lith State Mask Mandate

uring the Town Council meeting held on Monday evening, April 19, members of the board were asked by Chairman John Farrell about their feelings on lifting the mask requirement in town facilities.

With the Governor's order to lift the state mandate on wearing masks, Farrell said he has received a number of emails over the weekend, and wondered how the council wanted to proceed with the requirement.

He remind his fellow members that there is no mandate in town, but tion last year with guidance and recommendations.

He added that the only place where masks are mandated are at the Town Hall and he felt the board should hold off removing that order.

Farrell also told the members that he had seen the the LAFA (Londonderry Athletic Field Association) complex has instituted a mask mandate on the baseball and softball fields.

The LYSA (Londonderry Youth Soccer Association) has followed suit and done the same with the soccer fields.

He also mentioned they had issued a resolu- that any enforcement of these policies has to be done by the leagues that are instituting them.

Because they are league rules and not town rules the Londonderry Police cannot enforce them. It is up to the leagues.

Farrell finished by saying that he received a letter from staff requesting the council to hold off on dropping the mask requirement at Town Hall.

Town Councilor Tom Dolan suggested that according to what he has seen from the state, the mask requirement is no longer needed.

Administrative official ex-officio Bruce Hallowell introduced the topic during the board's April 14 meeting. He views the matter as having heightened importance with concern over water pollution and local wells being affected.

developers who want to Town Council ex-officio Deb Paul favors the idea but offered this caution. The town is not the reseller of water similar to the sewer system. Any steps taken should be in consultation with legal counsel, she said.

"We're now encouraging developers to tie in to Pennichuck so we would be...paying or growing a company as opposed to the town." The corporation can also continue to raise rates for residents.

The town may have to think of ordinances differently to help protect groundwater, Paul added. But she would still be concerned about promoting a corporation providing a service the town does not earn revenue from.

"We're now saying here take all this money from our taxpayers," she said.

This proposal could be tied to the town's water management plan with different rules and regulations on protection of well water.

An alternative could could be sold. be the town reclaiming its water rights and creating a water department much like the sewer department.

Board member Al Sypek urged colleagues to understand a water company is a multi-regulated utility and comes under the purview and control of the Public Utilities Commission. Past developers have paid to supply water, he said.

A developer's plan for water lines must receive PUC approval. "If they don't consider it financially feasible they will not approve it," Sypek said.

At the same time Londonderry can't really develop its own water company because the town doesn't access to water somewhere, member Roger Fillio pointed out.

If the town makes a profit, Pennichuck will also do so and those buying the water will be paying twice, he said. The town could make some money in having its own water department. But making more would come from having a local water source that

Paul responded the water service wouldn't be going through two entities. Rather, Londonderry would be making a deal with Pennichuck to purchase the company's infrastructure already in place and then renegotiating with the PUC for a town return of water Pennichuck buys its water from Manchester Water Works, she said. The company then resells it to the residents who have Pennichuck water as a profit.

Similarly, Derry buys its water from Manchester and resells it to its consumers. "Pennichuck is the highest reseller of water," Paul said.

While drawn to the idea, member Jake Butler said the main drawback to him was the impact on home costs with more infrastructure coming in. He wants to avoid imposing burdens on smaller subdivisions.

Member Lynn Wiles likes the idea generally but is reluctant for a small town to enter the water business. "We tend to think about subdivisions and rules impacting the June meeting.

the bigger developers but they can also have a serious impact on a family trying to set up a compound for themselves."

Others thought homeowners should not be tied to making payments to a private company. They would like language saying this shouldn't affect an individual wanting to put in a single house on an existing road or build an addition, and should be related to new larger developments coming in.

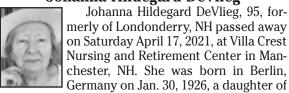

They also would not want to have a developer trying to put in 10 or 12 homes, with public water being within 10,000 feet of the development, choosing for cost savings not to bring water in.

With the board's concurrence, Chairman Arthur Rugg directed the staff to research the topic as to possible options.

Town Planner Colleen Mailloux said staff would consult with the town attorney on any related legal issues, examine what surrounding communities are doing, and prepare a summary memo for the board's review to try to have for have our boots, umbrellas, and rain ponchos out for the rainy or even snowy days.

The age-old saying "April Showers Bring May Flowers" still holds true today. But where did this saying originate? The saying originated from a poem that dates back to the year 1157 that was written by Thomas Tusser. The line in the poem is: "Sweet April showers do spring May flowers".

If we travel back in time a bit further to the end of the 14th Century, the poet, Geoffrey Chaucer, had this to say about the month of April, in his famous collection of stories entitled, "The Canterbury Tales.'

Chaucer's version in translation is: "When in April the sweet showers fall, That pierce March's drought to the root and all, And bathed every vein in liquor that has power, To generate therein and sire the flower"

Although it may be said Thomas Tusser is the father of this saying, Geoffrey Chaucer is certainly the creator.

The idea was likely posed to urge us out of the depression that looms during the long hard winter and dreary, rainy months of early spring. We are encouraged to look forward to the month of May and the sunny and much more pleasant weather ahead.

Thinking about other sayings like: "weeping endures for a night, but joy comes in the morning";

April is coming to an end we still "there is a silver lining after each dark cloud"; and "this too shall pass".

> The reality of death producing new life parallels with spring the thought of sunshine following a > season of gloom and sadness.

> The idea of this saying "April showers brings May flowers" shadows what we are all experiencing right now.

> It is a reminder that even the most unpleasant of things, in this case the virus of 2020, will pass and we can hope and expect enjoyable times in the near future. "Light at the end of the tunnel" and "a pot of gold at the end of a rainbow" all apply.

> Looking forward to "May flowers" and happier days ahead is on all of our minds.

> "April showers bring May flowers" is also a lesson in patience, and one that remains valid today. Many of life's greatest things come only to those who wait, patiently.

> Take in the sights and smells of May and the rebirth of life. After all, if you have an optimistic outlook positive thing are sure to happen.

> Remember these things: "there has never been a wind that did not change directions, clouds do not hang forever and April showers bring May flowers.

> The point here is that after all this we will come out better prepared and stronger. Sometimes you have to go though something hard to truly understand what is most important

To the editor,

What a lovely celebration of Kent Allen's life was held last Saturday, April 17, in the very Town Forest that he brought to life and now bears his name. It was a chilly day, but the presentation by his three daughters was warm, humorous and uplifting. We all basked in the glow of his vibrant life. to which his family obviously meant so much.

I first met Kent, as the Town sexton, in 2012 for the purpose of donating some azaleas to the Pillsbury cemetery during our Beautify Londonderry event. Besides the plants, I brought a shovel in case I could help with the digging. But my services were not required. It was a hot, sunny day, and after some introductory pleasantries, this rugged man stripped down to his jeans and work boots, set out his bag of peat moss and watering cans, and got to work. In no time the plants were in the ground and watered, after which he filled me in on some of the colorful history behind the Hovey Road cemeteries.

It is quite appropriate that Kent's memory and animated spirit will now live in perpetuity in Londonderry's Forest.

Not All Migrants are Illegal

To the editor,

derry Times for the duplicate Letters to the Editor Luisa Piette and I submitted. I am sorry for error and I will be much more diligent in the future.

However, in his Letter to the Editor, Mr. Pitre says he is "befuddled that we (Luisa and I) can say we want fair, legal immigration". Perhaps this will help. Most of the children and families crossing the border are seeking asylum and refugee status. Asylum seekers are not illegal immigrates as the law states that "Any alien physically present in the United States or who arrives in the United States ... irrespective of such alien's status, may apply for asylum".

"In order to demonstrate that you are entitled to asylum, you must first show that you meet the definition of a "refugee"—that is, that you cannot return to your home country because you were persecuted there because you fear persecution there in the future."

Border Patrol data "shows that more than 70 percent of border apprehensions in February 2021 are being returned to Mexico under Title 42, the legal authority used to send back migrants. February is the only full month of data currently available". The President has increased aid for the Central American countries that are the source the increase migrants and is negotiating with Mexico to I apologize to Mr. increase their ability to and run it for three Pitre, the publisher, and assist these refugees. It's been less than 100 days since President Biden took office. In that time, he has aggressively attacked the COVID 19 epidemic with over four and a half million doses, yesterday alone, and has passed a COVID relief bill that provided $1400 for Americans suffering financially from this epidemic. The bill also provided supplemental unemployment ments of $300 a month, funding to reopen schools, assistance to small business, funding for state and local government, and more. Now he is negotiating a landmark jobs and infrastructure bill. The goal is to not only fix our current deficiencies but to develop the infrastructure, and programs needed to address the economy of the future.

> This has become a matter of applicant responsibility to make a lot accessible as opposed to having to upgrade an entire roadway to build a house, something the couple said is well beyond their financial means.

At the meeting, Whitten pointed out the town hasn't taken steps to improve Greeley Road which it owns. The couple questioned why they would be prevented from subdividing the land if the town hasn't upgraded the road it's on.

This dilemma may explain why NH has trouble attracting younger residents to build in the state and fill jobs, said Administrative official ex-officio Bruce Hallow-

loodmont Medical Facility Parking Placement Questioned

JOHN SEIDENBERG LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry Planning Board would like to see changes to current plans for a medical services facility in town.

The proposed application for design review is a site plan amendment for Block 2 of Woodmont Commons to construct a 19,792 square-foot twostory medical office building, at Pillsbury Road and Michels Way, Zoned C-I & PUD, Pillsbury Realty Development, LLC (Owner) and LD 2020 LLC (Applicant).

In a conceptual review and nonbinding discussion of the project at its April 14 meeting, the board looked at site requirements and design.

The applicant is seeking a waiver to the Planned Unit Development master plan requiring buildings be oriented parking. Woodmont Commons is governed by its own master plan and design review regulations.

The developer maintains such a medical facility needs patient access mixed use residential to nearby parking even if buildings on Main Street that means having it have parking in back. close to the building.

This project brings together independent medical practices from Londonderry and surrounding towns with services under one roof, said developer Chris Nickerson of Nickerson Designs.

The practices here include DMC Primary Care, Londonderry Family Practice, Spindel Eye Associates, Dermatology and Skin Health, Granite Gastrointestinal State Consultants, Bedford Commons OB-GYN, Concord Orthopedics, and Derry Imaging.

This is in a growing part of the town located near retail centers, Nickerson told the board. The site model is a single large atrium with visibility to all tenants.

But some planning board members found to the street with off-site the building design contrary to the original Woodmont Commons vision as presented to the board and town. They pointed out the existing commercial and Member Ann Chiampa said the main building entrance should be on the primary streets with the structure complementary to adjacent developments. In keeping with master plan objectives, more attention should be on the building than the parking lot, she added.

There are 200 parking spaces proposed on a 40,000-foot building. Despite calls to eliminate some parking, the project only serves 60 percent of the development's total parking need onsite for patients with 40 percent shared inside the PUD for staff and family to park in the vicinity, Nickerson said.

One possible addition could be a dedicated spot in the parking area for ambulance use.

The amount of parking presented is a minimum for this use and is slightly less than that required for a professional office, stated Jeff Kevan, the civil project Pillsbury supervisor. Realty also doesn't have an alternate available site now for this project, he noted.

To relocate the parking to get a longer building would narrow it by about 60 feet. Nickerson said, and limits its function for medical use becoming "functionally obsolete" for the interior elements.

The application previously was submitted for design review and initial comments from town staff, the Heritage Commission, and others. The commission questioned ty of the parking from Kelley Road and Hazel- notified and can com-Michels Way and suggested at a minimum screening the parking.

The designers are attempting to lengthen the building to get more frontage on Michels Way and have more landscaping and a pedestrian path through the parking area, Kevan said.

The board is proposing such changes as adjustment to the roof line, more brick, and landscaping around the parking. Another consideration is whether to have more contemporary or traditional building materials.

Having fiber cement siding and trim on the building is consistent with Main Street now, Nickerson said.

Member Jake Butler suggested a granite veneer on the front wall more reflective of New England style and more in depth landscaping.

Nickerson and Kevan are scheduled to go before the heritage commission again on May 27 to consider suggested revisions, other designs, and building materials. In the interest of time they may request a meeting sooner.

In separate business, the board will conduct a rehearing on a subdivision request it conditionally approved at its April meeting. The town planning staff discovered that an abutting property owner had not received the proper notification because the post office delivered it to the wrong party.

The plan was to subdivide one residential lot into 8 single family lots, the location and visibili- Tax Map 12 Lot 29, at 40

Although the town took all proper steps, the town attorney advised in favor of a rehearing to ensure all abutters are

OBITUARY

Andre Arthur Morneau

Andre Arthur Morneau, 76, of Londonderry, passed on to His Father in heaven on Saturday, April 17, surrounded by love.

Born in Greenville, NH on Sept. 12, 1944, he was a son of the late Arthur and Aline (Caron) Morneau. "Andy" graduated from Appleton Academy in 1963 and went on to serve in the US Air Force as a communications specialist from 1963 to 1967. After his military service, he attended the University of Lowell and went on to work for Sanders Associates in Nashua, Lockheed Martin, and finally BAE Systems as an engineer for over 40 years.

Andy had a lifelong passion for ham radio and for so many will be remembered as K1YMH. He reached out to and made friends all over the world. After retirement, Andy served in Londonderry on the Beautify Londonderry Committee.

One of his greatest joys was joining the Harmonica Saints and performing for those who needed smiles the most in nursing homes and assisted living communities. Shy Andy would absolutely nail Elvis as he sang many of his songs to an appreciative audience.

He was also proud of his French-Canadian heritage belonging to the French Coterie in Nashua. Andy was a communicant of St. Mark the Evangelist Church in Londonderry and a member of the Men of St. Joseph.

Andy was a wonderful husband of 46 years to his loving wife Pamela and devoted and loving Dad to his son Daniel Morneau of Londonderry, and daughter Mary and son-in-law Samuel Chase of Rochester, NH. Most of all, God gave him the special gift of a beautiful granddaughter, Gemma, that was the sunshine of his life. He is also survived by his much-loved sisters, Constance Levesque of Nashua and Sr. Gloria Morneau of St. Hyacinthe, Canada. He was predeceased by his parents, a baby brother, and his dear friend and brother-inlaw, Raymond Levesque. Andy leaves behind his sweet buddy, "Moose" the cat.

His legacy is one of caring, compassion and love to all those who knew him and those whom he prayed for every day. He prayed daily for everyone in the world who was suffering and that is what made him so special. Andy had a deep faith in God in Whose Hands he is now resting. He will be so missed by his family and all those who knew and loved him so much.

The family will receive relatives and friends at St. Mark the Evangelist Church, 1 South Rd., Londonderry on Thursday, April 22 from 10:30 - 11:30 a.m. followed by a Mass of Christian Burial at eleven thirty. Interment will take place at Sacred Heart Cemetery in Greenville on Saturday. Donations may be made in his memory to the NH Food Bank, 700 East Industrial Park Dr., Manchester, NH 03109 or the Nashua Senior Center, 70 Temple St., Nashua, NH 03060. Arrangements are in the care of the FAR-WELL FUNERAL SERVICE, 18 Lock St., Nashua. www.farwellfuneralservice.com.

"It's important to note that each of these grants has a specific purpose and can only be used for that purpose," McKenney said.

For example she said that they couldn't use the funds as revenue to offset the tax rate or spend on any items or services already budgeted before.

The first grant that she talked about was the Supplemental Public School Response Fund.

She said that the allocation of $971,998 was designed to provide relief and support for unanticipated costs associated with the safe opening and operating of schools during the pandemic.

The eligibility was ations Act to suppleuntil Dec. 30 of last year ment schools to help in and McKenney said that the response to COVID-they were able to spend all of the funds. Some of the things they spent it on included PPE, sanitation supplies, air purifiers for classrooms, among other things.

The second grant they discussed was the ESSER1 grant, which was funded through the CARES ACT to help K-12 educational entities prevent, prepare for, and respond to impacts of COVID-19.

McKenney said that they have until September to spend the funds.

"I fully plan to not have a problem spending that money," McKenney said.

The latest allocation that they have received is called ESSER2 for a total of $696,335 funded by the Coronavirus Response and Relief Supplemental Appropriations Act to supplement schools to help in the response to COVID-

The eligibility period for it is until Sept. 30 2023 and they will be having a public hearing on May 4 to accept the funds.

"We have a couple of years to spend this," McKenney said. "We will have funds available moving forward to meet students' needs," she said.

Some of the areas they are considering using the funds for includes summer academy, after and before school tutoring, HVAC equipment and controllers, boilers & furnaces which provide heat for ventilation systems, air cleaners, and emergency generators.

Additionally the school district received word that they will be receiving an approximate 1.5 million in addition to the funds they already received.

McKenney said they would tell the Board and public when they officially find out about the grant.

McKenney said that they are continuing to learn about what they can and can't do in order to stay in compliance with the rules.

"With the uncertainty that COVID-19 brought to our schools, we have continually attended multiple webi-

Mask Mandate

Continued from page 1 agreed, but cautioned that the people working in Town Hall need to be comfortable with what they decide.

Councilor Jim Butler thought the best thing would be to hold off until the next meeting before making a decision.

Fire Chief Darren O'Brien then spoke on the matter.

He stated, "Out of our 53 employees, six of them have not yet received the vaccines."

He added that those employees are required to wear masks when in contact with other employees and when out in public or on a vehicle.

O'Brien then stated that he understands the science behind lifting the mandate but stated, "I can tell you honestly, numbers in Londonderry are not good. We picked up 68 new cases just last week and we are the fifth highest community in the state."

He also added that on Sunday they picked up 18 new cases.

"We're not doing something right somewhere along the line here, and I don't know what that is. I'm trying to get my finger on it, but don't know what's happening."

He felt that until he sees the numbers decline in Londonderry, he would not be in favor of lifting the requirement.

He finished by saying, "We are not seeing the decreases that other communities are seeing."

After getting the Fire Chief's input the Town Council held off on making any definitive changes to the town policy until the next meeting.

Also discussed at the meeting was what to do about the latest Drought Report that shows the area in a to be in a moderate drought.

Council members wrestled with how to handle the continued lack of water and decided that they would institute a water ban beginning at the end of May if the area continues to experience a lack of precipitation.

Family of Kent Allen Hold Memorial Service in His Forest

Family, friends and acquaintances of recently passed, longtime community member, Kent Allen, gathered at the Town Forest on Saturday afternoon to share stories and remember the man who made the Town Forest what it is today. The forest was named the Kent Allen Forest a few years ago by town officials and for the past several years, Allen has worked diligently with town staff to create a place where community members can gather or get out and enjoy nature. Allen lived by the motto, "Deeds Not Words" and his three daughters, Elizabeth York, Sarah Garofalo and Deb Urbanick, brought the community together for a remembrance of all of his accomplishments in the place he spent so much time. Many of those attending the service wore flannel shirts and jeans in his honor. At right, Kent's wife Meredith was presented with an American flag by a naval cadet. Photos by Chris Paul READERS ARE CAUTIONED that we occasionally run ads that require an initial investment or money in advance. We urge our readers to "do their homework" before responding to any ad, check out the advertiser thoroughly and verify their claims to your total satisfaction. Only then should you proceed at your own risk. We try to screen ads that require you to send money before receiving a product or service. But these efforts are no substitute for your own investigation, and we don't endorse or guarantee any claims made in any of the ads we publish. If you want more information about claims made in ads on subjects such as work at home opportunities, travel or vacation specials, purchasing land or vehicles from government surplus or below wholesale, loans or other credit opportunities (including credit repair), or weight loss and other health products and services, we urge you to contact the Office of Attorney General, Consumer Protection Bureau, 33 Capitol Street, Concord, NH 03301 (603-271-3641) or the Better Business Bureau at 603-224-1991. Publisher is not responsible for any loss of business if an ad does not run, and we reserve the right to revoke any ad if deemed necessary. No refunds will be given for prepaid ads.
