School Board Members Looks at District Location Change

KAITLIN BEDELL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

School Board member Bob Slater came before the Town Council during their meeting on Monday night, June 21 to propose changing the location of the town's district offices in Londonderry.

Slater said that over the last few months he has met with the Town Manager to discuss different options for the offices.

The offices were moved to Kitty Hawk Landing almost four years ago and currently undergo a one-year lease period, which extends for 10-years.

Slater said he asked the School Board what their thoughts on moving the offices would be and the overall consensus was that they agreed.

Londonderry School District Changes its Mask Policy

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Just over a week after dozens of concerned parents and residents asked for the Londonderry School District to lift the policy that made it mandatory for students to wear masks in school and were denied, school officials have now lifted that policy.

In a press release issued on the Londonderry School District website on June 17 officials have changed the policy in regard to wearing masks at school.

The decision came just one day before school ended for the summer.

The release stated, "We are writing today to inform you of a change to our current safety protocols in the Londonderry School District. Yesterday afternoon, the New Hampshire Department of Public Health Services released new "Permissive" guidance regarding facemasks in schools and childcare facilities. This in effect gave us their recommendation that masks can now be optional in our buildings going forward. There was no time frame on the guidelines, and indications are that this will remain in place as long as community spread numbers continue to be low. While it is too early to say with complete confidence, it appears that this guidance could remain in place through the reopening of school in the fall."

The release added, "Where we are following NHDPH guidance by virtue of our reopening plan, the District is empowered to make this adjustment now. We are currently working on a method by which parents can communicate their choice of

Town Receives $900K in Grants for Water Quality

KAITLIN BEDELL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The town of Londonderry has been approved for two grants from the Department of Environmental Services (DES) in regards to drinking water in town.

Town Manager Kevin Smith announced to the Town Council at their June 21 meeting that the town would be receiving money from the DES.

Smith said that he had some "very good news" to report to the council from his meeting with the DES, Assistant Town Manager Lisa Drabik and Town Solicitor

Mike Malaguti from earlier Monday morning.

The DES is a group that was founded as a fund commissioner that is responsible for dividing out safe water drinking grants to communities in need.

Smith, Drabik, and Malaguti went to the commission to present their request for two grants regarding Londonderry's drinking water.

The first grant presented was in the amount of $500,000 which would be used to administer a rebate program for residents who hook up a filtration system.

This grant would be retroactive to 2019 and would continue through till 2024 or until the funds are expended.

The second grant was in the amount of $400,000 and was intended for the funding of the Lancaster Drive water hookup in town.

Gas Station Looks for Multiple Variances from Zoning

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry Zoning Board of Adjustment met on Wednesday, June 16 and held just one public hearing. That hearing involved an application from RGGGS Realty, Inc., which owns the Mobil Gas Station at 7 Nashua Road. They were seeking four different variances, but with too many questions unanswered, the board put eventually held off making a decision.

The four variances that were being requested were to allow a changeable electronic message board sign that is otherwise prohibited, to allow a sign 16-feet in height where only 10-feet is allowed, to allow an additional wall sign where only one is permitted, and to allow a free standing sign to be located four-feet from the Nashua Road property line where 15 feet are required and two-feet from the Ela Road property line where 15-feet is required.

Peter Marsh, of NH Signs was representing the owner, and he began by explaining that they want to rebuild their sign to become a digital one instead of what exists currently.

Although they have been given variances for the height of the sign, to have an additional sign, and for the setback they needed to go to the ZBA for an additional sign and for a sign to be electronic.

Marsh explained that the new owners of the Mobile Station are working on improving the convenience store and they want to be able to have a sign for it.

He said that because gas stations only get a few cents of profit per gallon of gas, he said that convenience stores have become more and more vital for companies over the years.

"The real profit comes from the c store," he said.

The owner was previously given a variance to have two signs but doesn't want to take one of them out because they need it in order for people to see the sign in both directions.

Marsh also explained that they already have been given a previous variance for the setback of their sign which means that they just want to maintain it.

He said that they don't have any other options for it.

"We don't have many other choices to place the sign on the property."

The height of the sign that they are looking to have is 16 feet which is what they were already given a previous variance for.

If approved they are planning on improving the sign by making it so they are able to control changing the prices on the sign remotely. Marsh said that right now there are some safety issues and concerns with employees doing it manually especially during inclement weather.

Overall, he said that the sign was in bad shape which is why they need to remodel it. "It's essentially falling apart," Marsh said

Since they already were given permission to have a variance for the height and set back, it was asked by Zoning Board chair Neil Dunn why they were seeking a variance for it.

"Why are they here on the height and the set back if that was already granted," he said.

Nick Codner, zoning administrator for Londonderry, explained that since they are changing the size of the signs it means they need to get a new variance.

After some discussion Codner explained that if they are able to do more research on the previous variances that were granted, they may not have to seek as many variances in this case.

It was ultimately agreed on to continue the application until the next meeting.

Anne L. Warner

Anne L. Warner, 77, of Londonderry, NH, died Sunday, June 20, 2021 in the Hackett Hill Nursing Home in Manchester, NH. She was born in Newark, NJ on Aug. 16, 1943, a daughter of the late Joseph and Lois (Myers) Rynkiewicz. She had been a resident of Londonderry for the past 40 years, formerly living in Connecticut and New York. Anne had been self an environmental consultant for many years. She served the State of NH and Londonderry constituents as a NH State Legislator, and served as the Supervisor of the Checklist in the Town of Londonderry for 12 years. Anne enjoyed taking long trips, especially in the Corvette. She enjoyed visiting museums, and making jewelry for friends. Anne was very spiritual, was an avid reader, and had amassed a spiritual library.

She is survived by her husband, Gregory Warner of Londonderry; her brother, Walter Rynkiewicz; and her two sisters, Alexandra Hill and Florence Webb.

Following cremation, she will be buried in the NH State Veterans Cemetery, 110 Daniel Webster Hwy., Boscawen, NH at a later date. Memorial contributions may be made to the local Londonderry Democratic Party. The Peabody Funeral Homes and Crematorium of Derry and Londonderry are assisting the family with arrangements.

Grants

had issued a warrant article in March for the project, but instead this grant would supplant the warrant article.

According to Smith, the grant would allow for the project to be put into place without the taxpayers having to put any money towards it. The grant would also mean that the residents in that area would not have to pay anything for their water hookup.

Smith said the only possible contributor would be the responsible party.

Both of the grants presented by Smith, Drabik, and Malaguti were approved by the DES.

"Really the bulk of the credit here goes to both Lisa and Mike who did two separate presentations for these two grants," Smith said.

Smith said that the commission voted unanimously to give the town both grants in the full amount of money that was requested.

"This is fantastic," Smith said. "Really a feather in our cap."

Smith also said that prior to these two grant approvals, the DES had spoken with town leaders before regarding the issues Londonderry has had. The commission had described the town as "proactive" and a "model community" for their "wholistically thinking" response to these issues.

The DES also noted to Smith that they were expecting more funding to be distributed in the area.

Under the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) funding that came from Washington, the state of New Hampshire is set to receive large amounts of money in the near future.

According to Smith, the Chairman of the DES believes that water is an issue in a lot of areas in southern New Hampshire which will require attention.

"They seem willing and ready to throw a lot of funding in order to have a permanent solution to this issue so that was very good news out of the DES this morning," Smith said.

Londonderry Old Home Day Plans Continue to Unfold

JOHN SEIDENBERG
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Plans continue to come together for this summer's Old Home Day in Londonderry returning in full after a year's absence in the wake of the pandemic.

As discussed at a June 15 meeting of the Old Home Committee, gift baskets are being prepared for bingo during senior night. Catherine Blash, senior affairs director, is seeking to have soda donated for the event by Coca-Cola.

At the same time Prime Source Foods has offered to provide meats, Town Manager Kevin Smith said.

For the Thursday Battle of the Bands a flyer will be in circulation along with publicizing of the activities Aug. 18-22 on social media. Because sign ups by groups don't tend to occur until weeks before, he added, food and drink arrangements have not yet been confirmed.

Friday will be the softball game between Londonderry and Derry followed by fireworks at 9 p.m. Once the food vendors have been finalized, there will be a food flyer distributed with menus.

Fiesta Shows is experiencing an unprecedented labor shortage and has no one to work the Mid-Way Games, Smith noted. He has contacted another amusement company in Rindge. But Old Home Day may have to forego some carnival games and just have food trucks on Friday night.

On Saturday for the baby contest, he is waiting to hear from a contact person to run it. The suggestion was made at the committee meeting that if the contest were moved to Wednesday night on the Town Common, seniors could come with some acting as judges.

If done then on the Common, setup would be taking place at the same time for the concert. But an alternative to Wednesday would be moving the contest to Saturday morning as part of the kidz events at the Matthew Thornton

School if carnival activities are in doubt.

The organizers are waiting to hear from the railroad company, about exotic animals, a magician, and having a Touch-A-Truck and car show.

Kona Ice will be coming. The Portsmouth Naval Shipyard outreach program may be able to provide a 1,000-gallon dunking tank and a robot.

Smith pointed out that Saturday tends to be a chaotic time though the baby contest could be run by volunteers from the Londonderry Moms Club if they were willing.

For the parade on Saturday most participants will line up at the Middle School. The number of participants is growing with Recycled Percussion confirming their attendance.

Commitments may be needed for use of convertibles for such parade participants as Citizen of the Year, the Grand Marshal, and baby winners, Smith said.

In securing the booths on the Common, of those who had them in 2019, five artists booths are confirmed for this year and five others have not yet responded. There is room for 12 artisans and others from the wider area beyond Londonderry may be invited to come.

As to bandstand activities, there will likely be professional entertainment and interactive events such as the strong person competition, the kiss a pig fundraiser on the stage, and apple pie eating contest.

The New Hampshire Academy of Dance is coming and the Londonderry Dance Academy and New England Dance Ensemble are being contacted.

The Historical Society is having a pig roast and a float in the parade.

Sunday activities will be determined by the clergy association.

Old Home Day is currently on the town website under boards. But much of the content will be moved from the existing site to a page on the town site to make it more prominent, Smith said. There is also a Facebook page.

The committee's next meeting is July 6 at 6 p.m. at Moose Hill

Taste The Local Flavors

Even after all the talk lately about population density on the rise and needing more homes we still try to maintain the “rural lifestyles” of our communities.

This is the time of year when things start to heat up, not just where the weather is concerned but, with the hallmarks of rural communities like the countryside farm stands, farmers’ markets, the fairs, the concerts and all the other out door celebrations that make our communities great.

In recent years, farmers’ markets have sprung up everywhere, this is a bonus to residents who want fresh, local fruits and vegetables and either don’t have the land to grow their own or can’t plant for other reasons. Our communities are close to the source for sure, in many cases you can’t get more local when it comes to food than we are.

Derry has a thriving farmers market, and it grows every year. There’s something particularly satisfying about residents getting together for a couple of hours a week to shop outdoors. It’s not certain what you will find; flowers, fresh breads, fruits and vegetables, Home-made soaps, Organic dog biscuits, Maple syrup, Live music and entertainment, crafts for the kids, it has something new every week.

Meanwhile, farmers in Derry, Londonderry, Chester, Sandown and Hampstead offer traditional farm stands as well, where their agricultural bounty is available for residents and tourists alike every day, right at the farm where it’s grown, and often with a U-pick option.

Local products and local people come together at all of these ventures, turning shopping for food into a time to visit with friends, maybe find a couple of new recipes, learn about fruits and vegetables that aren’t so common, and get healthier in the process.

If you like supporting your neighbors and keeping your dollars local, farm stands and farmers markets are an ideal way to patronize small businesses and strengthen the local economy, cutting out the middle man in the process.

The farm stands and farmers’ market go back to the market days of past centuries, when area residents would come to town to do their weekly shopping and visit with their neighbors.

Living where we do, we don’t have to reinvent the wheel to find community and good eating close to home.

More Kudos for Londonderry

To the editor,
I had two broken covers on my waste containers. I reported this 2 – 3 weeks ago to DPW. I came home last Friday to find a new trash barrel at the end of my driveway. I said to myself, oh great now I have two trash barrels plus my recycle container. I had heard stories about how long it sometimes takes to have an extra, damaged barrel removed by DPW, but it didn’t take long for me, and NO I don’t know anyone at DPW. Well, about 6 p.m. my doorbell rang and I looked out and saw a representative from DPW standing on my steps. Guess what, he was there to remove my damaged barrel and replace the cracked cover on my recycle barrel. I didn’t want either barrel replaced since only the covers were damaged, but he said the cover on my trash barrel couldn’t be repaired so it was. I had described the damage when I asked for them to be repaired. I already had trash in my barrel, and he took the barrel with the trash still in it away in his truck after he repaired my recycle barrel. He said he knew people who would take care of the trash rather than me having to change it to the new barrel. Now that is what I call SERVICE! Thank you DPW.

Recycling Motor Oil

To the editor

The recent article about recycling used motor oil missed an important detail - what to do in Londonderry!

You can bring your waste oil to Londonderry’s collection station behind the Central Fire Station (280 Mammoth Rd) every first Saturday of the month from 10 a.m. - 12 p.m. (July 3rd will be an exception due to the holiday weekend.) Each year, several hundred gallons of collected waste oil are used to heat the town highway garage, saving the town a few thousand dollars.

The do’s and don’ts are pretty simple: Don’t bring any oil that has been contaminated with antifreeze, water, brake fluid, or other liquids. Do bring oil in clear containers if possible, to make it easier to check for contamination.

If you are unable to make one of the Saturday collection times, you can also take your waste oil to Tisdell Transmission at 27 Ash St. Call ahead at 603-432-3201 to schedule a drop-off time.

More information can be found on the town website by searching for “waste oil”.

Residents Demand School District to Unmask Students

To the editor,

What kind of an example are these 19 speakers making for the students?

It does not sound as though they could present any scientific evidence to contradict the CDC.

If they can, then let them come forward and present this information to back their demands.

Is this the tone of adults requesting to be heard?

Do these same speakers respond to their children’s demands, just because they make demands? And have they heard that you can catch more flies with honey than with vinegar?

It seems to me that we have a very noisy minority ruling the quiet majority.

And a big shout out to Jen Ganem and Scott Laliberte for there support of the science that underscores their decisions.

Thank you for your measured response to parents that have not done their homework.

Police Association Raises Funds for Eight-Year-Old Boy

KAITLIN BEDELL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Eight-year-old Jack McKay of Londonderry was diagnosed with a Genetic Disorder in 2020 which was the first of its kind in the U.S. and the eighth known in the world.

According to a letter the McKay family wrote to the town of Londonderry, Jack was also previously diagnosed with other disorders: Hypotonia, Global Developmental Delay, Autism, Epilepsy, and potentially Atypical Parkinsonism when he is in his 20s.

"Jack wants many of the same things as his peers—friends, fun, and endless snacks," The McKay's said. "But behind those similarities lie many challenges that impact his abilities day to day, minute by minute."

The McKay family said that Jack "needs constant attention" because he does not have general awareness to dangerous situations such as "heights and ledges, streets, and impeding other's space."

In recent months, the family has considered the possibility of getting an assistance dog for Jack.

"We have long discussed wanting a dog as a family but more and more recently we've been learning about assistance dogs and what they can do for Jack," The McKay's said.

A service dog for the McKay's' situation would help Jack with his coordination and awareness of his environment, self-calming when he has escalated, seizure alters, and continuing to help his interpersonal skills when meeting new people.

"We are so very lucky that he is a charming boy that has a magnetic personality and is getting better each day at making new friends in all kinds of place," The McKay's said.

"He works harder than anybody I know to improve so many things each and every day. He inspires us."

After hearing Jack's story, the Londonderry Police Association has decided to help the McKay's make their dream for Jack getting a service dog come true.

The organization has set up a "Great Golf Ball Drop" fundraiser where the closest pin will win $10,000. All proceeds made from the event will go to getting Jack's service dog.

The event is scheduled to take place during the 2nd annual LPA Scramble on Friday, August 27. There are 200 slots available, and each ticket is $100 upon entry.

According to the organization, individuals do not have to be present or partake in the tournament in order to enter for the prize money.

LPA announced on June 19 that there are 70 golf balls still available to be sold out of the 200 slots that are being offered. Those who wish to purchase one can do so via the website set up by the LPD Association:

LPAgolf.com.

The McKay family said they are grateful for all that the Londonderry Police Association is doing to help them in their hope for a service dog as well as all the support they've gotten in town.

"We are really excited to begin this new chapter and eternally grateful for all of the support that we have all gotten in town – from the schools, to neighbors and friends, and now the LPD Association and their incredible efforts and generosity," The family said.

Masks

masking for their child to the schools, which will likely be either a form or a permission slip. You will receive details on that method of communication from the buildings as soon as it is ready. Our summer programs start on June 28 and we will certainly be ready by then.

In regard to the new school year starting in August, the release states, "Relative to masks in the fall, we do believe that this recommendation will still be in place by then, given the absence of a significant spike in COVID cases and a subsequent change in guidance from the NHDPHS. We intend to continue forward with our planning process to collect data as well as parent and teacher feedback over the summer, and to present our update to the reopening plan to the School Board in August.

The School District also caught some negative feedback from the fact that the school board meeting video, where many parents spoke out against the mask policy, was taken off YouTube shortly after it was posted.

To that, school officials released a statement on June 15.

That statement read, "Over the past weekend, it has come to our attention that YouTube has deactivated the video of the June 8 meeting of the Londonderry School Board. The District regularly broadcasts meetings of the School Board on this format, and posts recordings of meetings in order to be sure that Londonderry residents have the ability to see meetings that are of interest to them. In the case of this particular video, we have been informed that the video has been taken down because it violates the YouTube Community Guidelines, and specifically their prohibition of content that contradicts the guidance of the WHO and the CDC regarding COVID-19 protocols. We have been alerted by YouTube that subsequent violations of this policy could result in the District's channel being deactivated. The District has initiated an appeal of this decision, and in the meantime has posted a recording of the video on our own internal website. Residents may now view that video linked on the School Board page of the district website. It is of vital importance that members of our community have the ability to see what transpired during this meeting and all meetings of the School Board."

Location

Prior to moving, the offices use to be in the center of town near all of the schools. Now, they are located near the airport and are not under the town's control.

According to Slater, the district can opt out of resigning the one-year lease with an eight-months' notice and would be obligated to about $40,000 a year. If the district stayed where they are, they would owe about $200,000 in five years to continue to lease the property.

Slater said this means that for each year the district gets out of this building, it will be a "net gain" for both the town and taxpayers.

"Looking at all the other cost of property today, it would be nice to get the district under a town owned property where we're paying $130,000-$140,000 a year in a lease towards the purchase of a bond and in 20-years it's ours," Slater said.

Slater said the new location would be a two-story building with about 9,000 square feet reserved for the district offices.

"With the assistance of our town manager we weighed the pros and cons of a raw piece of land compared to a piece of land that has all the utilities and infrastructure," Slater said.

The Town Manager had also been looking for some open space for offices and storage.

Within the past year, the Town manager had discussed his want for more space, but because of the expenses included with this the conversation had been temporarily tabled. Slater suggested that combining the two would be more cost efficient.

He also stated that the property that makes the most sense was where the school district office was previous to their current location. That property, next door to the Town Hall was torn down two years ago.

Slater said his purpose of coming to the Town Council was to see what members thoughts were and if they had any concerns with the proposed plan.

"I think it makes a lot of sense and I really appreciate you doing all that homework because numbers don't lie," Councilor Joe Green responded.

Councilor Tom Dolan said that he also thought it was a great idea but wanted to ensure that it would not negatively impact taxpayers.

Councilor Deb Paul asked if Slater had a timeline for when the project would begin.

Slater said that if they get the ball moving soon, he is hoping to have the proposal on the ballot for the March town elections.

In the meantime, Slater said he will formally present the project to the School Board at their June 22 meeting and do a facility study for the proposal the following day before coming back to the Town

"I'm hoping for the support," Slater said. "I think it's a win/win for the community and to get our district offices into a place they can call home."

Michele Judith Villani

Michele Judith Villani, 60, of Londonderry, NH passed away Thursday June 17, 2021 in her home. Michele was born in Springfield, MA on Oct. 20, 1960, and was raised in West Caldwell, NJ. She was a daughter of the late Ernest and Margaret (Marlowe) Gamache. She had been a resident of Londonderry since 2000, formerly living in Yardley, PA.

Michele will be remembered as a devoted wife, mother, grandmother, aunt, sister, and friend. She had a warm sense of humor and a sharp wit. Michele was a compassionate spirit who took great joy in raising and fostering cats. Her dedication to her family and friends was inspiring to all of those who knew her. Sensitive and caring, Michele had the nurturing instincts of her mother, who raised eight children, combined with the analytical intellect of her father, a mechanical engineer. Always committed to her family, her children are all proud to call her mom. Michele enjoyed spending time at The Lake with her family and friends every single summer for the last four decades. While her family grieves her loss, we wish to celebrate the joy that she brought into our lives.

Michele is survived by her husband of 40 years, Thomas S. Villani of Londonderry, one son, Dr. Thomas S. Villani, Jr. and his wife Courtney of Belle Mead, NJ, two daughters, Lisa N. Villani-Gale and her husband Dr. Alexander of Chicago, IL, and Rachel A. Silverman and her husband Leon of Derry. She was the beloved grandmother to Jason, Louis and Philip, who knew her as "Mémère." Michele is also survived by five sisters, Margaret Mary Weinberg, Anne Hammell, Ellen Reichert, Kathryn Goldman, and Lisa Reulbach, as well as dozens of nieces and nephews. She was predeceased by two siblings, Michael Gamache, and Mary Bullard.

Following cremation, calling hours will be held on Saturday June 26, from 2 - 5 p.m. in the Peabody Funeral Homes and Crematorium, 290 Mammoth Rd., Londonderry. A time of sharing will be held at 4:30 p.m. In lieu of flowers, donations in Michele's memory can be made to the MSPCA at Nevins Farm at www.mscca.org. ## Lady Lancer Basketball Squad Gets New Head Coach

LONDONDERRY TIMES

After seven years of being head coach of the Londonderry High School Girls Varsity basketball team, Nick Theos has stepped down, citing personal issues would keep him from devoting enough time to the program.

Theos' departure comes after decades with the hoops program at LHS. He played four years while attending the school and also helped coach with his dad, Ted Theos, while he was coaching at a number of levels during the early years of the program.

Theos was able to win the Division I title in his first year as head coach, in 2015, and made it to the semi-finals in 2020 and 2021.

Theos said, "It was time for me to take a break." He added that he felt that he knew he would be stepping down toward the end of last season. "I knew I wouldn't have the time commitment, and didn't want to short change the girls."

With the Theos departure, Jon Doherty will be taking over as the new head coach.

Doherty also has a vast amount of coaching experience, just not in Londonderry.

Most of Doherty experience in coaching comes from the northern Massachusetts area, where he grew up.

Doherty played college basketball at UMass Lowell and he most recently was the head coach at North Middlesex High School where he led the team to a championship in just two years there.

He has coached both boys and girls throughout his career, but admits that he feels girls are easier to work with.

Doherty also feels that the position he is stepping into will be a year-round commitment. "I really want to focus on getting younger girls excited to play."

47th Annual Summer Fun Runs Get Started in Londonderry

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Greater Derry Track Club (GDTC) Kids Summer Fun Runs resumed its 47th year of giving local young runners an opportunity to compete in a fun friendly atmosphere this week.

The races were forced to take a one-year break last summer due to the COVID-19 Pandemic, but participants were back in full force Monday night, June 21 at the Londonderry High School track.

Conditions were hot and humid that night, but a constant breeze kept 312 runners in top form for the first of several summer-long races.

Although there are races for every age of runners at the event each week, only ages 9-13 are recorded, but every participant receives a ribbon for competing.

The top three finishers in the final races of the evening are as follows.

For Boys 9-year-old:

Beckett O'Brien of Londonderry was first, followed by Ben Hernandez of Derry in second and Kamp Brodeur of Chester was third.

In the Girls 9-year-old group: Meghan Mullaney of Derry was first, Dannicia Leblanc of Fremont was second and Adelynn Mullaney of Derry was third.

For Boys 10-year-old: Owen Hooke of Derry was first; Rowan Nichols of Derry second; and Jacob Tiney of Sandown was third.

In the Girls 10-year-old group: Mia Bucu of Londonderry took first; Summer Collins of Londonderry was second; and Isabella Balsamo of Derry was third.

In the Boys 11-year-old race: Caelum O'Loughlin of Londonderry took first; Patrick Ramsey of Londonderry; and Owen Dutil of Londonderry was third.

In the Girls 11-year-old race: Anna Laufer-sweiler of Londonderry came in first; Madison Doherty of Chester was second; and Stella Dutton of Londonderry came in third.

In the Boys 12-year-old race: Theodore Doherty of Chester was first; Quinn Morrison of Londonderry was second; and Ryan Hooke of Derry was third.

In the Girls 12-year-old race: Hannah Couture of Litchfield finished first and Avery Vadeboncoeur of Sandown was second.

The Boys 13-year-old group had Sig Iverson of Chester competing and winning that category.

The free series begins each week at 6 p.m. at the Londonderry High School Track.

The program continues June 28, July 12, 19, 26, and Aug. 2.

All kids ages two to 92, from any town or city are welcome. Non-perishable food donations are appreciated to help support local food pantries.

Conservation Matters: Baby Animal Encounters

JOCELYN DEMAS
CONSERVATION COMMISSION

We are blessed in the state of NH to live side by side with so much wildlife. Even in our most heavily populated areas we catch glimpses of creatures of all kinds. Educating ourselves about these animals is an important part of living here, especially in spring when we are most likely to find an adorable baby in our neighborhood.

It is easy to assume that any wild baby you find by itself has been abandoned, but this is not always the case. A mother must often leave her young to find food, and you (or your dog) may happen upon the baby at just that time.

Our human nature calls on us to help a baby animal on our travels, and seeing a beautiful spotted fawn lying on its own in a field is probably one of the best examples of this. The mother must leave its fawn to forage, and typically leaves it in high grasses where the fawn can lay down and remain unseen. The mother will come back, barring unforeseen circumstances.

If you come across a fawn, note the time and its location and leave it be. A doe will leave a fawn unattended for up to 12 hours in some cases, so if you come back the following day and the fawn is still there, it's a good idea to call for some advice. If the fawn is moving around and calling out, there may be trouble.

Another common encounter is a nest of baby rabbits, called kittens. A simple way to tell if a nest has been abandoned is to crisscross some thin string across the top of the nest. If the string is found to be disturbed the following day, you know the mother has returned to the nest. If the strings are still in place, it may be time to call for help.

Important to note is that in any situation, jumping in to physically help the animal without first consulting a trained wildlife specialist is not advised. After all, animals have survived without human interference for ever. If you are concerned that an animal has, in fact, been abandoned, the best thing you can do for it is to contact the professionals.

NH Fish & Game is, of course, a great resource. There are also many licensed wildlife rehabilitators in our state that have different areas of focus. You can find a comprehensive list on NH Fish & Game's website at wildlife.state.nh.us/wildlife/rehabilitators. They are listed by county and by which animals they are licensed to care for.

Not every animal encounter will require a rehabber; however, they are your best resource to help you help the animal. Here in Rockingham County we are fortunate to have Millstone Wildlife Center in Windham, run by Frannie Greenberg. Frannie has been a great resource when questions come up, but she is also always willing to help any way she can, no matter how small the animal is, and no matter how insignificant one may think the situation. I have even witnessed Frannie feeding a baby mouse with a dropper!

Once those babies are nursed back to health and are ready to return to the wild, the rehabbers will release them in an appropriate place.

The excitement of coming across baby animals in the wild often makes people act without thinking through the repercussions of moving or handling the baby. This is probably the only time I suggest whipping out your phone to get an insta-worthy shot before acting on what you're seeing! So get out there, enjoy our beautiful trails (or even just your yard) and keep your eyes peeled. You never know what you may find!

Coach

from the 2021 LHS varsity team and has commitments from at least four of the players. Olivia Chau, Shannon Ball, Jordan Furlong and Maddie O'Shaughnessy will all be returning to the team.

Doherty is currently a Special Education teacher at Londonderry

High School and has been looking for this opportunity for some time. He has already begun a three-week basketball summer league involving many of the up-and-comers from the Londonderry Middle School. He also hopes that there will be enough interest in the program to re-develop a freshman team.

Doherty will also have a strong assistant coach with him, Scott Tavares-Taylor, who played ball at Franklin Pierce University will be helping out on the sideline during the 2021-22 season.

Both Doherty and Tavares-Taylor also have semi-pro experience to add to their resumes coming into the job.

Concerts on the Common Will Resume this Year at a Later Date

After pivoting to virtual, streaming concerts in 2020 due to the COVID 19 Pandemic, the Londonderry Arts Council plans to bring live music performances back to the iconic Bandstand on the Town Common with a modified schedule. Running from early August through mid-September, this year's Concerts on the Common series will feature another great line-up of talent. For a complete schedule and more details visit: www.concertsonthecommon.org/

Thank You to Our Sponsors; As always, none of this would be possible without the generous support of Sponsors who support this popular concert series, year-after-year. For a full list of 2021 Sponsors, visit londonderryartscountil.org/sponsors

Important Programming Notes; Normally, our annual concert series begins in early June and ends in mid-August. As we planned for the 2021 season earlier this year, we decided to delay the launch in line with where we thought the Covid 19 vaccination cycle would be. We also took into consideration what time the sun would be setting. So, this year our first four concerts in August will be held on Wednesday evenings as usual, from 7 - 8:30 p.m. Beginning Aug. 28, the remaining Concerts shift to Saturdays and run from 5 - 6:30 p.m. Of course, this plan is subject to any COVID 19 public safety mandates that may arise in the meantime.

About Concerts on the Common; For 20 years, the Londonderry Arts Council has provided family friendly, Concerts on the Common as part of our mission is to enrich Londonderry's quality of life by promoting cultural arts in the community. Concerts are held on the Londonderry, NH Town Common at 265 Mammoth Rd., which is at the corner of Pillsbury and Mammoth roads.

Weather Policy - We Always have a scheduled concert. In the event of bad or threatening weather, we move the concert to the Matthew Thornton gym. The school is just north of the Common at 275 Mammoth Rd.
