School Board Gets Update On Right To Know Requests Statuses

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During the Nov. 1 School Board meeting, Interim Superintendent, Dan Black, gave the School Board an update regarding the Right to Know requests that they have received.

“We have had a few members of the public reach out in recent weeks to inquire about the Right to Know requests that we have had this year and the overall time and costs it takes to complete them,” Black said in a memo to the School Board.

Black said they received five different requests so far this

Londonderry Tax Rate Currently Sits at $18.48

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry Town Council was given the proposed tax rate for the upcoming property tax bills that will be going out before the end of the year and members were unable to give a definitive final figure.

The town’s Finance Director, Justin Campo, came before the Council on Monday night, Nov. 7, during public comment to inform members that the current rate will be up 10 cents over last year’s rate of $18.38 per thousand.

The $18.48 rate means that with a $500,000 home, Londonderry residents will pay $9,240 in yearly taxes.

Campo asked the council if they wished to lower the current rate back to last year’s amount through the Undesignated Fund Balance (UFB) account and a decision has yet to be made in that regard.

Campo pointed out that the Town Council used $1 million dollars of the UFB last year to lower the tax rate by about 16 cents and if they wanted to lower it again, it would take $200,000 out of the UFB account.

Councilor, Deb Paul, paused, saying that she’d like to digest what was just given to them.

The chairman, John Farrell, asked what the deadline is to come up with a tax rate and Campo suggested the sooner the better.

Farrell added that the UFB balance is at about $5 million with the Granite Ridge tax settlement of 1.7 million added, leaving just over $6.7 million in UFB.

He also said the account usually sits at about $8 million and thought the taxpayers needed to “ride one out”

Fish & Game Club Files Suit Against Litchfield Couple

PAUL CONYERS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry Fish and Game Club (LFGC) has filed a defamation lawsuit against Litchfield residents, Kevin and Janine Anctil, in Rockingham County Superior Court.

The LFGC hired Concord lawyer, Sean List, to represent them in the case. According to his website, List is “regularly consulted regarding federal and state firearm regulation.” Firearms law is one of his specializations.

During the initial complaint in September of 2021, the Anctil couple claimed a stray bullet entered their house, coming within a few feet of the Anctil’s home office. In the official report, the couple also claimed it was the fourth such incident in their neighborhood.

A window was broken and a stray bullet was eventually found by police, though no conclusive source for the bullet was found.

“We’ve constructed these ranges very carefully. They’ve gone through a lot of processes with engineering,” claimed LFGC President, Rick Olson, when responding to the original allegations. “Anything’s possible, so I’m not going to go that far and say it absolutely didn’t come from here. But I would also add that I believe it’s less than likely that it came from here.”

LFGC disputes the claims made. According to the club website, they

Dress Code Committee Give Update To School Board

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The School Board got an update about the school district dress code during the Nov. 1 School Board meeting.

Over the summer, the School Board decided to move forward with a dress code committee.

School Board Vice Chair, Sara Loughlin, said previously that the policy hasn't been looked at in many years and thought it was important to examine it.

"I think it's been since 2000 since we amended the policy so I think we should look at the policy," said Loughlin.

During the meeting, Crystal Rich, an assistant principal at Londonderry High School, said they have had a number of meetings.

"We had multiple committee meetings throughout September and October," said Rich.

Rich stated they have had discussions with students at both the middle and high school level in order to get feedback about the current dress code and about what they would like to see in the future.

"We had some pretty amazing discussions at all levels," said Rich.

Jenn Labranche said that at the middle school level they felt that the dress code was more targeted at girls.

"They do feel that it's targeted towards girls," said Labranche.

Another thing pointed out is they don't understand all of the language inside the handbook. For example, many students didn't know what the term muscle shirt meant.

"They just don't use those kinds of terms," said Labranche.

It was noted that students pointed to wanting to have more direct language and not have it be as subjective as one of the changes, Rich said.

At the high school level, Rich said the students understood the language inside the handbook for the most part, but didn't understand the "why" for certain rules they had.

She added that when they explained what the different reasonings were, the students understood it.

Rich explained they expect to have a new proposal for a policy after the first of the year.

One question asked for the School Board was if they wanted to put the policy into effect for the second half of the school year or wait until next year.

School Board Chair, Amy Finamore, said it would have to go through three readings, which usually takes about a month and a half to two months.

She added that once it's approved then she thought it should go into effect right away.

The rest of the School Board agreed with that idea.

Loughlin asked if they looked at what other school districts have for their policies, particularly ones that recently adopted new policies.

Rich said they did and the students they met with also brought it up.

Loughlin also asked how many students have been involved with the process so far.

She was told that about 100 students involved between middle and high school.

Planning Board Approve Plan For Akira Way Warehouse

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

One of the plans discussed during the Wednesday, Nov. 2, Planning Board meeting was in regards to an update of an existing plan, previously approved by the board.

The amendment is for the construction of a 7,200 square foot building for the property located 3 Akira Way, which is owned by Fairwind Properties.

Brian Pratt of Fuss and O'Neill explained to the Board that originally the site plan was approved to be 9,600 square feet. He said the new developer wanted to do things differently, which meant having it smaller.

Pratt explained the use wouldn't be intended for customers to go to instead will just be for warehousing.

He stated essentially it would be used for people like plumbers, carpenters, or other types of trades to have a place to store their materials.

Pratt explained the previous owner was in front of the Board twice.

"We've been in front of this board twice," said Pratt.

He said the last time they were in front of the Board was in 2014.

"The previous owner just never had a tenant in mind," said Pratt.

The new owner saw it was for sale and wanted to make some changes to it, Pratt told the Board.

He added that they wanted to shrink it down to 7,200 square feet, as well as make the units from 20 to 24 feet wide. It meant they would go from having seven units to five units.

It was pointed out by Pratt that by shrinking the building it means that they can have all the storage units on one level, which he said, will be an improvement.

Pratt told the Board they would have 15 parking spaces in the front of the property and 11 in the back, and would have two handicap spaces. The previous owners built a retention pond in the back.

"Utilities are the same as they were before," said Pratt.

He also noted that it is connected to city sewer and water.

Pratt said as part of their proposal they would have 18 trees on the site and a lot of screening on the site including shrubs.

The owner previously told the Heritage Commission they wouldn't have any signs on the different units and that it would be up to the individual tenants. He said that the stipulations would be they could have the sign of their company on a small tenant sign above their door. He added that they would be allowed to have up to 12 feet of signage per unit.

Pratt said ultimately the plan is similar to what they had before when it was given approval by the Planning Board.

"This is nearly identical to what was approved for the previous round," said Pratt.

The Planning Board ultimately unanimously approved giving conditional approval for the site plan.

Senior Committee Celebrates Successful Expo, Looks to the Future

PAUL CONYERS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Senior Resources Committee acknowledged a successful Senior Information Expo during their meeting on Oct. 25.

"It seems like it was meant to be, it just all came together," said Committee member, Ilona Arndt. "Everybody loved it!"

The Committee ran out of bags for attendees and debated over how many people were at the event. Attendees also expressed a desire to come back next year, and everyone agreed that Londonderry's first annual Senior Expo was a success by any measurement.

The Committee extended its thanks to all vendors and residents that attended the Expo. They also discussed plans for another event next year after the success of 2022, along with ways to run a larger, more efficient Expo in 2023.

"We could have started sooner," stated Police Chief, Kim Bernard. "We need to plan ahead." Discussion on the Expo only seriously began during the summer of 2022, and Bernard suggested getting an earlier start for 2023.

"I would like to save the vendor list, that's got all the contact information so we can start ahead next year," said Committee Chair, Jim Green. "It's sounding to me like everyone who was there was happy, we have that base, we can improve on that."

The Committee asked for feedback from vendors following the Expo and got several responses. There were a few minor problems, including poor communication with some vendors who never got confirmation of attendance applications. At least one vendor only got confirmation two days before the event. Matching shirts were another suggestion with nametags.

Many attendees had no idea who oversaw the event and advertising was also a problem as signs for the Expo had to compete with 2022 election signs. Sponsorships are another likely solution for next year.

Still, the consensus was a well-run occasion that brought positive attention to the Senior Resources Committee and Londonderry programs for the town's elderly residents.

Another suggestion was to coordinate future public events with Town Manager, Kirby Brown. The hope is to get more support from town officials with the recent success and the goal of the Committee is still to help as many Londonderry residents as possible.

"Let's find out how much this stuff actually trickles down. We know that we had a few hundred people there, so let's find evidence of how many people we actually helped," said Committee member, John Wilson, aiming to increase the productivity of the Senior Resources Committee ahead of a potential 2023 Expo.

The turnout was well above what anybody expected, leading to shortages of some items meant for attendees.

A few more specific suggestions included a needle depository for insulin, a life alert celebration, and a blood pressure station. The Committee pledged to brainstorm more ideas over the next few months.

Continued from page 1 support "advocacy of hunting, fishing, trapping, and conservation," with a focus on "outdoor education." Facilities include ten training ranges. LFGC shooting ranges are over a mile away from the neighborhood, a distance the club claims are too far away from the Ancil neighborhood for the bullets recovered by local law enforcement.

The LFGC also alleges that despite forensic findings, Kevin and Janine have repeatedly defamed the Club in "a media blitz" the over the past few months, including two Facebook posts under the tag "#BulletGate" by Kevin Ancil.

The Ancil couple apparently sent the LFGC a cease-and-desist letter through the Litchfield Town Council requesting the closure of at least two shooting ranges. The club ruled out a non-legal resolution after the letter.

"It is best to be nice, be polite, be understanding. But then at some point, you have to bring in the lawyer," LFGC stated in a comment on their Facebook page. "Now that the lawyers are involved with one side threatening legal action against LFGC, the ability to sit and talk as neighbors has effectively been foreclosed and is now a legal action."

"The Club has no comment at this time, but to only state that it regrets that circumstances are such that the filing of a lawsuit became necessary," said Olson. "It is regrettable that in its 70-year history, this is only the second time the Club has found legal action necessary." No specifics were given for what damages the LFGC seeks in the lawsuit beyond "what is entitled" by law.

There is a high burden of proof for defamation. The LFGC has requested a jury trial for the case. It is not yet known when the Superior Court will hear arguments.

Live, Shop, Give & Read Local

Once again, the holidays are sneaking up on us. Some of our readers might already have their holiday shopping done. However, many of us are still wondering what to buy and where we should go for our holiday shopping. Days are flying by on the advent calendar. If you're still mulling over big ticket items or you've pared down to the bare minimum, there's a world of choices out there for where to go to get those presents for everyone.

In keeping with the "locavore" movement of eating food grown locally, we'd like to suggest that you consider doing all of your holiday shopping close to home and no, this does not include online shopping. Most local shops may not have the flashy, "low, low" prices that the big stores have. However, it can be more sentimental when you buy someone a local gift. Another added bonus for shopping locally is that you will not have to drive far to get there, considering gas prices this year.

Supporting local businesses is the gift that keeps on giving. Each purchase you make helps a local business stay open, as well as, helps the town's tax base. Shopping locally also helps to support local artists. These local artists sell creations that can make for unique and thoughtful gifts. It may be something as small as a pair of earrings or as large as a painting. There's a certain pleasure these days in buying something with a label certifying that it was made in your hometown. By spending your money locally, you may find yourself in a heartfelt conversation about your holiday plans and favorite seasonal recipes, as opposed to the more commercialized alternative where you are more apt to merely be bombarded with incessant sales pitches. A genuine verbal exchange is an added treat to consider, especially at this time of year.

Businesses close to home help contribute to the local communities where we live and work. This is much better than aiding to the bigger companies that have little interest in your town or family. If you're planning on dining out for a special holiday meal, consider a local restaurant as opposed to the big chain-restaurants. Chances are you'd be sure to miss your unique culinary getaways if they had to close due to lack of business. Local businesses like us give back to the community in many ways and help keep our town strong.

Your local newspaper is also a local business, and we depend on advertising to be able to produce our newspapers for the benefit of the community each week. As your hometown paper, when local businesses advertise with us it gets their message out, and it is their advertising that lets us get your news out to you every week. Without them advertising you would have no true local paper.

This holiday season, Nutfield Publishing urges you to consider your local artists, bakers, and shop owners to help take care of your loved ones.

Local Police Look For Publics Help with St. Mary's Robbery

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry Police Department is looking for the publics help for additional information about last week's hold up at St. Mary's Bank.

The Police Department's Facebook page had a post last week stating: "On Nov. 3, at approximately 5:15 p.m., Londonderry Police received a phone call that the St. Mary's Bank, located at 50 Nashua Road, had just been robbed. Our dispatch center then received a subsequent hold-up alarm."

Upon arrival, officers learned that a female suspect had just robbed the bank and fled the scene on foot with an undisclosed amount of money. She ran east behind the Commons Plaza. The suspect was described as a white female, "short" and "skinny," wearing a green jacket, large sunglasses, a baseball-style hat and hoodie.

Officers searched the area thoroughly for the suspect; however, she was not found. Additional evidence was collected, and the detective division is still investigating the robbery.

The police department is asking for the public's assistance in identifying the female.

If anyone had seen the suspect they are urged to call 603-432-1118, if you were around Route 102, Commons Drive, Gilcreast Road, or Michels Way between 5 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. and saw anything suspicious to also call.

As of Tuesday Nov. 8, the case was still under investigation.

Tax Rate

this year, but left it up to other councilors.

At that point, the council put off further discussion until later in the meeting, saying the longer they wait, the closer to Christmas the tax bills would be getting to residents.

The council continued the tax rate discussion before ending the meeting.

Councilor Chad Franz, asked what 1¢ equaled in terms of the tax rate and Campo responded that it would be $50,000.

Campo stated that had the council not lowered the rate last year, the tax rate would actually decrease this year.

Ferrell stated that the council has basically been "Robbing Peter to pay Paul and at some point you need to square things up."

Campo added that the 10¢ increase on the tax rate on a $500,000 home would increase the tax bill by $50.

Franz thought a compromise might be the solution. Half of what they had discussed would bring the rate up by five cents.

The tax rate breakdown for the upcoming bills is as follows: The Municipal rate equals $4.25; Local Education equals $12.31; State Education, $1.18; and County $0.74.

Councilor, Deb Paul, expressed her concerns with the state of the economy and how the council has heard how residents have been struggling. She felt that the council should bring the tax rate back through the UFB this year, but look for more long-term solutions during the budget process.

Councilor, Joe Green, agreed with Paul, saying he would be voting to keep the tax rate where it was last year.

There was some discussion about holding the school district accountable for keeping the tax rate level and Paul suggested the council attend a school board meeting as a united group.

Farrell pointed out that the town has recently given back to the taxpayers several times. Through the elderly tax-exemptions, the veterans credit, and the money they've already contributed through the UFB. He added they have given back about $7 million over the past few years.

Ultimately, the council tabled the discussion until their next meeting, which will take place on Monday, Nov. 14.

Volunteers Work to Clean Up Overgrown South School Gardens

The Beautify Londonderry Committee developed a new program called Sponsor-A-Spot and a number of local business volunteers gathered at South Elementary School to help clean up gardens that have been overrun by weeds. Unlike Sponsor-A-Road, which focuses on roadside clean-up by volunteer businesses, Sponsor-A-Spot concentrates on beautifying smaller, specific public places through gardening and landscaping endeavors. The South School's garden area is the first spot the group have targeted this year. Supplies were donated by Estey's Lumber and volunteers from Jersey Mike's and Planet Fitness worked to clear weeds leaves and unwanted brush.

School Board Discusses Process For Joining Committees

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

After a member of the community raised questions about how people can sign up to be on various school district committees, School Board member, Kevin Gray, said he felt they should have a formal policy in place, he explained during the Nov. 1 School Board meeting.

"We should get a very formal process in place," said Gray.

For example, one of the things he thinks they should do is have applications open for two weeks after the Committee is officially created by the School Board.

He said they should immediately put up information about how people can sign up or request information on the school district's blog. Gray said it would also be a way for people to find out who to contact about questions they may have about different committees.

It was explained by Gray as an example, with the newly created Kindergarten Committee, they are essentially letting anyone who wants to join do so. He added that they didn't have a cut off number, but for the superintendent search committee they have a more defined group for it.

One question raised was what would happen if they have more applications than they have spots on the committee. He said that would be a good problem.

"I think that's a good problem to have," said Gray.

Gray explained it's one of the reasons why it would be good to have a formal process.

He explained that if they have too many applications to be on a committee then the individual committee would have to decide what to do.

"I think the committee itself would need to make that decision," said Gray.

School Board member, Bob Slater, said he thought it was a good idea.

He said if they lay out what the policy is then people in the community will know what the process is.

"It might save a lot of this questioning from community members," said Slater.

Slater pointed out that if they have a formal policy then it could be used for any school boards in the future.

It was decided that

Gray would come back to the School Board during their next meeting with a draft proposal for them to consider.

In personnel news, the School Board unanimously accepted the resignations of Amanda Austin, a support staff member for Moose Hill Elementary School and Susan Kirkvold, who is a Support Staff member at Matthew Thornton.

school year.

Black said the first two requests weren't difficult to fill.

One of the requests was for emails between the School Board and Londonderry C.A.R.E.S, and the other request was for agendas, minutes, public posting, and committee members of the Kindergarten Committee.

"The first two requests each took a couple of hours of work from District Office staff, minimal copying and mailing costs," said Black.

For the third request, which regarded to the Moose Hill playground equipment, he stated that request was more difficult.

"The third request took about 12 hours of work from our District Office staff to see what information we had available on our Moose Hill Playground equipment that was installed more than 20 years ago. There were minimal copying and mailing costs," said Black.

For one of the requests they received, Black said it was much more labor intensive.

Black explained the request was for purchase orders and expenses for all legal services for the School District from FY2019 and the IRS 1099 filing for the work.

"The fourth request unfortunately is a much larger and ultimately more expensive request to complete. Over the next few weeks our business office, in their spare time during budget season, will be able to produce the documentation on legal services for all of fiscal year 2019 the district engaged in," said Black. "However, we will then need to send this paperwork to our lawyers to review and ensure there is no information in that paperwork that falls under attorney client privileges. Most likely there will be a lot of information that falls in that category that we will then have to pay our lawyers to redact that information."

Over the past few years, Black said districts across the State have seen more requests coming in.

Black noted that different school districts have different ways to deal with the requests including posting them on the school district websites and in one case hiring someone to fulfill the requests.

Black stated he didn't think they should hire someone and says he hopes they never will have to.

"I would consider that a huge waste of taxpayers dollars," said Black.

Black said instead of filing Right to Know requests people could also call the District Office to request information.

"If you want to know something please reach out," said Black.

"The public has plenty of opportunity to learn more about the school system and can always reach out to the District Office and Schools themselves for more information on many topics," said Black.

Household Hazardous Waste Day This Saturday at LAFA

The next Londonderry Household Hazardous Waste Disposal Day: Nov. 12, from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at LAFA Complex on Sargent Road.

Hazardous waste products include fertilizers, bathroom cleaners, pesticides, antifreeze, disinfectants, corrosives, fungicide, car waxes and polishes, furniture polish, oil based paint and stains, insect spray, creosote, metal polish, rust preventative, lighter fluid, driveway sealer, mothballs, solvents, pest strips and traps, flea powder, oven cleaner, paint thinner and turpentine, pesticides, gasoline and petroleum products, roofing tar, photo chemicals, wood preservatives, poisons, radiator flush, rug cleaner, wood stripper, pool chemicals, roofing tar, and thermometers.

Specific items that people are asked not to bring to household hazardous waste collections are batteries, explosives such as fireworks and ammunition, infectious wastes, latex paints, radioactive products, water-based driveway sealer and asbestos products.

Household hazardous waste is produced when hazardous materials are no longer wanted or needed as household products. These wastes include unused paint thinners (flammable), oven cleaners (caustics) and bleach (oxidizers), and they can affect a consumer's health and contaminate the soil, ground water and surface waters.

We use hazardous products every day in our homes. They become a hazard when improper use or disposal causes a threat to the environment or to human health. Common examples are oil-based paints, solvents, drain openers, oven cleaners, polishes, waxes, pesticides, cleaning agents, and spent automotive products. Here are the properties that make these products hazardous:

- Flammable - Easily sets on fire or ignited.
- Corrosive / Caustic - Burns and destroys living tissue on contact.
- Explosive / Reactive - Detonates or explodes by exposure to heat, sudden shock, or pressure.
- Hazardous / Poisonous - Capable of causing injury or death through ingestion, inhalation, or absorption through skin.

To help you identify these hazardous products, federal law requires them to be labelled with warnings about their use, storage, and disposal. These labels include signal words to help you quickly identify hazardous products. The words "Danger" (most hazardous), "Warning," and "Caution" (least hazardous) are used to help identify the relative threat of a particular material.

The average household throws 15.5 pounds of hazardous materials into the trash each year. Household hazardous materials are disposed of in other ways, too. Certain products, such as used oil, are frequently poured down storm drains and many products end up going down the sink drain to septic systems or sewers. Flammable or reactive household chemicals can release toxic fumes or even explode if they are mixed in the trash, causing fires or injuring workers.

Dumping solvents into septic systems or landfills may contaminate ground and surface waters, ruining drinking water and killing fish and wildlife. Pesticides can damage sewage treatment plants, and oil poured into storm drains can flow directly into streams and ponds.

Every effort should be made to minimize hazardous waste. If you cannot use up the product so there's nothing left to dispose of, share what's left over with a friend. Used motor oil can be recycled monthly Saturday morning behind the fire station off Mammoth Road. Usable items, such as paint, may be donated to local service organizations. If you still can't get rid of your wastes, don't burn, bury, pour on ground, pour down drain, or discard them in the trash. Some of these activities may even violate federal, state, or local regulations.

As a service to residents, Londonderry and Derry jointly hold two household hazardous waste collection days per year in spring and fall. By safely storing your hazardous wastes, and bringing them to your local collection site, you are making sure your wastes are transported and disposed of by licensed operators in an environmentally manner.

Lancers Varsity Spirit Squad Take Fourth at State Championship

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Varsity Cheerleading team was able to perform well enough to place fourth out of 16 teams during Sunday's NHIAA Division I Championships.

The Astros were able to edge out the team from Dover High School to take their second straight title and its tenth DI Fall Championship since 2012.

Pinkerton Academy hosted the event on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 6, on what turned out to be some fairly muggy conditions inside the Hacker Gymnasium.

Out of the 16 Division

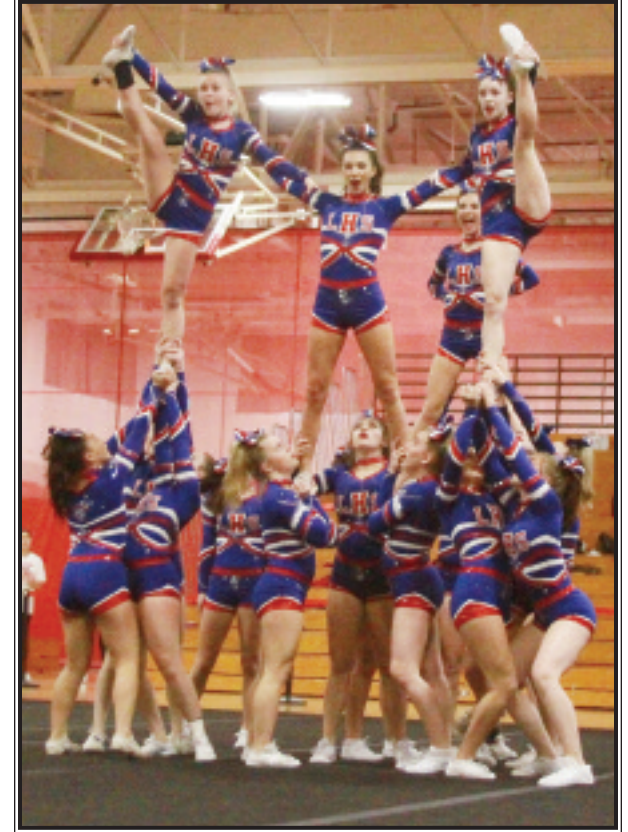

I schools taking the mat that day, less than 10-points separated the top four teams and less than a single point was the difference between the top two squads.

The Astros scored 100.9 for the title, with the Green Wave getting an even 100. Salem High School finished in third with 95-points and Londonderry High School was fourth with 91.2.

This was the first state championship for new head coach, Kendall Wiedenfeld. She was assisted by Juliana Mai-tano and Julia Thorpe.

Members of the team include seniors: Sarah Abladian; Mackenzie Bodkin; Kennedy Brown; Madison Gheris; Isabell

Roy; and Haley Buonomo. Juniors: Isabella Chick; Katie Grassis; Brenna Langley; Angelina Mochrie; Emily Ouellette; Madison Wholley; and Hailey Sibley. Sophomores: Alivia Chretien; Isabella Martinez; Brianah Rosario; and Eva Sesin. Freshman: Alexia Gorgopolois and Annabelle Hicks.

Ashley Berube Travels to Romania to Play Professional Basketball

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Since leaving Londonderry High School in 2015, Ashley Berube has been strongly moving forward with her pursuit of a professional basketball career and was recently drafted to play in Cluj Napoca Romania.

Berube was an essential member of the 2015 Division I State Championship team, although a tournament injury took her off the court in the championship game against Winnacunnet, her play and height as a center leading up to that game, was sorely needed.

That team, coached by Nick Theos, was the last Lancer squad to hoist the NHIAA trophy, and the following year, Berube finished her high school years at Tilton

School.

At the Lakes Region Prep School, she played two seasons and helped that team become the 2017 New England "B" Champions.

From there, Berube went to Central Connecticut State University in 2017 and played in the NCAA until 2011 and saw a great deal of success. A torn ACL in Berube's senior year had her missing her fourth season there, but she came back in her fifth year and scored her 1,000th point.

Her Romanian team has girls from all over the world and at a wide-range of ages. Her teammates come from Spain, Hungary, Romania, and she's the only American. They range in age from 19 to 34.

Communication with the many languages is a challenge according to

Ashley Berube

Berube.

"I'm the only American on the team so talking to my teammates is sometimes difficult because some of them speak three or four languages with English being the most recent one they've learned," Berube said.

She added, "The Romanian coach is Greek, so English is his second language and it can be hard to understand him at times."

The team's first game was back on Oct. 1, and depending on how her team fares throughout the season, they could be playing all the way until April at the Euro Cup.

"Basketball is a very popular sport in Romania, they had scrimmages and hordes of kids and adults come to watch, even when it's just a scrimmage," according to Berube.

Even with her success, and the year's that have past, Berube still talks to a lot of the girls that she won the state championship with.

She also really wanted to get the word out that despite a number of challenges in her way during her career, injuries and COVID-19 being two of them, she encourages people to follow their dreams. It certainly worked out for her.

Senior X-C Runners Take Fourth and Fifth at State MOCs

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Cross-Country team had just two runners competing in last week's New Hampshire Inter-scholastic Athletic Association's Meet of Champions (MOCs), but those two participants were able to place in the top five spots of all the Granite State runners.

Londonderry seniors, Ryan Fortin and Sean Clegg, finished second and third in the Division I State Championship at Derryfield Park in Manchester last week, allowing them to compete in the MOCs at Alvirne High School this past weekend, Saturday, Nov. 5.

In that 5K-Race, Fortin was able to finish in fourth place, with a time of 15:49.4. Clegg was just 21-seconds behind his teammate, with a time of 15:51.6, and finished in fifth-place.

Fortin's time was about 15-seconds faster than his second place time at Derryfield, which is a very tough, hilly course.

The winning race time was by Gilford senior, Patrick Gandini, who finished with a time of 15:05.2.

Both Lancer runners qualified for New England's taking place on Saturday, Nov. 12, at Ponaganset High School in North Scituate, RI.

The top 25 finishers and the top six teams qualify for that race.

Lancers to Face Tomahawks in Quarters After Bye Week

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Football team will face its first opponent in the 2022 Division I Championship this Saturday, Nov. 12, at 1 p.m. in Lancer Park.

After finishing the season at 8-0 in the division, the Lancers got the #1 seed in the tournament and had the first week off to prepare for the Quarterfinals.

The LHS squad will play Merrimack High School in their first game of the playoffs who had a 14-6 victory over Portsmouth-Oyster River in the first round.

The Tomahawks had a 6-3 record in the regular season and received the #8 seed in the playoffs.

If Londonderry wins on Saturday, they will face the winner of the Pinkerton vs. Bishop Guertin game being played on Friday night in Derry.

Principal Katie Sullivan and the LHS Pay It Forward Club.

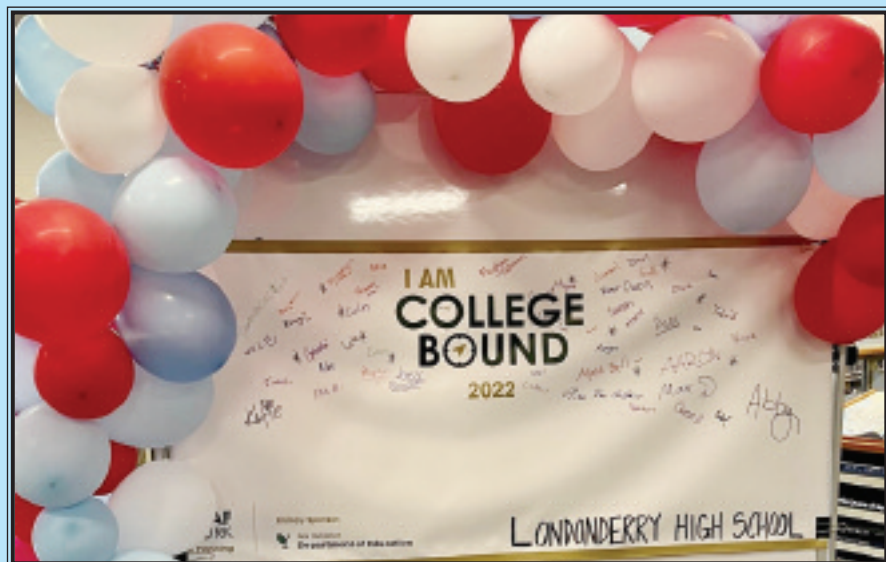

As always, the cost for Veterans to take part in the breakfast is free and donations will be accepted for guests to join in.

I Applied Day

The Londonderry High School hosted an "I Applied" Day for Graduating Seniors on Wednesday, Nov. 2 and almost 100 seniors participated in the event that was organized by LHS's School Counseling staff, headed by Director Maureen O'Dea.

Seniors received expert assistance in submitting their college applications from volunteers who are professionals in the college access field, including college admissions officers from NH colleges and representatives from NHHEAF, New Hampshire Higher Education Assistance Foundation. Students got answers to questions, received college essay feedback, and got their college applications reviewed before submission.

Students were also able to apply for free to all NH colleges and universities and were entered to win a $500 college scholarship. Courtesy photo

Freshman Football Finish 8-1

The 2022 Londonderry High School Freshman Football team went 8-1 this season. A number of the players have been together for seven years and were fortunate enough to have the same coaches from 9U through their freshman year. Team parents wish to thank Coach Bicchieri, Coach Gear, Coach Sharkey and Coach Marshall for all they did for these boys, they have guided them to be great leaders, players, teammates, and students. Joseph Strong, pictured, has been playing since he was eight years old as an offensive and defensive lineman. During his past season as a freshman he played defensive left tackle and had 14 single tackles, 18 group tackles for a total of 32. 14 of those tackles were for a loss in yards, Strong also had three sacks and a fumble recovery.

READERS ARE CAUTIONED that we occasionally run ads that require an initial investment or money in advance. We urge our readers to "do their homework" before responding to any ad, check out the advertiser thoroughly and verify their claims to your total satisfaction. Only then should you proceed at your own risk. We try to screen ads that require you to send money before receiving a product or service. But these efforts are no substitute for your own investigation, and we don't endorse or guarantee any claims made in any of the ads we publish. If you want more information about claims made in ads on subjects such as work at home opportunities, travel or vacation specials, purchasing land or vehicles from government surplus or below wholesale, loans or other credit opportunities (including credit repair), or weight loss and other health products and services, we urge you to contact the Office of Attorney General, Consumer Protection Bureau, 33 Capitol Street, Concord, NH 03301 (603-271-3641) or the Better Business Bureau at 603-224-1991.
