Two days of snow brought nearly two-feet of snow to the area on Monday and Tuesday, closing down area schools and some town services. With only 8-14 inches being predicted, many residents were caught off guard with the snow accumulation. Photo by Chris Paul

School Board Chair Responds to Town Council Comments

NANCY HENDRICKS
SCHOOL BOARD CHAIR

Londonderry is experiencing an unprecedented period of growth and opportunity. New businesses, new developments, higher property values all mean our town is in high demand from those seeking a community to live, work and play.

That demand creates new opportunities for our school district, but it also requires all of us to decide upon a priority list for investments. The demand for Londonderry has also meant a new level of demand for our school district in terms of fluctuating enrollment, and more complex demands upon our programs.

Society Hopes to Preserve History of Chase Road Home

The Londonderry Demolition Delay Committee held a meeting on Nov. 26, with Richard Canuel, Chief Building Inspector, Health Officer, Zoning Administrator & Code Enforcement Officer, in the Town of Londonderry acted as Chair at the meeting.

Also present was Sue Joudrey, a member of the Demolition Delay Committee, Calvin F. Fuller, the applicant, and his son, Ann Chiampa on behalf of the Londonderry Historical Society, Libby Canuel, the ICC Certified Permit Technician from the Town's Building Department, who recorded the meeting, and several other interested persons.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the Residential Building Permit filed on Oct. 18, 2019 by Calvin F. Fuller, of Hudson. The Permit requested the demolition of a home located at 5 Chase Road, in Londonderry, which is currently owned by Fuller. The home on the Chase Road property was built in about the year 1742, according to the Londonderry Assessor's records.

Ann Chiampa, the curator of the Londonderry Historical Society, filed a request for a demolition delay, on behalf of the Londonderry Historical Society, with the Town's Demolition Delay Committee recently. In her letter to Canuel she requested a delay of any action to demolish the historic home located at 5 Chase Road, pursuant to the prior permit request by Fuller.

Members of the committee discussed the matter, and Canuel requested public input or comment, and Chiampa read her letter requesting the demolition delay of the house. She also indicated that this property has much historical significance to Londonderry, relaying that James Anderson, one of the original founders of Nutfield in 1719, settled on his first division of land in what is now East Derry; he then gave his

Conservation Commission Hears Complaint of Gun Range Noise

Londonderry resident Dick Wilson was at the Nov. 13 meeting of the Londonderry Conservation Commission and expressed his concern about issues regarding the Londonderry Fish and Game Club and Londonderry Police Department Gun ranges located near the Musquash Conservation area. Specifically, he was concerned with the amount of noise volumes and durations from these gun ranges that are impacting the Musquash area.

Wilson said, "Let me be very clear, I am not talking about hunters, hunting season or permitted target shooting during hunting season that occurs within the hearing limits of the Musquash. I don't want to be misconstrued on this point. While I am not a hunter myself, I know that hunting is part of the fabric and heritage of American life and that the Musquash was established to be amongst other things, a place where hunters can go and enjoy their sport. The Musquash is many things to many people."

The Musquash Conservation Area was established in 1979 by the Londonderry Conservation

Commission to meet the goals of preserving wildlife habitat, developing recreational opportunities, and establishing an active forest management program.

Musquash is Londonderry's largest conservation holding with an area that includes over 1,500 acres of land. The con-

Board, through a series of workshops and public hearings, present their recommended budgets to the voters of Londonderry. The School Board has taken the approach that the budget presented and recommended is the level of funding necessary to provide the educational programs at the expected high level. We are proud of our schools and we believe residents and taxpayers are also proud. From past years, voters have supported key investments in our schools that demonstrate continued support for educational excellence. We are deeply grateful for this effort.

In an approach different from that of the School District, the Town chooses to level fund the proposed budget, and through a series of recommended articles, allow the voters to choose what additional costs they want included in the general fund budget. This approach although legal, can present complications, especially if the separate article involves public safety.

The Londonderry School District, like every public-school institution, provides educational services to all legal students of the Town. Private schools have the luxury of choosing which students they choose to serve. Factors such as family income, family structure or just how the student "fits" often play into the private school's decision to accept or deny admittance. The State of New Hampshire constitution states that public education is a right of every student in New Hampshire. Finally, recent laws by the State Legislature require in certain circumstances, public education to supplement the cost of student services, further reducing the overall cost and responsibility of Private and Charter schools. Our public schools exist to insure that all of our future citizens have the skills and knowledge to insure the perpetuation of our way of life, and they are structured in a way that reflects the values of our community. We are responsible for creating a learning experience that supports the expectations of the citizens of Londonderry.

One example of a conversation our community is beginning to have is all-day kindergarten... this spring we will bring forward for consideration a proposal for all-day kindergarten, as requested by a number of parents who support this program. The administration has, for a while now, been providing the School Board information as to the value of a full-day program and providing initial costs for the conversion estimated at $800,000 to $900,000. Over the next several months, the administration will continue to update its process, identify studies that address full-day kindergarten programs and ultimately will ask for the support of the School Board to place the initiative on a future warrant for a public vote. No time table has of yet been established for this decision. This initiative will not only add to the annual operating costs of the School District, but it will require a substantial investment in building construction. In effect, if approved, the School District will be doubling the size of this program. As we all know, education, especially for the younger children, is a very labor-intensive process. The public will have plenty of time to weigh in on the value of a full-day kindergarten vs the current half-day and the associated costs. This change will require many discussions among the administrative staff, the School Board and public hearings. Of course, a final vote to support the new initiative and the associated cost items will be part of a School District warrant. We need feedback from taxpayers and voters and will respect the direction they choose. Despite what you hear in some social media forums, your Londonderry School Board has not made any decisions regarding full-day kindergarten.

We believe the relationship between voters and the School District has been a productive and positive one. Over the years of significant declining enrollment, the School District reduced its overall classroom and administrative staff. For several years, the proposed school budget continued to right size the overall staffing levels based on declining enrollment. However, on the flip side, as enrollment begins to climb, the School District may be looking at new proposals to preserve our outstanding quality.

In these conversations and decisions, voters deserve accurate information. This is a process which has worked well for Londonderry for many years, and we value the relationship we have with voters, residents and families.

In that regard, it is critical voters have accurate information. In recent days, there has been information from the Town Council that is inaccurate and simply put, not true. Benjamin Franklin once said, "half the truth is often a great lie". We are concerned about the possible misunderstanding about some key numbers involving our school district, but we will continue to work with our town leaders to ensure everyone has the right information.

For example, not to relitigate an issue that has been discussed numerous times regarding the new SAU office space, but the issue regarding the assumed 500 square foot per office was addressed at a School Board meeting. This is not accurate. In fact, the largest office is 360 square feet and the average sq. footage of office space per person is 188; less than half of the square footage of the SAU is office space.

In addition, all furniture and desks from the former SAU are in use. The District did receive approval to purchase second hand furniture for conference rooms and rooms we didn't have in the previous building. The Superintendent's desk, to which the Town

Chair referred, is personal property of the Superintendent and was not purchased by the School District.

You will recall, leasing this property allows us to solve a significant facilities issue and redirect District attention and resources, which we believe would be better directed at the more pressing needs of our students, such as expanding elementary school facilities to meet rising student enrollment and/or exploring full-day kindergarten for the community. In addition, we surveyed several neighboring communities to see what their tax rates look like going back to 2015 as a way of comparing the percentage of tax rate dedicated to the schools versus town and county in our area. Of the neighboring communities we used, [Bedford, Hudson, Derry, Salem, Merrimack, Windham] the average educational tax rate was 71 percent, 24 percent for Municipal Services and 5 percent for the County share. Voters should be pleased to know we are within the median range for other school districts of our size.

Lastly, the Town Council Chair knows there was never an offer from the Town to reduce School District health insurance premiums by $1,000,000. Both local governments receive their health care plans from public risk pools operating in New Hampshire. Perhaps this was a misunderstanding, but that statement is, again, simply not true. The same holds true regarding the purported two-million-dollar loan to construct a new SAU office. The District has no official documentation of such an offer. The Town Council chair also knows full well that any building project had to be a general office space, as Town funds cannot be used for school purposes. Also, it is important to note that any discussion of such a project came well after the School District had committed to leasing space at 6A Kitty Hawk Landing.

It is my hope, and that of this Board, that our two governing Boards for the community of Londonderry can work together as we both provide a valuable service to the residents of Londonderry. The voters of our community expect nothing less. I applaud the employees of both organizations who remain focused and continue working together for the benefit of the residents of Londonderry.

We look forward to once again, working cooperatively with the Town Council. Your Londonderry School Board recognizes the difficulty in running local government organizations and that whenever the two local Boards work together, all benefit.

Remembering Pearl Harbor

"December 7, 1941, a day which will live in infamy." So began the speech by President Franklin D. Roosevelt the day after the attack on Pearl Harbor. That day thrust the United States into World War II.

Men who had fallen asleep awoke to explosions. Many U.S. sailors would be lost to the clamor and chaos. A total of 2,403 American citizens would be lost on that fateful day.

The numbers tell a morbidly fascinating story of that morning the United States came under attack without warning. Our nation was well aware of the turmoil and horrific events taking place overseas in Europe, but at that time we had our own battles, those of exceptional economic distress, and war was the farthest thing from our minds. However, that day changed all of that. The Greatest Generation mourned a tremendous loss of human life in the days following Pearl Harbor, and they would rally behind President Franklin D. Roosevelt's call to arms without looking back.

Today, there is time to look back with awe at ordinary people becoming extraordinary and to personally thank, if possible, that shrinking number of individuals who were there when everything changed.

In his speech to Congress and the nation on Dec. 8, 1941, President Franklin D. Roosevelt said, "No matter how long it may take us to overcome this premeditated invasion, the American people in their righteous might will win through to absolute victory."

Sadly, the progression of time has dimmed the voices of the men who were on ships, who clamored to battle stations, who cried over lost comrades. Much of today's generation will hear of these events only from sterile textbooks and dry classroom lectures, information that may go in one ear and out the other.

There were more dark moments to come during World War II, even within the United States. Out of fear and prejudice, Japanese-Americans were forced from their homes and put into internment camps. Two wrongs do not and never have made a right, and we would be wise to remember this today.

There is much that divides us today – some of it is of consequence, and some of it is merely the result of too little generational sacrifice, a lack of understanding of what is and is not important.

We should remember this event and inform future generations of this event, not just by moments of prayer and reflection, but also by focusing on being better Americans. We must remember that along with the hardships we have overcome as a nation, we must reflect on our own personal shortcomings.

Freedom is important. We owe our freedom today to the heroes of Pearl Harbor and to the heroes of all the battles that followed. We must remember them and learn and offer these heroes deep thanks for their service.

Clearing Up Misconceptions About the School Board

To the editor,

I find myself, again, in a position to correct information that is circulating around our community about your Londonderry School District that is inaccurate and not true. In a recent meeting, the Town Council Chair made several comments about the Londonderry School District that are simply not true and certainly inaccurate. In an effort to set the record straight, I wanted to address these comments.

1. The Town Council Chair assumes that staff at the SAU office occupy 500 square feet per office. This is not true, in fact, the largest office at the SAU, 6A Kitty Hawk Landing is 360 square feet and the average square footage per person is 188.

2. All furniture and desks from the former SAU office are in use at the current SAU. The District did receive approval to purchase second hand furniture for conference rooms. The Superintendent's desk, to which the Town Council Chair referred, is actually personal property of the Superintendent.

3. The Town Council Chair knows full well that there was never an offer from the Town to reduce the School District health insurance premiums by $1,000,000. Both local governments receive their health care plans from public risk pools operating in NH. Perhaps that was a misunderstanding, but that assertion is again, simply not true.

4. The same holds true regarding the purported two-million dollar loan to construct a new SAU office. The District has no official documentation of such an offer. Again, a statement that is simply not true.

5. We surveyed several neighboring communities to see what their tax rates look like going back to 2015 as a way of comparing the percentage of tax rate dedicated to the schools versus town and county in our area. School Board Problems

To the editor,

I managed to attend the first 30 minutes of the Nov. 26 School Board meeting. Due to my desire to attend the Conservation Commission meeting I left early but intend to view the entire proceedings when they become available online. Nonetheless, a couple of things struck me.

The presentation stated that as part of the one on one teaching approach the Schools would be using Chrome Books for the students and that there was a seven-year amortization plan to spread the cost. Chrome Books are the most widespread type of equipment for this purpose and are an admirable approach.

But if the budget for acquiring these is based on a seven-year cycle it is totally unrealistic. Google operates a six and one half year end of life on Chrome Books. At the end of that time, security updates are no longer available and teachers and IT staff won't be able to use the Google Admin console or other tools to manage the devices. "OK" you, say - so six and half years instead of seven isn't a big deal. WRONG! The six and one half years does not start when you purchase the brand new device. It started when that particular model was first introduced. Many retail establishments sell brand new Chrome Books that were first introduced two or three years ago. I'm sure a budget conscious organization is not going to be able to purchase the latest "just released" model. There are even examples of private purchases of "new" devices that had already reached end of life before the box was even opened.

Any budget that accommodates these devices should be based on a renewal cycle of about three or four years maximum!

The second thing that struck me. Was it really necessary to play "musical chairs" with the presentation. Every two or three minutes a different person took the podium to present a slightly different aspect of the main theme. Surely a single presenter could have been selected. It would have

Marilyn Hoffman Honored with Lifetime Achievement Award

On Nov. 19, The New England Museum Association (NEMA) announced that it recognized Londonderry resident Marilyn Hoffman of Museum Search and Reference with its 2019 Lifetime Achievement Award.

In addition to her steadfast support as a sponsor, Hoffman has been an instrumental part of NEMA for many years, helping the organization transition from a volunteer organization to a professional entity back in the 1970s. She served as treasurer and was intimately involved with hiring NEMA's first executive director and pointing the association down the path that we are following today. Because of her commitment to NEMA and the museum field, she is the 2019 NEMA lifetime achievement award recipient.

"Marilyn Hoffman has been a strong museum field leader for many decades," said NEMA Executive Director Dan Yaeger. "Through her work as a museum curator, museum director, and today an executive search advisor to museums across the country, Marilyn continues to be a driving force and role model."

With a B.A. and M.A. in Art History from Brown University, Hoffman has held curatorial and education positions at the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, and the RISD Museum in Providence. She was also Executive Director of the Fuller Museum in Brockton, Massachusetts, and the Currier Museum of Art in Manchester, New Hampshire. She subsequently founded Museum Search and Reference to help museums recruit and support executive leadership.

Hoffman received the award during a ceremony during the 2019 Annual NEMA Conference in Burlington, Vermont on November 8.

NEMA inspires and connects people engaged with the museum field, provides tools for innovative leadership, and empowers museums to sustain themselves as essential to their communities. For more than 100 years, the New England Museum Association has been the only organization in New England serving museums of all sizes and the dedicated people who work for and with them.

North Londonderry Driving Woes

To the editor,
If you live in the northern part of town then you have undoubtedly experienced the massive influx of cars flooding our once quiet backroads in town. This is especially true for Litchfield, High Range, and Stonehenge roads.

Since the completion of Pettengill Road and everyone using real time GPS, all commuters are looking for the fastest routes to where they need to go and this comes at a cost to once quiet roads in town. Traffic on these roads has increased exponentially and the town has done nothing to counteract it.

I have gone to the traffic committee meetings and brought up ideas to deflect traffic back to the state funded routes to no avail.

I've also recommended putting speed bumps on Harvey Road or even a gatehouse where the industrial portion meets the residential portion (I've seen this done in other towns) only to hear them say it's against town policy for safety reasons?

This is a safety issue! These commuters are in a rush to get to where they are going, so they are speeding down our roads and I've even seen people just blow past school buses on Litchfield Road while the bus was stopped.

Town policies should change as the needs for safety change in your town and last time I checked we have three fire stations in town to cover these safety concerns. Also making a no left turn from Route 28 to Stonehenge Road would help tremendously.

The traffic committee responds by saying we have signs!

Signs? No one pays attention to signs anymore, everyone is paying attention to where their phone is telling them to go and the only way to combat that is with physical barriers.

The only thing Pettengill has done for Londonderry is create a nice cut through for commuters from surrounding towns to get to the high way, and in my opinion we should be doing everything we can to keep commuting traffic on state funded routes in this town and not flooding our once quiet backroads. This town is losing (if not already lost) its charm and appeal. One thing for sure, if one of the members of the traffic committee lived in this part of town, then something would be getting done, but they don't, so they just brush it off and wait for the complaints to die off. Ultimately, we are finding out that no matter what committee or board in town we are going to with our concerns, they just don't care.

Email the town and it's committees or Email our representative Sharon Carson at Sharon.Carson@leg.state.nh.us.

“Christmas in the Kings” Light-O-Rama Show Continues

MACK LEATHURBY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

It's that time of year for everyone in the Londonderry area to check out the 4th annual “Christmas in the Kings” Light-O-Rama show. Drive on over to 3 King Edwards Drive in Londonderry and you will experience a fun, cutting edge Christmas light and sound show — the show itself is a bit like being at a mini Disney World multimedia event that sets up a remarkable story show complete with music, sounds, lights and images — and rotates a list of seasonal stories and Christmas music programs.

Families with kids will want to mark their calendars for Sunday December 15 from 4:30 to 6:30 PM to come to see the show and to hang out for the “Christmas Gathering with Santa” that is a meet and greet event hosted by those Christmas in the Kings folks — the Sevin family. Santa himself will be there to listen and talk with the kids and share his Christmas spirit. Brenden and Kelly Sevin will also be there with a special celebration and spirit to wish you a Merry Christmas, Happy Holidays and a Happy New Year.

This home lighting and multimedia display is becoming a tradition and must see event here in Londonderry. Shows start at darkness and play every night during the holiday season from about 4:30 PM until 10:00 PM (and sometimes later). With the variety of multimedia story selections set up, there is good reason to drive by on multiple occasions.

At first visit, you may think the lighting display is bit subdued depending on the story you come to — that is, until you tune in your car's radio receiver and let the magical, multimedia animations entice you into a Christmas spirit of song and story. When I first pulled my car up to this Christmas display, I did not understand why the lights were randomly flashing and turning off at times to complete darkness. However, once I tuned into the program broadcast on my car radio, I discovered a wonderful show programmed with music synopated to different animation sequences. The musical theatre display is built with famous songs from the TransSiberian Orchestra, Michael Buble', the Hawaiian Xmas song — Mele Kalikimaka along with other famous Rock n' Roll and classic Christmas tunes.

I was a little taken back on my first visit to see and hear a unique story based on 2 front-yard trees bantering about to check to see who was plugged in properly — it was indeed an interesting sight gag with sounds, voices and music that were fun to experience. The key to the magic is to tune your radio in to the FM 88.1 channel when you get to 3 King Edwards Drive. There is a sign out front near the driveway to explain to turn on your car radio to this channel magic. It is quite the undertaking for Brenden to program the software, connect the technology hardware, wire and attach all the lighting strands, and then hook everything together to mix his custom show. Brenden starts the effort in early fall, though he is actually involve with some aspects of the production all year round, so he can turn the shows on by Black Friday after Thanksgiving.

The show is developed from a technology called Light-O-Rama with the idea that show producers can custom control the lights, music, animations and special effects of the system. The lights are programmed via a dedicated computer Brendon uses to orchestrate different events. By the way, not to worry, the Sevin's neighbors are not bothered by the drive byes, attention and they fully support the show.

The Sevin family produces this Christmas celebration to entertain people and promote Holiday spirit in our community. Brenden says, “The idea is to have fun and bring people back to a mindset of being a child — experiencing the joy of Christmas. Kelly says they do it “... because it makes us happy to see the joy in the eyes of the kids that experience the show

The Sevin's support “Make a Wish NH” and over the past several years, they have raised multiple thousands of dollars from those who took in the show and dropped money into the Make a Wish bucket near their driveway/street curb.

“Christmas at the Kings” is located on King Edward Drive in the area of streets named, King Richard, King Charles, King Phillip, King John, King Henry and more. Some people I met when I was there checking out the show, told me they went to see this display a couple of years ago and say their kids beg them to see this show display again this year.

servation area supports an extensive marked trail system, including 20+ miles of managed trails. Musquash trails are supervised by the Londonderry Conservation Commission and maintained by Londonderry Trailways and commission volunteers during seasonal workdays.

"Some of you may know that I used to spend a lot of time hiking the Musquash," stated Wilson, "as I was identifying and photographing area plant species. Years ago the sounds of shooting was not an issue. Now, however, if you wish to enjoy a quiet and serene hike around the many inviting trails in the area, you have to be very lucky on your choice of time and day. Over the years, the duration and volumes of gunfire has increased dramatically. What I'm asking you tonight is for an open discussion of your personal feelings about this issue. I would also appreciate if you would write down considerate thoughts on this questionnaire that I am providing here for you."

Wilson passed out a questionnaire about the noise to each commission member.

Conservation Commission Chairperson Marge Badois pointed out, "I live near the area, and so I am well aware of the gun fire that goes on. Sometimes it bugs me and sometimes it doesn't, but the ranges were there before I was, so..."

Several commission members discussed the noise level – saying that they had gotten used to it and one member referred to this gun range noise as the background music. It was discussed that at times the noise was continuous and constant. It was also noted that the Fish and Game Gun Range has been expanded over recent years and perhaps that expansion has resulted in more noise and might be a contributing factor to the issue.

Wilson pointed out that the Fish and Game Gun Range club's hours are seven days a week, 365 days a year, and from 8 a.m. until one-half hour after sunset. The police range is open ended for its scheduled hours, depending on whether they are qualifying and holding training activities. The police department also has some range sessions during evenings.

Wilson said, "My concern is that the noise is very loud and has negative impact on the Musquash area which is a jewel of a property that this town has, and it is not just background noise to me, as the noise is annoying."

Wilson says that the noise impacts him as he hikes on the trails and pointed out that other folks he has met in the area have also expressed concerns about the noise.

As the commission further discussed the situation they all agreed how lucky the community is to have the Musquash area, but there is not likely any thing that the commission can do about the hours of the Fish and Game range and the inherent noise of the ranges.

Wilson also pointed out that there are no noise ordinances that are relative to outdoor gun ranges and that outdoor ranges, according to the New Hampshire law, cannot be held civilly or criminally liable for noise issues.

Wilson also expressed that the noise has been increasing over time in terms of volume and the duration and that one of the factors of this increase may be that some of the gun range targets set off minor explosions when they are hit to indicate target status.

Wilson wrapped up his discussion saying that the Musquash is a prize for the town and that the gun range noise is now an issue and is likely to grow over time.

Scout Looks to Give Back to CHaD

As of this past July, Londonderry's Christopher Merheb can claim being cancer free. He was diagnosed as having cancer in 2017, when at the age of 12, he found out he had periosteal osteosarcoma which is a rare bone tumor. Since then, he has had two surgeries on his head to remove the tumor. Merheb is a Life Scout with Boy Scout Troop 109 in Londonderry and decided to use his Eagle Project to give back to CHaD where he had his surgeries. Merheb is running a toy drive for CHaD and began his fundraising with a coffee corner at Woo Kickboxing in Londonderry. He is currently hoping to gather items for the drive at Woo Kickboxing at the Crossroads Mall in Londonderry. Recommended items are: Crayola washable markers; Crayola washable window markers; Etch-a-sketch; Glue [colored, classic, glitter]; I spy / look and find it books; Noise/sound books; OPI brand nail polish; Playing cards; Scratch art; String art kits; Sunglasses; Touch and feel books; Velvet coloring posters (small 8x11"); Monetary donations will be collected at the front desk.

Robotics Teams Compete at State Qualifier at Middle School

MACK LEATHURBY
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Robotics team recently hosted the 2019 Londonderry FLL (FIRST Lego League) Qualifier, at the Londonderry Middle School. FIRST partners with Lego company and there are specific rules on what the kids can or cannot use and there is a 10-kid maximum per team.

Middle school teams from all over Southern New Hampshire participated, with Convergent Rays, of Manchester, winning the robot performance competition. Londonderry Middle School's eighth grade team Pasta placed third overall, while the sixth graders team (Roboot) finished fifth and the seventh graders team (Toxic 9) was seventh overall.

Mike Pettengill Jr., the Tournament Director, told the Londonderry Times: "FIRST Lego League is geared towards late elementary and middle school kids. The cool thing about FIRST Robotics in general is that it is really about teaching the kids to solve problems and work together, with other teams, and not only with their team. In other competition, they are trying to obliterate the other robot, but here everybody is working together to solve a common goal. They are competing individually, but not trying to destroy the other robots."

There were 17 teams attended the Londonderry competition and seven of them advanced to the State Championship.

second division of land in what is now the southern portion of Londonderry to his son, Samuel.

Chiampa further stated, "Seven generations of the Anderson family have owned this property. William Gillette, the son of Frances (Anderson) Gillette, was the last family member to inhabit the house on 5 Chase Rd." Gillette died at the age of 90 in 2009 and Fuller eventually acquired the house in 2010.

Canuel indicated that a continuation of the discussion regarding the demolition of this historic home was needed. A motion was made and voted on by Canuel and Joudrey to have all parties meet and discuss any available preservation options that might be taken, or as a last resort, to photographically document the building for the Londonderry Historical Society's records. As of press time, Canuel has set no date for any continued discussion.

However, Chiampa has said that she will be meeting with the staff of the NH Preservation Alliance this week concerning this matter.

Other awards were the Judge's Award (went to North Salem Panthers), the Core Values award (won by Steam Squad of Pelham), the Robot Design award (won by Hawbots Yellow of Hooksett) and the Project award (won by Deb Walls FLL, also of Hooksett). Pettengill said that around 300,000 kids, from over 100 different countries in the world, are competing in this year's FIRST Lego League. FIRST stands for "For Inspiration and Recognition of Science and Technology."

For Pettengill, who is also coaching the high school's FIRST Robotics team, this was the sixth year as the FIRST Lego League Qualifiers Tournament Director in Londonderry. "Our high school team hosts this event for the younger kids and they can do the Lego robots. The kids build a robot and complete challenges on the field, moving pieces, climbing a ramp, things like that. The teams also have a project where they identify a building in the community and come up with a solution for improvement on that."

Pettengill added: "FIRST is great for kids of all disciplines, not just for kids who are good at building stuff or programming. There is art work to do for posters, essays to write, presentations to prepare for, fundraising. Any student can find a place to excel and the transformation that kids go throughout the program is amazing. They can look at a problem and instead of seeing a problem, it's a challenge, and they can solve it."

There are three Londonderry Middle School teams and they are sponsored by the Londonderry High School Robotics team. The team's Head Coach is Kenny Kuntley, who says: "We've been working with the kids since they've started school in September. We are meeting a couple times a week, working on the robot and the project, helping them understand programming and basic robot construction techniques. Today we even learned how to repair a robot that smashes on the floor. It happens, but that's the real world."

The high school team members are assistant mentors to the middle school kids. They attend the middle school teams meetings, help and practice judging and scoring. "We have a couple of kids at the high school team that have gone through the middle school team two years ago and a few in eighth grade now, who have been very promising and have been very interested in joining when they hit high school", adds Kutney. "That's one of our goals. To help get kids familiar and comfortable with robotics and FIRST before they even get to high school."

Annual Great Candy Cane Hunt at YMCA Set for Dec. 13

LISA D'AMBROSIO
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Come help kick off the holiday season on Friday night, Dec. 13, during the second annual Great Candy Cane Hunt being held at the YMCA of Greater Londonderry from 6 - 8 p.m.

The festivities will start by decorating your very own candy cane sack with a variety of arts and crafts provided by the YMCA staff. Your very own personalized bag will come in handy throughout the hunt to hold the candy canes you seek and find.

The Londonderry Times is donating some Cosplay characters that will be on hand, dressed as a princess and super heroes to get pictures taken, and Mack Leathurby one of our reporters will be reading the Polar Express as well.

Stop at the writing station to jot Santa Claus a letter and the YMCA staff will make sure it gets sent directly to the North Pole. You are invited to sip complimentary hot chocolate while warming up next to the crackling bonfire that will be roaring in the fire pit. Santa Claus himself will make a guest appearance just in time for holiday pictures and to hear what is on the top on your list. There will be even more fun holiday activities to explore at this event.

Then it's time to grab your flashlights and head out into the YMCA's backfield and search for thousands of hidden candy canes.

The participants will be divided into four different age groups. Starting with the 2 - 4 years olds, then 5 - 8 year olds, followed by the 9 - 12 year olds and finally giving the 13 and over participants a chance to hunt for candy canes. Each age group will have a set designated time to hunt. "This will be the YMCA of Greater Londonderry's second Great Candy Cane hunt. Last year about 250 participants came and we had a blast," said Lisa Fitzgerald, Executive Director at the YMCA. "So far over 1000 community members showed interest in joining us this year through our facebook page!" added Lisa, "We are so excited and there will be thousands of candy canes to be found."

The YMCA is always looking for business sponsors for this event to make it even better, along with donations of lights, prizes and decorations to enhance the activity if you want to be a part of this fun event please contact Gabby Brickley gbrickley@graniteymca.org at the YMCA directly.

The event is hosted by the YMCA staff and funded by local businesses sponsors. There is an admission donation of $5.00 per child to join the fun. Pre-registration is strongly encouraged for a faster check-in process; less time waiting to get in and more time having holiday cheer. All of the proceeds from this event will go to support the YMCA Reach Out for Youth and Families campaign. Reach Out for Youth and Families provides opportunities for individuals and families in surrounding Londonderry communities who are in need of financial assistance to participate in all programs offered by the YMCA. The YMCA of Greater Londonderry nurtures the potential of children and teens, improves the health and well being of the community, and gives back and supports neighborhoods. The YMCA builds healthy spirits, minds and bodies in individuals and families by instilling the values of caring, honesty, respect and responsibility through practices and programs.

Here are a few reminders before heading to the hunt.

Pre-register. Don't forget to bring a flashlight. Dress warm for outdoor activities and be ready to get your hunt on!

To register for the Great Candy Cane Hunt, you can stop by the Welcome Center at the YMCA or register on line at ymca-granite.sgasoftware.com

For more information please visit graniteymca.org or view the Great Candy Cane Hunt's facebook page. Also don't hesitate to contact Lisa Fitzgerald, Executive Director at 603-437-9622. Five Lancers Girls Featured in Letter of Intent Ceremony

LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Athletic Department held a National Letter of Intent Signing Ceremony on Wednesday, Nov. 20 and welcomed fellow students and family members to celebrate the five girls' achievements.

Senior Lancer soccer standout Olivia Stowell had a fantastic senior year, she capped off the season by being named the only female All-American soccer player in the Granite State, making new LHS soccer records and now she gets to continue her athletic career and will be taking her talents to Wake Forest University. "I'm really excited, all the hard work finally paid off so I'm excited for the next four years." Said Lancer senior Olivia Stowell. Wake Forest spotted her at a showcase and Stowell took advantage and decided to hear them out. "I went to go see the campus because I was looking at my options, so why not. It's a great school, great conference so I decided to go look at it, and it blew me away. It's a beautiful campus, great athletics and I just loved it all around."

Another LHS senior furthering her athletics is soccer player Darby Dupuis, and she will be attending the University of Maine next fall. The thing that grabbed her attention instantly from the school was the coaching staff. "I love the coaches and the team was just so inviting, and the whole entire school environment itself was just great and I couldn't see myself anywhere else." Said senior Darby Dupuis. The thing she is most looking forward to is being able to get on the field with her new squad. "Getting to play with the coaching staff that's there, they're so inspirational I'm just excited to meet them." Dupuis went on to say.

Gwen Barnes, another LHS soccer senior, is taking her talents to the collegiate level at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. Picking RPI was an easy decision for Barnes, because she'll feel right at home and gets to reunite on the field with someone she's known for life. "My sister actually goes to RPI and she's a sophomore playing soccer for them," Barnes said. "Kind of exciting we played together at high school, but she tore her ACL senior year, so we only got one year together." Barnes hasn't had any reactions or feelings yet about becoming a college athlete, but soon enough she thinks it'll hit her. "It's exciting, but it hasn't really hit me I don't think it

The fourth soccer athlete at the signing is staying in the Granite State for another four years. Senior star scorer Alyssa Anderson chose Southern New Hampshire University to be her new school. Anderson has a job at SNHU and it just felt right to her to attend school and play soccer there. "It just feels so normal to be there, and as soon as I went on campus and started hanging out with the team it immediately felt right. So right from the first second I got there it felt right to be there," said Alyssa Anderson. She also mentioned that for the longest time she was deciding on whether to play Division 1 or Division 2 soccer and which one would give her the best opportunity. "In the end what I want to do is play soccer and I figured Division II I'll play a lot". Anderson is carrying that chip on her shoulder and plans to accomplish what she couldn't during her time at LHS for the Penmen. "I am most excited to hopefully win a championship with them, kind of close this year and in Londonderry we've been through not winning a lot so hopefully I can do it there." Anderson went on to say.

Moving away from soccer, senior lacrosse and field hockey player Grace Chicko is taking her talents to Assumption College and will become a Greyhound. Becoming a college athlete isn't as exciting to Chicko because it runs in her family's blood. Her family has a long past of college athletics and that's why she doesn't feel that burst excitement. "I was going through it for a while and my family is very athletic dominant like both my uncles played in college, they played football." Said Grace Chicko. "It's always been a part of my family, so for me to do it was kind of natural for me."

Hundreds Celebrate Thanksgiving at 46th Annual Turkey Trot

MATT TRITTO
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The weather conditions cooperated this year on Thanksgiving morning for the Greater Derry Track Club's 46th annual Turkey Trot, compared to last year's brutally cold one.

This year well over 900 runners from all around the granite state and beyond showed up to Gallien's Beach in Derry and run in what has become a long-standing Thanksgiving tradition.

A young Derry resident took home the top finisher title along with a nice turkey. Luke Brennan, 15, finished first out of 977 runners with a time of 16:43. The other top two male contenders on Thanksgiving morning were Zachary Aham, 18 out of Nottingham with a running time of 17 minutes on the dot, and third place finisher was Issac Wheeler, 52, from Dublin with a time of 17:32.

The top three female finishers weren't too far behind the male winners with their times. First in the division was Amanda Richmond, 42, from Newmarket. She finished with a time of 18:30 with a mile pace of 5:58. Julia Huffman, 34, of Manchester finished second with a final time of 18:49. The third-place finisher was Cayla Pellegrini, 27, from Derry and finished the race in 19:09.

The top five male Londonderry runners put together some impressive times. Joshua Wasserman, 21, finished first out of the males with a time of 17:57. The second Londonderry runner was Mark Ambrose, 37, and his running time was 18:56 and falling in behind him was Benjamin Palumbo, 18, and his time of 19:39 gave him the third fastest time. Fourth place went to Carl Rennie, 32, with a time of 20:05, and Matt Galluzzo took the fifth Londonderry spot with a finishing time of 20:47 seconds.

The five fastest Londonderry females all finished around the same time in the race. The fastest female was Caitlin Boufford, 17, who finished the race in 22:08. The second fastest runner was youngster Meara Horan, 12, and she finished with a time of 24:21, and Erica Harlow, 35, finished right after with a time of 24:28. Emily Smith, 14, finished fourth best with a time of 24:38 and the fifth fastest runner went to Carrie Nagel, 43, and she finished the race in 25:18.

Race Director Sean Coyle has been coordinating this event for the past nine years and loves to see people coming back each year. "We see a lot of the same faces, it's a family tradition for most people, so when I look at the registration list or when I see them coming in to get their stuff its always the same group," said

Race Director Sean Coyle. He feels honored to have runners from different towns come participate in his event. "It's awesome cause there's a turkey trot in almost every town, so for us since we're the oldest one in New Hampshire and one of the bigger ones it's kind of great that they come from all over. People will move away and still come back because Thanksgiving is a family holiday," Coyle went on to say. The one thing Coyle loves the most is all the work that pays off for everyone. "I like the whole race day itself, all the work it makes it worth wild once you see all the people coming across the line and you know like wow, we did a good job." Coyle added.

Lancer Boys Basketball Get Set to Start New DI Season

MATT TRITTO
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Lancers are ready to see what their team will look like for the Division I 2019-20 boys basketball season. Tryouts were set for Monday, Dec. 9, but were rescheduled due to the snow canceling school on Monday and Tuesday. They were scheduled to end on Wednesday, Dec. 11, but that date will most likely change also. The LHS athletes will only have a small window of opportunity to showcase their talents and impress the coaching staff.

Last year, the Lancers went 16-5 last year, and made it all the way to the University of New Hampshire's basketball arena for the Division I Semi-finals, but took a 62-51 loss to the undefeated Exeter Blue Hawks.

Head coach of the boys' varsity team Nathan Stanton is eager for the season to start. He is expecting athletes to come in mid-season form and ready to compete. "Players to come in shape and ready to work, I expect a competitive atmosphere as players are working to earn a position," said Boys' Varsity Head Coach Nathan Stanton.

Other than skill Coach Stanton is really looking for coachable players with great attitudes. "I'm looking for the chemistry and unselfishness among the players. Who is willing to compete and work while also holding each other accountable and working together to accomplish something great." Stanton continued. He also added that some big focus points are "Coachability and teamwork."

Coach is very excited to get on the court with his new squad. "I'm excited to get started, I feel the players are too. Getting them in the gym and just focusing on getting better everyday and preparing for success is what I am most excited for at the moment." Stanton went on to say. He is hungry to get another chance at the championship title as they came up just short last year. "The players got a taste of UNH (University of New Hampshire) last season by making it to the Semi-finals. I know they are hungry to get back there again, but this time not to come home empty handed." All he can do now is take things slow and focus on getting his team better. "It will be another fun and exciting season, but our focus is one day at a time and planning for Windham on Dec. 20th." Coach Stanton finished up saying.

Senior multisport athlete Cole Keegan is expected to be a major scoring treat this season.

Londonderry Grad Ryan Griffin Re-Signs with New York Jets

LONDONDERRY TIMES

The former Lancer football player, and tight-end for the Houston Texans, Ryan Griffin, started this season as a New York Jet, and his play recently resulted in a new contract with that team.

On Nov. 23 he signed a three-year extension that could earn him a total of 10.8 million dollars. Along with that he is guaranteed four million dollars.

The 29-year-old, from Londonderry, went to the University of Connecticut and was drafted in the sixth round of the 2013 NFL draft by the Houston Texans. In his six years with the Texans, he playing as a tight-end wearing number 84, and had a total of 136 receptions, 1,491 receiving yards, and seven touchdowns. He was released at the end of the season last year.

Griffin was then picked up for the 2019-20 NFL season by the New York Jets as a tight-end wearing the same number 84. This year he has 28 receptions, 282 receiving yards, and five touchdowns through 11 weeks.

During Griffin's most recent game against the Oakland Raiders, on Nov. 24, he had three receptions, 13 receiving yards, and one touchdown. His best game so far this season was back on Oct. 27 against the Jacksonville Jaguars. In that game Griffin caught four passes for a total of 66 yards and reached the end-zone twice, but unfortunately it wasn't enough as they loss that game 29-15. In his most recent game on Sunday, Dec. 1, he had five receptions and a total of 30 yards in a 22-6 loss against the Cincinnati Bengals.

LHS Girls Indoor Track Can't Wait to Get on the Track

The season is right around the corner for Girls Indoor Track and the Lady Lancers are ready to roll. Varsity Head Coach Suzanne Johnson couldn't be more excited to start the 2019-20 season. "We're excited to be excited, looking at the roster of athletes who could be returning to us and finding out who our "newbies" will be, gets the coaches enthusiastic about the possibilities to come," said Head Coach Johnson. Johnson and her coaching staff are looking for athletes who are ready to work hard and represent the team proudly. "If individuals are willing to meet our expectations in terms of commitment and are willing to be positive contributors, we are psyched and privileged to have them aboard," Johnson added.

With practices beginning, Johnson's squad is starting to focus on their season goals with the main goal consisting of them taking home the Division One championship. "Our primary goal this season is to build up individual and team presence in the regular season meets and the D1 Championships that has been wanting the past couple years," said Coach Johnson. Coach sees a lot of promise this season after what she witnessed last season from her team. "Last year we saw a lot of improvement and hope to continue along that path. So far, all the signs point to that happening." She knows that her team will do well once they have a full picture. "Once we start practicing and are surer of who we have, we will have a much better idea of how to approach that goal and get our individual athletes and our team back into the limelight," coach Johnson went on to say.

The team's first meet is scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 14 at the University of New Hampshire.

Londonderry Girls Cross Country Reflects on Past Season

LONDONDERRY TIMES

Head Coach Amy Sanborn of the LHS Varsity Girls Cross Country team looked back at their recent season. It was a good year for the squad as they finished up 7th in Division 1 qualifying for the Meet of Champions. Coach Sanborn's initial thoughts were of how well her girls did. Senior Caitlin Bouffard, sophomore Grace McDonough, sophomore Cailey McDonough, sophomore Adriana Nadeau, senior Cailin Borovicka, senior Jazzy Brown, and freshman Emi Smith was her varsity squad, and all had strong seasons according to her.

The thing Sanborn liked most about her team was how hard they worked all season. "Really great group of girls, all worked hard and wanted to improve." Said Head Coach Amy Sanborn. Other than being hard workers they were more focused on working and winning as a team. Sanborn said they were "dedicated and committed to each other" all season long.

Sanborn was really impressed with senior runner Caitlin Boufford. "She had a great season individually qualifying for the New England, set personal bests throughout the season." Coach Sanborn continued to say. Boufford is hoping to run in college but isn't sure of where yet. Other than just Boufford shining the rest of the seniors were in the spotlight as well. "All five seniors had good strong seasons and were great leaders in the classroom and on the cross-country course." Sanborn went on to say. Coach was asked what she thought of her team and she responded with "a great group of girls."

Building the Future

Recently the Londonderry Girls Basketball Booster Club hosted its Annual Lady Lancer Fall Basketball Clinic. According to the coach, the clinic is a great way for the returning players and coaches to teach skills and drills to future athletes from grade two thru eighth. The varsity and junior varsity players demonstrate good sportsmanship, teamwork and how to be supportive on and off the court while having fun.

Seven Londonderry Soccer Players Earn All-State Honors

Olivia Stowell

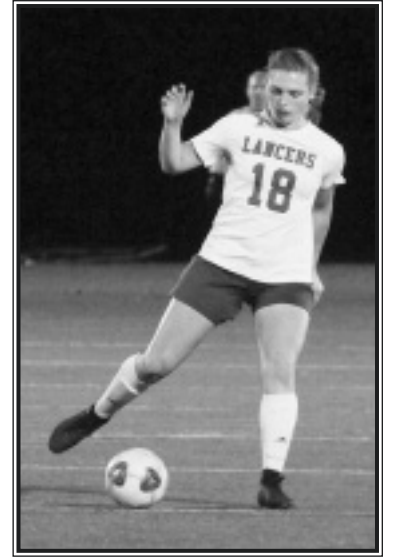

Alyssa Anderson

Gwen Barnes

Darby Dupuis

Lea Baum

LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Lancers varsity soccer program had a season full of great plays and even greater players, and seven of those were awarded all-state recognition for their efforts.

The Lady Lancer four-year varsity soccer player Olivia Stowell headlines six players that were elected. Stowell made All-American as a forward. She was an absolute force on the field causing issues for each team she faced. “The player that ever opponent keys on, has a change of speed and direction that is unmatched in the state,” said girls’ varsity Head Coach Derek Dane. She made it clear that she deserved this title by showcasing her skills all throughout the season. “Crazy speed with technical ability, natural scorer and also does the work to create a scoring opportunity for a teammate,” Dane continued. She is a player that progresses each season by going from All-New England last year to All-American this year. Stowell tallied a total of 26 goals and 15 assists this season. She will continue her athletic career at Wake Forest University in the fall.

Another player selected is senior forward Alyssa

Anderson. Coach Dane says she is the other half of the “Dynamic Duo” along with Stowell. Anderson was selected to first to first team at the forward position while having a total of 16 goals and 14 assists. “Natural goal scorer, strikes the ball with venom with either foot and loves to take players on one on one,” Danes added. Anderson will be heading to Southern New Hampshire University and use her talents on their soccer team.

Gwen Barnes also made the cut as first team selection as a midfielder. As Danes put it; “the heart and soul of the team.” Barnes is also a four-year varsity player and improved her game each season, she can prove this since she was moved to midfielder this year after playing the previous two seasons as a defender. “Very high scorer IQ, battles hard for every ball and plays intelligent balls to maintain possession or attack.” Danes went on to say. Barnes will be playing college soccer for Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Another first team selection was senior Lea Baum, who was elected as a defender. Baum was a significant problem for all the other schools and loved to compete. “Big strong central defender with a deft touch. Great mix of finesse and force.” Baum is a player who loves the pressure situations and always came in the clutch for her lancers. “Scored key free-kick goals in back-to-back games vs. Pinkerton and Bedford.” Said Coach Danes. Baum will take the field in the fall for the Penmen of Southern New Hampshire University.

Senior Jasmine Richard received Honorable Mention as a goalkeeper. Richard allowed her team to perform well without the pressure of trailing other teams during games. “Made critical saves early in each game that allowed the team to settle down and play.” Dane continued. Richard averaged 4.5 saves per game and recorded an impressive 11 shutouts in 19 games. She will hope to continue her dominance next season.

Last but not least senior forward Darby Dupuis was awarded second team. She converted from central mid to central forward her junior year and contributed to her team greatly. Coach Danes called her a “workhorse up front” and she wasn’t afraid to challenge herself. “Not afraid to take players on, holds the ball well and distributes while taking a beating,” said Danes. Dupuis finished her final season as a lancer with a total of five goals and eight assists. She will be heading up to Maine and will play soccer for the University of Maine.

In boys’ varsity soccer, defender Nick Weinmann earned Honorable Mention for his performance this season. His play help bring his Lancers team to a 6-7-4 record and a trip to the NHIAA Prelims.

READERS ARE CAUTIONED that we occasionally run ads that require an initial investment or money in advance. We urge our readers to “do their homework” before responding to any ad, check out the advertiser thoroughly and verify their claims to your total satisfaction. Only then should you proceed at your own risk. We try to screen ads that require you to send money before receiving a product or service. But these efforts are no substitute for your own investigation, and we don't endorse or guarantee any claims made in any of the ads we publish. If you want more information about claims made in ads on subjects such as work at home opportunities, travel or vacation specials, purchasing land or vehicles from government surplus or below wholesale, loans or other credit opportunities (including credit repair), or weight loss and other health products and services, we urge you to contact the Office of Attorney General, Consumer Protection Bureau, 33 Capitol Street, Concord, NH 03301 (603-271-3641) or the Better Business Bureau at 603-224-1991.
