of Old Home Day celebrations.

Continental Paving is the company doing the project, and they are currently stripping the Common's lawn, and then the area will be drained and reshaped. Czyzowski said that the project would definitely be completed this fall, before the winter begins. "We still want to seed this year and hopefully we can have nice grass next year, next spring."

The work will be around the stage and the monument that is located inside the Common and neither of those structures will be touched. "We are working around existing trees. So basically reshaping as much as we can, so water will drain to those catch basins", said Czyzowski. "It's the maximum we can do, because we have to work around those trees and the stage."

The roads that surround the Common are above the grass, so the lawn will remain below and still absorb water, but Czyzowski says: "At least now we have the drainage system, so whenever the water falls and runs down into the area, it will be carried through the catch basins and the pipes and away from the Common."

Czyzowski also explained the need to have this construction work now: "Every time it rained, it was ponding in several locations, so if we had heavy rain before some activities, they could not set up anything there. So for many years they wanted to do something and now we finally started."

GREENWorks: Ideas for a Cleaner Environment

SUBMITTED BY
NEW HAMPSHIRE DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENTAL SERVICES

It's Septic Smart Week. Time to "Get Pumped, New Hampshire!"

Many homes in the New England region have septic systems; in fact, New Hampshire Department of Environmental Services (NHDES) estimates that 60% of homes in New Hampshire are served by individual septic systems. It's easy for most homeowners to pay little attention to their septic systems, after all, they are buried underground - out of sight, out of mind. When we flush our toilets, run our clothes washer, dish washer, shower or sink faucets, the wastewater goes away, never to be seen again. Of course, it's not as simple as that; the wastewater doesn't go away - it goes into your septic tank, eventually your leach field, and then into the groundwater and streams and lakes.

When septic systems are correctly designed and functioning, the wastewater is processed through a leach field properly, making it safe for human health and the environment. The built-up solids in the tank need to be removed on a scheduled basis to ensure the wastewater discharged to the leach field is as clean as possible. Inspecting and maintaining your septic system will extend its life, protect your family's health, and save you money. While it's important to understand what you can do in your home to protect your system—such as water conservation measures and knowing what's flushable—making sure you get your septic tank pumped regularly is also critically important.

It is recommended that you get your septic tank pumped every 3 to 5 years, though it depends mostly on how many bathrooms and how many people live in the home. A typical pumpout can cost between $250 and $500, which is a far cry from the $6,000 to $15,000 it could cost to replace your leach field if your septic system fails. Additionally, it could cost you extra when selling your home, since septic systems are inspected during every real estate transaction in New Hampshire.

When you make the call to get your septic pumped, make sure to contact a NHDES-licensed septage hauler. NHDES provides a list of licensed hauler www.des.nh.gov/organization/divisions/water/wweb/documents/nh\_septage\_haulers.pdf on its website. You can also contact septage haulers on this list participating in a limited time $10 rebate <http://nhash.com/find-a-local-septic-professional/> being offered to New Hampshire residents by the New Hampshire Association of Septage Haulers <http://nhash.com>.

In between pumpouts, there are things you can do to within your home to protect your septic system as well:

- Don't flush anything but the three P's: pee, poop and paper. Learn more about what's flushable <https://getpumpednh.com/wp-content/uploads/2018/10/whats-flushable.pdf> and what isn't. Many products that claim to be "flushable" actually clog up your system.

- Conserve water. Small water leaks could be big problems www.des.nh.gov/organization/commissioner/pip/newsletters/greenworks/documents/201902-greenworks.pdf. Fix leaky faucets and toilets ASAP to extend the life of your systems, saving you even more money.

- Only wash clothes when you have full loads. Be mindful of large water uses, and stagger the use of water-generating appliances, such as washing machines, showers and dishwashers.

- Eliminate or limit the use of a garbage disposal system. Wastes from disposals fill up your systems more rapidly, which means more frequent pumping.

The Get Pumped! New Hampshire website grante.nhroot.int/shared/des/CO-PIP/Intern-Folder/M-arisa-Jellison-2019/GREENWorks/getpumpednh.com includes many more tips on the "do's and don'ts" for homeowners with septic systems, such as:

- Don't pour cooking grease or oil down the sink or toilet.

- Don't park or drive on your drainage field. The weight can damage drain lines.

- Do eliminate or limit the use of a garbage disposal system.

A healthy balance of protecting your septic system at the drain and pumping it out regularly will not only protect you, your family and your community from contamination, but it will protect your property and your pocketbook.

Town's Senior Transportation Coordinator Explains CART

JOHN GOGLIA
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Recently, the Londonderry Senior Resource Committee suggested that it would be a good idea to provide public updates about local transportation.

Last week, Laurie B. Renke, Londonderry's part-time Senior Transportation Coordinator, provided some essential information regarding the Cooperative Alliance for Regional Transportation (CART) serving the towns of Londonderry, Chester, Derry, Hampstead and Salem.

CART had been previously partnered with the Easter Seals organization, but recently CART has partnered with the Manchester Transit Authority (MTA) to upgrade their service. Using federal, municipal and other funding, CART, basically provides two types of transportation services for residents in the five towns previously mentioned. This transportation is only on weekdays from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Demand Response Service: is a prescheduled, shared-ride, curb-to-curb service to anywhere within the service area, for seniors and the public at large. Fares range from $1.50 to $5.00 for one-way travel, depending upon distance. Exact cash fare amounts are necessary. Wheelchair lift equipped vehicles are available.

Shuttle Service: is for seniors and individuals with disabilities within the towns of Derry and Londonderry. Non-seniors and others without disabilities are accommodated if space is available. Shuttle Services operate on a regular fixed route schedule to the Londonderry Senior Center and the Marion Gerish Center in Derry. Shuttle service to dialysis centers in Derry and Londonderry is available. The shuttle also provides demand response service as time allows. All rides must be scheduled in advance.

CART offers a half fare pass to anyone over 62 years of age, individuals with a disability and individuals who qualify for low-income housing. CART also offers a ten-ride card to make travel easier. Please check the CART website www.cart-rides.org or call CART at 603-434-3569 for further specific requirements and details.

Renke herself is two short years away from becoming a senior. She has a Marketing Degree and experience with start-up businesses, as well as, event planning and volunteer coordinating. She has lived in Londonderry for 24 years. Her office is located at the Senior Center, 535 Mammoth Road, Londonderry and she works approximately 10 - 15 hours per week at the present time. Renke has spent the first several weeks of her new position getting familiar with the local transportation authorities and researching the past transportation issues in Londonderry, in regards to seniors.

She feels there has been solid attempts by the town to make progress on researching the need for providing alternatives to existing transportation. She mentioned the trial funding of providing Green Cab services to individuals unable to secure rides through existing services and by getting voter approval for funds to supplement senior transportation. She believes that some misconceptions and miscommunications about transportation alternatives is responsible for frustration by potential users and town volunteers and transportation officials. She also thinks that there may be some apprehension by seniors towards riding public transportation since many seniors in our area have limited experiences with public transportation, having mostly relied on their own mode of transportation during their lifetimes.

Renke has created a senior transportation survey that was launched at the CART booth at this year's Old Home Day, which is currently available in paper form in displays at the Senior Center, the Town Hall and the Leach Library, along with a drop box at each location. The survey includes questions about the different modes of transportation available in town. The Southern NH Planning Commission has offered to assist Renke in creating an online version of the survey for the entire town. Postcard size flyers will soon be added to the displays and those displays will soon be expanded to restaurants, coffee shops and various retailers in town. All citizens are encouraged to participate in the survey by going to the following link: tiny.cc/seniortransit

Renke is researching ways to get the survey to more seniors via the town website or by emails to certain places where seniors live or congregate. Renke is also hoping to conduct Informational Presentations about the different types of public and private types of transportation services available in Londonderry and surrounding communities. These presentations would possibly be held at the Senior Center, library, school, town hall, the over 55 communities or wherever might be convenient for seniors.

Renke also would like to produce a "large print" senior friendly transportation brochure at some point with town approval. Renke is also looking into the AARP Smart Driver Class for seniors. The online version is very impressive but an in-person class might be a better alternative. The Senior Center hopes to offer a class in the near future.

In her limited time as Senior Transportation Coordinator Renke has enjoyed the support and exchange of information and ideas from the many local and state agencies, committees, town representatives and employees who are involved in the transportation process. All who work at, volunteer and frequent the Senior Center have warmly received her and she encourages anyone to come in and chat with her by making an appointment and calling her at 432-1100 extension 233. Since the CART shuttle bus is at the Senior Center 5 days a week all are welcome to come and check it out. She will try her best to improve communication and listen to all transportation concerns. Her slogan regarding CART going forward is "Try it, before you ride it".

Arrests Made To Local Couple After Disorderly Conduct

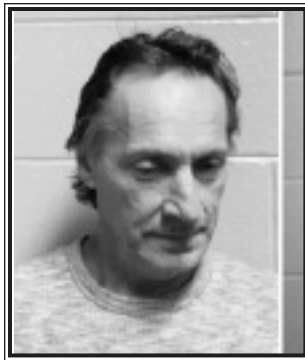

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry Police arrested a local husband and his wife on Saturday, Sept. 14 at 18 Mohawk Drive. The husband, 50-year-old Michael McPeak, was charged with resisting arrest/detention and disorderly conduct, while 60-year-old Fannie McPeak was charged with violation of restraining order.

The Londonderry Police received a call, few minutes before 4:30 p.m. that day and officers responded for a reported intoxicated male. According to Captain Patrick Cheetham from the Londonderry Police Department, when the officers found the male, McPeak, he was indeed intoxicated.

The officers learned that Michael McPeak was the protected party in a restraining order out of Washington State. The female that is prohibited from having contact with him, his wife Fannie, was also on scene at Mohawk Drive and was arrested for her violation.

Michael McPeak was arrested almost an hour before her and about 30 minutes after the police were called, because he repeatedly walked into the roadway, despite several requests by officers to remain out of the road, while they investigated the violation by his wife.

According to Capt. Cheetham, at one point, Michael McPeak tried running into a nearby house and that led the officers to restrain and arrest him.

He did not cooperate with the booking process and was taken to the Rockingham County Jail, pending arraignment. Fannie McPeak was also brought to the same jail, pending arraignment.

A day later, on Sunday, Sept. 15, Londonderry Police officers found a driver in a vehicle at the Nashua Road Shell gas station, and suspected that he was intoxicated. The driver, who was later identified as 55-year-old Jose Luis Sanchez Fernandez, of Lawrence, Mass., was arrested at 4:50 p.m. after officers performed field sobriety tests.

Two minor aged children were inside the car at the time of Sanchez Fernandez's arrest, which led to him being charged with driving under the influence of drugs or liquor and also two charges of endangering the welfare of child.

Water Tower

materials to the board were Ken Clinton, of Meridian Land Services, who provided an overview of the property and its physical characteristics and Devin Smith, who designed the proposed water tank. Attorney Panciocco also said: "I'd like to emphasize - We are not here because Pennichuck wants a very large tank. We are here because the demand that is on your present water system is growing and you need it."

She added: "The town has grown and there is significant amount of construction taking place, including Woodmont. Woodmont is not the reason for this tank and I have to emphasize that, although they stepped up to the plate and they'll be absorbing more than half of its cost, because they will benefit from the tank."

Towards the end of Pennichuck's presentation, Panciocco also said: "The proposed used is a reasonable one. The installation of a water storage tank on this property is appropriate. After a while, you won't even notice it's there." That sentence was also met with murmuring from the crowd.

Following Pennichuck's presentation, one by one, local residents addressed the board and urged the members to vote and deny the variance request. First (and later, last) to speak was Matt Augeri, who referred to the presentation: "I would like to voice my disappointment that you received this Power Point presentation today. These folks have lots of resources available, they have legal counsel, they have engineers, they had months to prepare this and they're presenting this to you today, probably in hopes that we can't rebut any of the figures they are presenting. Frankly, that makes me very suspicious of their numbers."

Augeri was the first of almost 20 speakers, who attacked the proposition by Pennichuck through the five criteria that must be met by applicants for every variance request. After, Panciocco asked to continue the hearing for 60 days, so that Pennichuck could get an evaluation on the impacts and the values of the homes around the proposed water tank, Augeri requested another opportunity to speak.

He said, addressing the Pennichuck representatives: "Their lack of planning is no excuse. They've had months, years, attorneys, engineers and paid professionals and their presentation was dismal. I would prefer that you look at the information that is in front of you. It's all there. The fact that they've already admitted that there are other alternatives, should frame what you have seen here tonight, regardless of where it's put. That is a discussion for another time. There are other alternatives and it's a well-known fact, stated by two realtors, that our property values will decrease. We have no reason to suspect that it's going to take them another 60 days to find a realtor, to come back and give you statistics that will counter the fact of what we've already told you and you already probably believe to be true. Their presentation was dismal. It's up to you to vote on it, based on what they presented. The facts are there."

During the public discussion, the water company's Lawyer Patricia Panciocco, asked to once again continue the hearing in a future meeting, claiming that the first request, which moved the Public Hearing from August to September, was "because the agenda was full" (This was received with anger from the crowd) and that now, when they have new information, they would like to take some time to look into it again. "We should be given an opportunity to fully respond before the application is decided."

Eventually, the board decided against continuing the Public Hearing and denied Pennichuck's request for the continuance.

Zoning Board members deliberated and determined by a vote of 4-0 that the variance request didn't meet the five points of law.

Sanborn

contacted him years ago and asked him to build workforce housing, “When the state passed the bill for workforce housing, many communities had a tough time following it. I built low-income housing for seniors and workforce housing projects there, in Salem. We worked with UNH on the design and it was a classic example of a community that is collaborating with someone to provide workforce housing.”

Londonderry Town Manager, Kevin Smith, later approached Lewis and according to Lewis, “He attended the opening of the project in Salem and was impressed with how well everything was built there.”

Town Manager, Kevin Smith, said in an email that the town took ownership of the land on 30 Sanborn Road decades ago, since it was listed as a contaminated brownfield (The site on Sanborn Road was classified as a brownfield by the United States Environmental Protection Agency). Smith said that as it was a brownfield, the town sold it to Lewis for only $10, because the site still needed to be cleaned up before it could be given the green light to be built upon.

A Rockingham County Registry of Deeds shows that in May 22, 1997, the town took ownership of the land as a result of a tax lien execution and sale, two years earlier, that was conducted at the office of the then town’s tax collector, Joan Savina. The deed, signed by Savina, also reads: “I have good right, so far as that right may depend upon the regularity of my own proceedings, to sell and convey the same in the manner aforesaid.”

When asked about this, Lewis clarified, “It’s the same thing. The previous owners of the property left it and stopped paying taxes because of all the pollution they created, so the town took over the property. I don’t want you to write it as two different things. It’s the same.”

Once the town took ownership of that land, in 1997, its assessment jumped from $54,000 in 1996 to $218,600 the following year and later escalated until stopping at an assessed value of $437,700 in 2011. That same land value stayed the same until it was sold for $10 to Lewis. Smith said in his answer that “the land sale did go through at least two public hearings prior to its approval, and no one showed up at either hearing objecting to the project not going out to bid, nor did any other developer show up asking for the opportunity to bid on the project.”

Smith added that he was the one who approached Lewis with the project and the selling of the land idea. At that time the Town Council guided him in 2015 to find a developer who would do an Affordable Senior Housing development. Lewis was the only one he knew who had already done similar projects in Southern New Hampshire. “Thus, given Mr. Lewis’s interest in doing the project when I initially approached him about it, and his reputation with New Hampshire Finance Authority in obtaining credits to do these kinds of projects, we did not put the development out to bid (nor were we required to)”, wrote Smith.

Section II in Title V – Taxation, Chapter 80 – Collection of Taxes – Real Estate Tax Lien, in the New Hampshire Revised Statutes, says: “If the governing body is so authorized to convey such property by deed, either a public auction shall be held, or the property may be sold by advertised sealed bids. The governing body shall have the power to establish a minimum amount for which the property is to be sold and the terms and conditions of the sale.”

There is a way around it, if the town did not want to go to bid and instead, just sell the land to Lewis for $10. Section III reads: “The governing body may, by a specific article in the town warrant, or by ordinance, be authorized to dispose of liens or tax deeded properties in a manner other than as provided in this section, as justice may require. Before proceeding under this provision, the governing body shall make an affirmative finding that disposal by a method other than sealed bid or public auction is in the public interest.”

The questions here is what was the “justice” and why was it decided that a method other than sealed bid or public auction was indeed in the public interest? The selling of the property did bring the town money, since the property was taxable now and not owned by the town anymore. However, by establishing a minimum amount and putting the land out for a bid or for public auction, another developer could have been interested in the property and may have paid more than the $10 paid by Lewis.

If no other buyer was interested, it could have still been sold to Lewis for the $10. The two public hearings were to approve the sale, after it was already offered to Lewis for $10, not to question the need for a bid or an auction or see if someone else was willing to pay more for the property.

On a side note, even in cases of a bid, the town does not always following its own minimum amount, when it is established. For example, the town took a property located at 68 Hall Road in March 2013, as a result of a tax lien execution and sale. The town paid $2,304.93 for it and four years later, in June of 2017, offered it for sale in a sealed bid process, which in that case was decided to be the best method. The minimum that was acceptable, according to the conditions of sale posted by the town, was $50,000, but town records show that the property was eventually sold on Aug. 2, 2017 (two months after the bid), for only $25,000.

Another issue regarding the “public interest” is how affordable are the apartments on Sanborn Crossing (which are not promised to Londonderry residents, but are open to the general public). In a letter sent to the editor of this paper on Sep. 2, Lee Jeffers of Londonderry wrote that he recently submitted the required financially detailed preliminary rental application on behalf of his 78-year-old mother, but received an answer that her annual income disqualifies her from renting either the one-bedroom, $1,225-per-month apartment or the two-bedroom, $1,450-per-month apartment.

Jeffers added that he was told that if he or another family member would subsidize the rent payment obligation of Jeffers’ mother, if required, her application would be accepted. He said that based upon the company’s own calculations, his mother should not be paying more than $762.71-per-month in rent. When asked about it, the company’s response to the Londonderry Times was: “We are a tax credit development. It’s not based on a percentage of your income. We have guidelines and tenant selection policy and we have to follow the state law.” When the project broke ground last year, Smith told the Union Leader that the housing project will add to the town’s tax revenues and the federally subsidized project will provide rents capped under market rates for seniors (62+), earning under 50-60 percent of the median income in the area.

Lewis added, “There was no affordable housing in Londonderry. You should come to the Planning Board meetings and see how people treat me there. Everyone wants affordable housing, just not in his or her neighborhood. The banks don’t want to finance projects on properties with pollution, but the federal government wants these properties to become taxable again, so they encourage these kinds of projects and the use of a brownfield.”

About the process of the projects Lewis said, “We’ve had to get over many problems, including a natural gas line that went under the road, but wasn’t where I was told it was located. We had to redesign the sewer system, because we had to go over the gas line and couldn’t go under it. The switch to force main cost me a lot of money. We had to engineer it, the blast, everything cost money. We used part of North School’s parking lot and we are building it again now, overlaid and everything. It will be new and clean.”

Lewis also emphasized: “Londonderry is protected for 99 years in the agreement and the buildings must stay affordable. The state is checking the books and the site every year to make sure the rent is what the government decided on and that the buildings are well maintained and in good condition. This assures that the promise that was made in 2019 continues, no matter what happens. This is well-run project, documented and reviewed by the federal program. We’ll have a walking trail there. It will be connected to the rail trail system. We make sure we have an innovative design and that all the storm water we produce will remain on site.”

Londonderry's Morgan Torre Crowned Miss Greater Derry

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Morgan Torre, of Londonderry was recently crowned as Miss Greater Derry 2020 and will prepare to compete for Miss New Hampshire in April.

Torre, a 2019 Londonderry High School graduate, is currently a freshman at Suffolk University in Boston, Mass. She competed in Miss Nashua/Auburn, where she placed second runner up and in Miss Londonderry and Miss Manchester, where she was first runner up. Last month she was crowned Miss Greater Derry in front of a packed Opera House on Aug. 24, in an event that was postponed from June.

She beat eight other competitors for the title, and also won the People's Choice award, as well as the Suzanne Knox Talent Award, for her twirling performance. In total, Torre received $2,500 in scholarships from the Miss Greater Derry competition.

"This whole year I'll be doing events to promote my social impact initiative, which is the dangers of texting and driving", she says in an interview. "The whole point of me being Miss Greater Derry is promoting a community service platform and that is the one I chose."

As part of her mission, Torre created a Facebook page called Look Up. The page is dedicated to her platform: "I'm trying to spread the word about texting and driving and I'll be going to local events all year." She was in the police booth at Derryfest last week and explains that her message is "look up, just drive, and stay alive" and that people who wish to help her should just share this message as much as they can and encourage their friends and family to not text and drive.

Torre says she recently developed a large poster, full of statistics about texting and driving and that she hopes to educate the public on how dangerous it really is. "That's my main goal this year", she announces. Another major goal will be, of course, preparing for the Miss New Hampshire competition next spring. She will be competing there with the winner of all the other local events, from all across the state.

The Miss Greater Derry competition started for Torre and the other competitors back stage, with a private interview with a panel of five judges, who ask each competitor questions for 10 minutes. "They ask you about yourself and current issues", explains

Torre. "They want to get to know you and see how educated you are, how good of a person you are and how will you be in this job. It really is like having a part time job, where you are up to community service and you get to do something you really love with it."

Following the private interview, there was a talent show on stage and an extension of the interview, where each competitor is asked an "on stage question" – one question that the judges did not get to ask inside those 10 minutes back stage. Torre was asked what she thinks the penalties should be for a first and second offense of texting and driving and answered she believes the fines should be increased from $100 to $500 for first offense and $1,000 for the second. "Raising these fines will deter people from texting and driving and make our roads safer", she answered to the judges' question.

She then gave a 10-second social impact statement about texting and driving and why it is important. The final part of the competition was a walk in evening wear, before Torre was crowned as Miss Greater Derry 2020. She was very excited on stage and said after winning: "It feels amazing. I've been waiting for this all year. I've worked really hard and did a lot of preparation and it feels like it paid off. It means the world being Miss Greater Derry."

Federal Government Offers Student Loan Forgiveness for Teachers, Nurses

The federal government may forgive all or part of teachers' and nurses' federal student loans if they meet certain requirements. The forgiveness options, according to KHEAA, include:

- Teacher loan forgiveness. To qualify, you must teach at least five full years in a low-income school in an eligible district. Depending on your field, you may have up to $17,500 in student loans forgiven. For complete details, visit www.ed.gov.

- Nursing loan forgiveness. You must be at least a registered nurse and agree to work full time for at least two years in a critical shortage facility. If you fulfill your agreement, 60 percent of your loan balance will be forgiven. Another 25 percent will be forgiven if you work a third year. Nurses teaching at an accredited school of nursing may also qualify. For complete details, visit <https://bhw.hrsa.gov>.

One thing to remember is that the Internal Revenue Service counts the amount forgiven as income. You should talk with a tax professional to understand the impact it may have on your taxes.

KHEAA is a public, non-profit agency established in 1966 to improve students' access to college. It provides information about financial aid and financial literacy at no

Londonderry Gridiron Club Holds Whiteout for Veterans Event

MACK LEATHURBY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry Gridiron Club held a special Whiteout for Veterans event during the Varsity Football team's second home game of the season against Timber-lane, on Friday, Sept. 20. This was the second year in a row for the Whiteout event, and last year the Gridiron Club was able to donate over $3,000 to the American Legion Post 27's Veteran-in-need fund. The fund helps local veterans with different issues, including housing concerns. The club also donated some of last years proceeds to Liberty House, a Manchester-based transition home for veterans who need support. "We hope to do this every year", said Tim Tssetsilas.

T-shirts that were made for the Whiteout event were sold at the school and at the game for $10 each and veterans from both sides, Londonderry and Timberlane, were invited to stand on the field during the playing of the national anthem, prior to the game. That evening the players were joined on the field by about a dozen veterans.

Bobby McEachern, who played quarterback for the Lancers and attended Londonderry High School between 2012 and 2016, was honored with the coin toss prior to kickoff. McEachern serves at the Air Force base in Utah and was home on a leave. He came back home and was able to watch his two brothers, Jake and Dylan, who are both playing as quarterbacks for the Londonderry High School team currently. Their grandfather was one of the veterans on the field before the game.

"It's the first time I've ever seen them play together, it's awesome", told the older McEachern brother to the Londonderry Times before the game. "I'm excited. I appreciate everything they do. I'm not a veteran yet, but I will be one day."

His brother is the Lancers starting quarterback this year, senior Jake McEachern. He said: "It was a great moment, I loved seeing him there on the field again and it's great having him back home."

Lancers Thrash Owls, Set for Astros in Mack Plaque Game

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Just a week before their big game at Pinkerton Academy, against the team that eliminated them from last year's playoffs, Londonderry High School's Varsity Football team continued its perfect start of the season, with no real trouble, by beating the winless Timberlane Owls 56-7 at home on Friday, Sept. 20, and improving to a 3-0 record.

The Lancers had a short week, following their great win over Salem last Saturday, but looked fresh from the get-go, on both sides of the ball. Blaine Hopkins started the game with a quick sack and after the Owls punted, the home team scored the first touchdown of the evening with a 43-yard run by quarterback Jake McEachern, on the fourth offensive play of the game.

Timberlane then shocked the locals, as Cameron Lovett returned the kickoff 85 yards, all the way to the end zone, to tie the game after four minutes of football, but that was also the last time the visitors even came close to scoring, as the Lancers defense locked down Owls quarterback Jared Morrison.

Londonderry retook the lead barely one minute after that Timberlane touchdown, when McEachern found Ale Tsetsilas for a 39-yard touchdown and after Riley Boles made another sack and McEachern converted a fourth down with a pass to Tyler Kayo, Tsetsilas scored for the second time in the opening quarter, this time with a 27-yard run, to bring the score to 21-7.

In the second quarter, with 8:38 remaining before halftime, Cole Keegan made a beautiful catch and scored a 25-yard touchdown and the Lancers kept coming, with Jeffery Wiedenfeld taking the ball in on a 23-yard run. The halftime score was 35-7, with Londonderry scoring touchdowns on each of their five drives down the field.

After the break, the starters got some much needed rest and Dylan McEachern, Jake's brother, took over as quarterback, scoring with a 25-yard pass to Matt Jones and a nine-yard run in the third quarter. The final touchdown of the game belonged to Aiden Washington, with a 24-yard run.

Londonderry had 458 total yards (11.2 yards-per-play), while Timberlane only managed to get to 99. The Lancers had 22 first downs and punted only once in the game. Jake McEachern finished with 4-for-5 for 83 yards and two touchdowns and also ran for 46 yards and one touchdown. Wiedenfeld had another outstanding game, rushing for 132 yards and a score and on defense, Boles led with four solo tackles and a sack.

Lancer Coach Jimmy Lauzon said after the game, "Good home game. Our kids definitely get excited to play in front of their home crowd. I'm happy with the result today and we are on to next week. We have got to continue to play good defense. That has kind of been our Achilles heel in some of the years I've been here. It was clutch at the right times, but I feel that this year are defense is up for the challenge. And offensively, if we keep executing the way we are doing right now, Lancer quarterback Jake McEachern makes a 43-yard touch down run during the teams win over Timberlane on Friday night at home.

we should be in pretty good shape moving forward."

About the upcoming game against Pinkerton said Lauzon, "Derry High School, as we refer to them... We just got to treat it like every other week. The school will do all the hype for us, but our guys need to just stay within themselves and keep doing what they're doing. It's week four and it

Lancer Girls' Soccer Dominates With Three Shutouts

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

It was another week of dominating soccer action for the Londonderry High School's Girls' Varsity team, as the Lady Lancers improved to a 7-0 record after hammering their opponents with 21 unanswered goals in three games. Coming off a big 8-0 victory over Timberlane, Derek Dane's team did not take the foot off the gas pedal last week, when they handily beat the Winnacunnet Warriors (3-3) 6-0 in a home contest on Tuesday, Sept. 17. All six goals were scored before halftime, with Ashley Manor opening the celebrations in the 10th minute, thanks to an assist by Olivia Stowell. Just two minutes later, Manor returned a favor and Stowell scored and in the 20th minute, Manor netted her second, thanks to an assist made by Alyssa Anderson.

Anderson went on to score the fourth, in the 29th minute, with Marissa Hyder getting the assist, Madison LeClair scored in the 33rd minute with Stowell's second assist of the game. Stowell completed another fantastic performance with her second goal of the afternoon, in the 35th minute, with an assist by her sister Mia Stowell. Jasmine Richards also had an outstanding game, making 10 saves for the winning squad.

Just 24 hours later, Londonderry got a 9-0 victory at Spaulding High School (0-7). Mia Stowell scored the first two goals (1st and 14th minutes), Manor had one (18th minute), Kelly Calawa added two more (20th and 39th minute) and Abbie Ellis found the net (38th minute) before the half and again after the break (45th minute). Katie McCudden (56th minute) and Delaney O'Leary (63rd minute) scored the final two goals. Gillian Vilela, LeClair, Calawa and Ellis finished with two assists each and even Richards, who played as goalkeeper in the first half and made one save, had one assist, for the ninth goal. Liana Sawyer made three more saves.

On Friday, Sept. 20, the Lady Lancers got another 6-0 shutout, when the team traveled to Nashua North High School (2-5). Anderson scored in the 17th minute and Olivia Stowell in the 19th, after two Darby Dupuis assists, before Dupuis herself found the back of the net in the 28th minute, Anderson had the assist. Londonderry scored three more goals after the break: Stowell completed a hat trick (44th and 57th minutes) thanks to two assists by Anderson, who scored the final goal in the 66th minute, with Mia Stowell getting the assist. Richards and Liana Sawyer made two saves each.

Londonderry was scheduled for their first big test with a game against other dominant, undefeated team in Division I, Bedford, in a road game on Tuesday, Sept. 24, after the Londonderry Times went to print.

The team then will play Pinkerton Academy (4-2) on Saturday, Sept. 28, for the annual Mack Plaque game, starting at 1 p.m.

Field Hockey Squad Still Perfect With Two Big Tests Ahead

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The perfect start of the season continued last week for Londonderry High School's Varsity Field Hockey team, as coach Nicole Treadway's players got three road victories, to bring their season record to an unblemished 7-0.

The Lady Lancers played in Manchester again Memorial (1-5) on Wednesday, Sept. 18, and took home another road win with a 2-0 victory. Courtney Shay, who had the overtime game winner against Timberlane, continued her fantastic season with the opening goal, at 24:40 in the first half, thanks to a Grace Chicko assist, then doubled her tally at 21:43 of the second half, this time with an assist by Kayla Miles. Riley Walter made eight saves for the winners.

The Londonderry girls went on to play a quite decent Dover team (4-2) on Friday, Sept. 20, and gave up only one goal to get a big 3-1 win. The first 30 minutes of the game in Dover were scoreless for both sides, but after the break, it was Shay with yet another ball to the back of the goal, at 29:04, with Izzy Augusta assisting. Then, with 15 seconds left to play, another by Shay, this time Lauren Doherty assisted. In between, Dover was able to tie the game temporarily, but Doherty scored what proved to be the game winner, with only 4:05 minutes on the clock. Walter made three saves in this game.

On Monday, Sept. 23,

the Lancers traveled to Nashua and played Bishop Guertin (3-2) at Stellos Stadium where the team was once again on the winning side of a close game, getting the 2-1 victory. Shay scored a first half goal at 24:11, with an Assist by Izzy Augusta and Brooke Yarboudy levelled the score less than six minutes later. With only three minutes and 20 seconds left in regulation, Doherty gave Londonderry the dramatic victory, after Chicko found her for the assist. Walter made two saves and Jenna Stowell had a defensive save.

Londonderry was scheduled to play at home against Windham on Wednesday, Sept. 25, before the big showdown at Pinkerton this Saturday, Sept. 28, where the only two Division I teams that remain undefeated will battle to be the best at 11:30 a.m.

Lancer Boys Soccer Squad Gets Road Win and a Home Loss

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School's Boys' Varsity Soccer teams up and down season continued last week, with two extremely close games resulting in a win and a loss. With those two games, it leaves the team's record at 2-3-1.

The Lancers got a one-goal shutout victory on the seacoast against the Winnacunnet Warriors (3-3) on Tuesday, Sept. 17, with Theo Ward scoring the Lancers only goal of the game with a successful penalty kick in the 59th minute.

Goalie Alex Hufford was instrumental in the win with two saves, including knocking back a penalty kick attempt that Winnacunnet received. Lancer head coach Todd Ellis commented after the game, "I thought our effort was much better in the second half, and even got better after Alex saved that penalty kick. Hopefully, this helps to raise our play and become more consistent."

Londonderry then tried get a streak going as they were vying for a second win in a row for the first time this season at home against Nashua North. The two team were knotted in a 1-1 tie at half-time, but then went on to get edged out 3-2.

Anthony Remy opened the scoring for Londonderry early (third minute) off a cross, but the visitors found the equalizer 10 minutes later and scored in the first minute of the second half (41). Two more minutes passed when Tyler Kraft tied it again (Derrick Apholz had the assist), but the Titans managed to get through the Lancer defense to scoring the game winner with only one minute remaining. Hufford made one save for Londonderry.

"North kept a lot of pressure on us at times, keeping us off balance", commented Ellis. "It was hard to gain our footing. Nick Weinmann had a good game defensively, but we need to do a better job of playing team defense and getting numbers behind the ball when we are not in possession."

The Lancer boys were scheduled to play another home game against the undefeated Bedford Bulldogs on Tuesday, Sept. 24, after the Londonderry Times went to print. The LHS squad will be the final Mack Plaque contest on Saturday at Pinkerton Academy against the Astros starting at 2:30 p.m.

Londonderry Girls Volleyball Squad Fall to Owls and Warriors

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Lady Lancer Volleyball team came out of last week with two tough road losses, one to the Timberlane Owls and the other against the Winnacunnet Warriors.

On Wednesday, Sept. 18, the Londonderry girls dropped a hard fought five sets game at Timberlane Regional High School. Londonderry was two sets behind, after the Owls opened the match with 25-23 and 25-17 wins, but LHS came back, winning 25-19 in the third set and 25-23 in the fourth, before losing their momentum and dropping the tie breaker 15-10.

Kelsey Sanborn had 15 service points with 10 aces for the visiting team and Jordan Galluzzo finished with 12 and three. Laura Hass had 11 digs. Galluzzo had seven and led in kills with eight, while Emma Detellis finished with seven. Anna Hass provided 19 assists and Lexi Haas nine. "After being down two sets to none, it was really great to see the team come together and be resilient", said Lancer coach Matthew Leonard. "They were able to fight and claw to get it back to a 2-2 race and they continued to fight until the end of the match. If we compete at this level through the season, we will surprise some teams this year."

Londonderry fell in straight sets to Winnacunnet High School, 25-17, 25-

16, 25-22, on the seacoast in Hampton Friday, Sept. 20. Anna Hass had four service points and four aces, as well as 15 assists. Laura Hass had seven digs, Emma Detellis five and Sanborn finished with 11 kills. "Despite the outcome, this is the best volleyball the team has played all season", thought Leonard. "We continued to get better every match this week. If this continues, we will surprise some teams later in the season."

Londonderry hosted Spaulding (4-2) on Wednesday, Sept. 25, and will play at the Pinkerton Academy Hackler Gymnasium for the annual Mack Plaque contest on Saturday, Sept. 28, at 10 a.m. The Lancers will have a big challenge ahead of them, with Astros having only dropped one set in their 5-0 season.

Teen Arrested for Violation of a Restraining Order

IDAN VINITSKY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

A Londonderry teenager was arrested on Aug. 30 by the Merrimack Police for Violation of a Restraining Order and was initially held with no bail, until his court appearance.

According to a Merrimack Police Department press release, on Aug. 16, officers responded to a report of a possible violation of a protective order and during the investigation found that 18-year-old Dylan Cote of Londonderry violated a protective order issued by the Merrimack District Court.

Police said that Cote sent messages to the protected party on two different occasions. Merrimack Police applied for, and were granted, an arrest warrant for Cote. Two Londonderry Police officers arrested Cote on Charleston Avenue on Aug. 30, at 5:47 p.m. He was then transported to the Merrimack Police Department, where he was processed.

When he appeared in court four days later, on Sept. 3, Cote pleaded "not guilty". Court records show that he was served with an order of protection by the Londonderry Police Department on Aug. 7 and was restrained from being within 300 ft. of the protected party. However, despite the protective order Cote went to the residence of the protected party on Davis

Dylan Cote

Road in Merrimack, on Aug. 15.

While there, he left in the driveway of the protected party, behind her vehicle, a few miscellaneous items, including a photo album and a note stating "here is the rest of your stuff".

The state announced that upon conviction, it intends to seek Class A misdemeanor penalties against Cote. These penalties can include an imprisonment for a period, whether imposed, suspended or deferred, as well as a fine no higher than $1,200 for any single offense, probation and a home confinement for a period.

Cote was released on a $500 bail and was told he shall have no contact, direct or indirect, or through a third party, with the protected party and shall not come within 300 feet of her. He also shall not possess a firearm and shall refrain from any use of alcohol and narcotic drugs (as he is a minor).
