Changes Made to Cell Phone Policy at Middle & High School

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The School Board received an update regarding the middle and high school's revised cell phone policies during the July 25 meeting. One of the biggest changes Middle School Principal, William Van Bennekum, pointed to about the policy is students needing to keep their phones off/silenced during the school day and keeping their phones in a backpack or a locker. Van Bennekum said they are giving the option of phones being silenced, saying if something were to happen it could take a few moments for a phone to turn back on if it's powered off.

"Silenced may be more reasonable," Van Bennekum said. Another change Van Bennekum pointed to is that since all students have Chromebooks starting this year, students won't be asked to download apps on phones for educational purposes. Van Bennekum said continued on page 11

Plans for a Gate on "Old" Mammoth Road Proposed

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Traffic concerns at the intersection of Mammoth, Page, and Grenier Field roads were addressed once again at the Traffic Safety Committee meeting in July and the result was to move the issue forward to the Town Council where they could weigh the merits of installing a gate to stop cut-through traffic.

The intersection, located on what is commonly referred to as "Old" Mammoth Road, in the Londonderry "Village", has been of concern by area residents for a number of years has been discussed several times by the Traffic Safety Committee.

Londonderry's Director of Engineering and Environmental Services, John Trottier, was asked to examine the issues and come up with possible solutions to the problem, he shared his results with those attending the meeting.

Trottier explained a number of possible solutions to the problem at the busy intersection.

One solution would involve new striping on the road and would not require any road construction. He said the striping would act as a traffic calming solution that would slow traffic down. This solution would also involve new signage.

Another plan was to make three-way stops all along the corridor leading to the intersection. This solution would not require any pavement alterations and each intersection along that section of Mammoth Rd., would have three-way stop signs added. There would be stops created at Buckthorn Street, Foxglove St., Weymouth, Hall, and Sanborn roads.

The third solution involved the installation of two speed tables (Speed continued on page 7

Tesla Looks to Construct Dealership Near Airport

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

One of the agenda items during the July 27 Heritage Commission meeting was in regards to a design review for a site plan to construct a 50,180 square foot building containing offices, sales area, and service bays for a Tesla automobile sales and service facility along with associated site improvements at 36 Industrial Drive.

Jim Petropulos, who was representing the applicant, said the property is in the northwest corner of Londonderry and the 8.3-acre parcel is located in the Gateway Business District, which they received a variance for.

He then divulged that the Tesla automotive company would be the business occupying the facility if all goes to plan.

"It's intended to be the new home for Tesla," Petropulos said.

Petropulos said while Tesla is a global company, the one they are looking to build in Londonderry would be the first in New Hampshire.

"This would be the first of such facilities here in NH," Petropulos said.

In terms of parking for the facility, Petropulos stated that they are proposing to have 305 parking spaces. He noted that the spaces would be some for customers, some for employees, some for storage of vehicles, some for sales, and some for visitors.

Traffic Concerns Raised For Potential Pettengill Road Project

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

A conceptual site plan discussion for a proposed 175,000 square foot “high cube” warehouse at 60 Pettengill Rd was talked about during the July 12 Planning Board meeting.

It was explained by Bob Duval, representing the applicant, that the project would be across the street from the future site of New Balance, which was recently approved by the board.

Duval explained that they would have goods coming and going and wouldn't have items sitting in the warehouse for long periods of time.

Duval said they would have relatively low traffic counts with 150 to 200 employees. He added that they would have around 300 trips and possibly 50-100 truck trips per day. He also noted that they generally try to avoid peak hours for traffic when it comes to scheduling shifts.

“This is an industrial use in an industrial neighborhood,” Duval said.

Duval explained that they will be doing a full traffic study for the site and they would be working closely with Director of Engineering and Environmental Services, John Trottier, since the town is working on a comprehensive traffic study for the area.

“It's on our radar,” Trottier said.

When asked what kind of trucks would be going to the site, Duval said “these would almost be exclusively 18 wheelers.”

Planning Board member, Ann Chiampa, expressed concerns about the traffic, saying that its an unsignalized, single lane road in each direction and its similar concerns she had about the New Balance site.

“I think we ought to take a serious look at that intersection and do something,” Chiampa said.

Duval said that himself and other developers are sending information to Trottier about projects they have on their radars, saying they want to make sure the roads can handle the capacity.

Assistant Town Manager, Kellie Caron, noted that it is a “prime example” of a site they would be looking at for their study on traffic in the area.

“We're taking all of that into consideration,” Caron stated.

Planning Board Secretary, Jake Butler, said he's confident that traffic will be looked at for the area.

“I'm fairly confident that our town staff will be looking at the traffic,” Butler said.

Planning Board Alternate member, Tony DeFrancesco, thinks it's a good use for the site.

“I think this is a perfect application for this site,” DeFrancesco said.

No timeline was given during the meeting for when a formal site application will be submitted for the site.

The next Planning Board meeting is scheduled to take place on Aug. 2 at 7 p.m.

Electronic Message Board Denied on Rockingham Road

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

At the July 19 Zoning Board of Adjustment meeting, two variance requests for 3 Rockingham Road were in discussion.

Owner, Richard Leiterthat, explained that they had a sign for the business, but it was torn down due to the recent windstorm. Since he needs to put a new one up, they need to get a variance to have a 13 foot sign in height, while only 10 feet is allowed. He added that the previous sign was grandfathered in.

In addition to the sign, Leiterthat said there is a pair of neon clocks on the peak of the sign for the furniture business.

“They have been there for 30 plus years that I know of,” Leiterthat said.

Leiterthat said in addition to needing to comply with the regulation for the height, he also needs to move the sign back to comply with the 15 feet setback.

He noted they wouldn't have the sign any higher than it was originally.

“I just feel that would be an injustice for us,” Leiterthat said about potentially losing visibility.

Leiterthat said they have been making improvements to the property and having the sign back up would be the last step.

“This is kind of the last step to do that,” Leiterthat said.

The ZBA approved the variance for the height of the sign.

Also during the meeting, the board heard a variance request to allow an electronic changeable messaging sign for the site.

Leiterthat explained that they were looking for a way for their staff to not have to go outside during cold winter days or in general to change the sign.

“We're trying to create an atmosphere that's a little safer for changing our sign out,” Leiterthat said.

Leiterthat stated that they aren't going to have a flashing sign for the message board and instead it would be a static reader sign, and it wouldn't be flashing on the sign.

“Our intention is for it to be static,” Leiterthat said.

Leiterthat said there are a number of examples of the signs in Londonderry, including at the high school and most of the gas stations at Exit 4 and 5. He also noted that they would only be able to have words and numbers on the message board.

Tesla Plan

In terms of landscaping, Petropulos said the focus is on green space on Industrial Dr., and Pettengill Rd.

He explained that they are proposing to have 166 trees and shrubs planted and would have purple lilacs “baked into the design.”

For the color, Petropulos stated that it is “really the Tesla branding,” noting it would be a combination of light and dark gray and red accent strips in the front.

In terms of signage, Petropulos said they will have a ground sign near the driveway entrance

In terms of the clock, Leiterthat said the clock has a neon light around the outside of it, which was there before.

Vice Chair, Suzanne Brunelle, said that one of the issues she saw with the electronic message board sign is safety with people being distracted by it.

“I have an issue with the safety,” Brunelle said.

The ZBA denied the variance for the electronic message board and for the clocks.

Vice Chair, Art Rugg, thought the proposal was a good design.

“It looks like a good design to me,” Rugg said.

The Heritage Commission recommended that the plan be approved by the Planning Board as submitted with recommendations being that there are plants at the base of the ground sign. It was also recommended to have screening of the rooftop units.

Petropulos said Tesla was looking forward to having a facility in the state.

“They're excited to hopefully have a new facility here in Londonderry,” Petropulos said.

Superintendent Black Addresses Bus Driver's Arrest

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During the Tuesday evening, July 25, School Board meeting, Superintendent Dan Black addressed the recent arrest of a, now former, bus driver for Student Transportation of America, the company contracted with the district to provide bus services.

According to a press release from the Derry Police Department 29-year-old Sean Bailey was arrested and charged on July 19 with Aggravated Felonious Sexual Assault; Victim under 13 years old, Possession of Child Sexual Abuse Images, and Manufacturing Child Sexual Abuse Images.

"We are definitely disturbed by this fact," Black said.

Black said thus far the investigation has indicated that none of the actions that allegedly occurred was while Bailey was driving a bus for the district.

"The actions that led to his arrest were from his personal life and are not related to his role as a bus driver for STA nor were any Londonderry students victimized or involved in this investigation that led to his arrest," Black said.

Black added they are continuing to ask the community to send information about the driver, if people have any, which will then be sent to the Derry Police Department.

Black said that based on public information the investigation began on July 10.

"At that time the Londonderry School District did not know about this investigation.

The driver did complete a bus route on July 12, and July 15 for STA with Londonderry students that were sponsored by a booster club," Black said.

Black said that Bailey wasn't with the team for the overnight portion of the trips and just drove them back and forth.

He also mentioned that the district and STA didn't receive any complaints regarding the trip, but they are reviewing it, along with his other times driving for the district.

According to Black

the district was notified about the pending arrest on July 19, but by then Bailey had already resigned from the company.

Later in the meeting, during public comment, resident Jonathan Esposito asked if the school board would entertain a conversation with the administration about making changes to the vendor qualification procedures.

"If we had more robust procedures in the background that we were required to check the box on we could then kind of enforce more robust background checks on the other end," Esposito said.

Another resident, Moira Ryan, said passing a background check just means someone doesn't have a on the record arrest or conviction and that they should be doing more including social media checks.

Bailey passed a criminal background check, before being hired by the bus company, Black said.

"I'm telling you to revamp your background checks and do more," Ryan responded.

Zoning Denies Childcare Center Variance Request

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Zoning Board of Adjustment held a public hearing recently on a variance request to allow a child care facility at 25 Orchard View Drive, which is in the C-I Zone, and isn't normally permitted.

It was explained by Joseph Thai, who was representing the owner of the property, Brilor Corporation, that they were looking to turn the bank building into a childcare center.

Thai said he didn't expect for any property values to be diminished because of the particular type of use.

"The childcare center as proposed would be professionally designed and operated in a first-class manner," Thai said.

One concern raised was the amount of traffic and where the outdoor space would be.

"I just know there's a lot of traffic, and to me, that's a safety concern," Vice Chair, Suzanne Brunelle, said.

Thai said they would be looking to have it on the side closest to the property line that doesn't get as much traffic and for it to be fenced in.

"There would be an outdoor space as required," Thai said.

Jamie Getchell, who would be the proposed tenant for the child care center, said her husband, Ryan Getchell, own, Nest Family Cafe, next door, which has an area for kids and free events among other things, which would be in the same plaza as the child center.

"It's a coffee shop basically for people who have children in town," Getchell said.

Getchell added, the main concern they hear from parents is there not being enough childcare in the area.

"What we keep hearing is a huge need for childcare in town," Getchell said.

Getchell also stated that they would have a drop off model where people can pay just for the hours needed or could sign up for full-time care.

Ryan explained there are many children who have gone to their cafe location since it opened, including young children, which means there are already children who are in the parking lot at times.

He said if there are concerns with security or safety then they could work with the town on it.

Ryan said what they are proposing would help parents in the community.

No one spoke out against the proposal during the meeting.

Brunelle said the Zoning Board has no leeway and the use would be a substantial change compared to what's there now, with mostly retail.

"It would be a substantial change to what is in there," Brunelle said. Leading to members ultimately denying the variance request.

Editorial

There are three sides to every story. Theirs, Yours, and the Truth Facts are Facts. They are static, not changing based on our opinion or interpretation.

Unfortunately, when telling a set of facts to another, we inevitably do so in narrative form. We present the facts, but it is our understanding or interpretation of them, not necessary the truth. This personal bias is human nature; it is unavoidable, often subconscious, and there are many influences that affect someone's view of an event.

In my profession you have to be inquisitive. Getting the facts involves listening to people's narratives, and being a puzzle master, finding pieces that fit together to give the public the most comprehensive view of a story.

Because life is not black or white, but often a shade of gray, the way we communicate events to one another often falls into the gray. This differs from the newspaper, which should be just the facts, absent emotion or opinion, which is a challenge.

Whenever someone tells a story, it's through their perspective and how they experience it, and any narrative is bound to have a slight variation on the absolute truth. Parties on different sides of an issue often have grounds to feel wronged, have a need to be heard, or a worry of feeling unheard. It is best to gather as many sides as possible before one makes conclusions.

Lately, at public meetings we have heard references to "controlling the narrative". There is a persistent trend in our community in which a set of facts or issue arises that is perhaps unpleasant. Instead of the powers that should be tackling these issues, they attempt to "control the narrative", to minimize the unpleasant nature. They do so in seemingly innocuous ways; their narratives appear reasonable, but when examined closely, do not bear up as accurate.

Set emotion aside when listening to the often-charged conversations that occur at public meetings. How we feel about things matters less than having a clear understanding of what actually happened. Let's avoid being guilty of "Controlling the Narrative" and avoid putting words into others mouths, making assumptions, or omitting important facts that change the whole story.

At the end of the day, no one is telling you the absolute truth, they simply cannot. There are always many sides or perspectives to the story. The best things one can do is examine the facts and determine the truth for themselves. It is only then that the truth begins to take shape. The truth has a way of getting out eventually!

Letters

Speaking for Tim

To the editor,
I write in response to the news stories and recent letter to the editor about Tim Siekmann.

Those accused of a crime are considered innocent until proven guilty. I believe that Tim will be proven innocent, if his case goes to trial after his arraignment in September.

I have known Tim for many years and have seen him and his wife Tammy be active community members and generous parents. Tim does a tremendous amount of volunteer work, including maintaining the Democratic headquarters at the Meeting House on Mammoth Road, a project which his wife Tammy chairs.

According to the newspapers, the offensive material was found on a work computer, not a personal computer. Tim often works from home, so that computer was at his Londonderry home. Tim is in charge of technology for the company he works for, so it is very possible that someone else had downloaded the corrupt material. Tim was not aware it was on this computer.

Furthermore, this may have been a computer he found in the barn next to the Meeting House, which he repurposed for his office. If so, he apparently failed to strip it totally clean. I believe that if Tim had known these heinous downloads were on one of his office computers, he would have removed them. It is my opinion from knowing Tim as an upstanding citizen of Londonderry that he will be proven innocent, so let's not convict him so quickly.

There are, sadly in recent years, many cases where innocent people have been accused of being pedophiles and their reputations ruined, despite their being entirely innocent. So please assume Tim is innocent until he has had his day in court.

Steps Not Taken

To the editor,
It is August 1st. We are approximately 23 days until an individual accused of child sex crimes is scheduled to tour my child's school District as part of his official role on the Town of Londonderry's budget committee.

As of today's date I have received no response from either the school board, the school district superintendent team, or the Town Council or Town Manager regarding what constructive steps have been taken (not brainstorming, actual steps) to protect our Schools and children.

The Town did not bother to reply to my petition requesting that we seek Superior Court action in removing this individual from office.

I hope journalists copied will take note of this significant leadership failure in our community to protect our most valuable resource-our children.

Experienced Londonderry Organizer Returns to Host Baby Contest

PAUL CONYERS
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The 2023 Old Home Day Celebration will feature a return of the town's annual baby contest, celebrating the newest baby miss and masters of Londonderry. Mandy Harrison of the Old Home Day Committee also volunteered to oversee the event after running the contest for the past three years.

"I grew up in town, and Old Home Day was my favorite thing each year!" exclaimed Harrison. The organization for the baby contest includes everything from making cookies for attendees to making sashes for the winners.

The baby contest has proven to be extremely popular in Londonderry, with around 25 babies entered every year. Harrison sees no evidence that 2023 will be any different as entries are already coming in.

Local resident and father, Randy Williams, will be the master of ceremonies while a panel of four judges will include "Miss Londonderry, Miss Outstanding Teen Londonderry, John Antonellis, our Grand Marshall in town, and Julie Bicchieri, a local in-home preschool teacher," said Harrison. Judges will choose a "Little Miss and a Little Master 2023, each winner will get a prize basket with toys, and gift cards."

The seat for Miss Outstanding Teen is still open and will be chosen after the teen competition on Sun. Aug. 6.

Harrison has been working with the town for the past few weeks organizing the event, gathering everything from prizes to chairs and tents for the audience. She and her fellow committee members plan to be there early.

All families entering the contest will get a small gift, plus a raffle ticket for a chance to win a parent's night out basket full of gift cards good at local Londonderry restaurants.

"We're collecting lots of gift cards, which is what I've done the last few years," said Harrison, referring to the ongoing process of gathering prizes. "There are lots of gift cards and products for house cleaning, car detailing, lots of coffee gift cards, 15 different restaurants have given me two, and I have someone who works for Discovery Toys that has given me a bunch of things to put in the basket. Lots of local businesses have donated!"

The baby contest will be the first event of Saturday celebrations on Aug. 19, starting between 8:30 and 9 a.m., right before the parade. The contest will be held on the main stage of the Town Common.

For interested families, registration will remain open for the next couple of weeks, with

Sat. Aug. 12 is set as the last day to register.

There is a $10 entry fee to be collected on the day of the contest. While only babies born after Aug. 19, 2022, are eligible to enter, families of all ages are welcome.

Interested parties can register online at: www.londonderrynh.gov/sites/g/files/vyh-lif4616/f/uploads/baby_contest_form_2023.pdf

Former Londonderry Police Chief Sworn in to National Post

The former Londonderry Police Chief, William Ryan Hart Jr., was sworn in as a United States Marshal on Friday, July 28, in a ceremony at the U.S. Marshal Service Headquarters in Arlington, Virginia.

U.S. Marshal Service Director, Ronald L. Davis, swore in Chief Hart Jr. as the US Marshal for the District of New Hampshire along with four other Marshals representing the Districts of Utah, Montana, Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Hart retired from the Londonderry Police Department in August of 2022 and was nominated for his newest post by U.S. Senators Senator Jeanne Shaheen that year.

The U.S. Marshal Service is the oldest federal law enforcement agency in the United States, created in 1789 by President George Washington with the passing of the Judiciary Act of 1789.

Marshal Hart signed his oath of office on what is known in the U.S. Marshal Service as the "Wyatt Earp Desk." While the desk did not belong to Wyatt Earp, it is documented that he wrote a letter on the desk.

The desk has been used to sign the oaths of office of every U.S. Marshal ever since.

ZBA Approve Special Exception For Home Occupation

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

One of the agenda items during the July 19 Zoning Board of Adjustment meeting was on a special exception in order to allow a home occupation business at 3 King Phillip Drive.

It was explained by the owner, Holly Osborne, that she currently owns a beauty business in Bedford, but is planning on starting school in the Fall and will be going to a part time schedule.

She said since she would only be working on Wednesdays and Fridays she decided to pursue doing the business from her home rather than a separate business.

"That's why I was looking to do a home occupation instead," Osborne said.

In terms of parking, she explained that they would only have a maximum of two cars parked there at any time and they wouldn't have any one parking off site.

Osborne said she doesn't expect to have more than four to five clients per day and they would only be there from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. for the couple of days a week they would be open.

She stated that with the hours they are open, they wouldn't likely have any major issues with traffic because people would already be going to work in the morning before they open.

"It won't generate any more traffic than normal," Osborne said.

For signage, Osborne said they would have a small sign on the back of the house where people would be entering, indicating where the business is. She added that they wouldn't be doing any advertising and or marketing, stating all of her clients are regulars.

One question raised was the disposing of any potential chemicals. Osborne said the only hazard they use is ace-tone, but there is a special way to dispose of it that she follows, which is safe. She said they also use antibacterial wipes that are easy to dispose of.

Osborne said they wouldn't have any employees working for her other than herself.

"Its just myself," Osborne said.

It was also noted that they wouldn't be making any major exterior or interior renovations in order to have the home occupation.

No one from the public spoke for or against the applicant during the meeting.

The ZBA ultimately approved the special exception during the meeting.

The ZBA is set to meet again on Aug.16 at 7 p.m.

Gate Plan

Bumps), one near the Rail Trail Crossing and one closer to the intersection of Page.

Trottier also told the committee that the town had looked into closing Mammoth Road at the southern entrance back in 2015 when they were constructing a pumping station, but found it to be unfeasible due to construction costs and traffic issues that would be created.

He also talked about the idea of making the intersection a four-way stop again, installing an overhead traffic light and a gate on Mammoth Road.

His recommendation was to just stripe the road with double yellow and white stripping along "Old" Mammoth.

Mammoth Road resident, Eric Morin, spoke on the solutions, saying that he liked what was proposed, the striping and the stop signs would help, "Maybe not that many of them," he added. He thought the traffic tables would definitely slow traffic down. "If we had two of those, it would solve 90% of the problems."

He also noted that commuter traffic going to the airport area in the morning and in the afternoon is a large part of the problem as well as speed. He added that people use his road as a way to avoid the stoplight on Rockingham Road.

Resident, Robin Stewart, also spoke on the problems along her road, saying that lines on the road wouldn't help with the speed people are traveling.

She mentioned that the Rail Trail has lots of kids crossing the road without looking. "It's like you're asking for something fatal to happen."

Stewart also expressed concerns with trucks backing down the road and parking along the road.

She thinks the only solution is to close the road on one side.

Town Council Chairman, John Farrell, who was attending the meeting, suggested that the residents of the area put together a petition to express to the Council that they want a gate installed to close the road.

Resident, Steve Kelly, also felt the only solution would be a gate closing off the village area.

The town's main concern to the gate was truck turning. Trottier thought it would create a problem with the local business located near the rail trail.

Robert Labreux of Hall Road, disagreed with the gate solution, saying he uses Mammoth to go north to Manchester and a gate would cause more issues than solutions. He felt lining the roads would be a big benefit to the area.

Brian Mead said he has been coming to the meetings since 2018 and the issue has continued to be tabled since then to now. "I'm looking for a timeline." Saying this committee has just been kicking the can down the road and getting nothing accomplished.

Town Manager, Mike Malaguti, interjected and he felt the Safety Committee has reached the end of what they are able to do with this problem and felt that citizens need to bring this to the Town Council for the solution.

He felt the gate solution would be the only solution to both the speed issues and the cut-through traffic headed to and from the airport.

Malaguti said the Safety Committee should recommend to the Council that they come up with a solution to the problem through discussions with residents of the area, the Department of Public Works, Fire, and Police.

OBITUARY

Daniel "Dan" Bever

On July 24, 2023, Daniel "Dan" Bever of York ME, bravely succumbed to glioblastoma after a valiant year-long battle, leaving behind a legacy that will forever be cherished.

Born in Ohio on Aug. 12, 1954, Dan was a man of unwavering dedication, compassion and strength. He embraced life with humor, wit and an enthusiasm that touched the lives of all who had the privilege of knowing him. As a husband, he was a true pillar of support and love, always putting his family's needs before his own. His bond with his wife was a testament to the power of love, and his role as a father was marked by boundless affection, guidance and wisdom. He leaves behind his wife Donna of 43 years; his sons, Dan and his partner Devin of Tuscon, AZ; Tom and wife Challisa of Tuscon, AZ; daughter Kate Goddard and husband Jim of Melrose, MA; five grandchildren Miles, Jaxon, Bailey, Lily and Sophie; two brothers Dennis and David of Ohio; and several nieces and nephews.

In the professional realm, Dan's accomplishments were nothing short of exceptional. He led by example, rising to the position of president of Duncan Galvanizing in Everett, MA where he worked for 35 years. In addition he served as the president for the American Galvanizing Association in 2018. His colleagues admired his vision, integrity and the ability to inspire others.

Beyond his career, Dan was also a devoted advocate for education. He received his undergraduate degree from Ohio State University in Accounting and Finance and acquired his MBA from Ohio University. He selflessly served on the Londonderry, NH school board for 9 years striving to enhance the quality of education for all students. His commitment to nurturing young minds and providing opportunities for growth reflected his deep belief in the power of knowledge.

Throughout his battle with glioblastoma, Dan's resilience and courage were inspiring. He faced each day with unwavering determination, never allowing his illness to define him. Despite the challenges, he maintained his commitment to his family and friends, remaining an anchor of strength even in the face of adversity. Dan's departure leaves a void that can never be filled. His legacy of love, perseverance, and leadership will continue to resonate in the lives of all those he touched.

A celebration of Dan's life will be held on Friday Aug. 18, at Foster's Clambake on 5 Axholme Rd., York, ME from 2 - 4 p.m., where family, friends and neighbors are invited to gather in his honor. In lieu of flowers, the family kindly requests donations be made to support patients and families experiencing glioblastoma and other forms of brain cancer through Maine Medical Center's Neuro Oncology Fund.

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Greater Derry Track Club (GDTC) had another break in the weather on Monday evening, July 31, and was able to send waves of runners off on the Londonderry High School track to participate in the second set of Summer Fun Run races.

The annual series has been stifled this season due to the weather cancellations and the six set of races has been cut to three this summer.

Races are run in several age groups from two-and-up, with the results of the 9-13 ages being recorded for end-of-season prizes.

In the younger age groups, every participant receives a ribbon for competing.

The top three finishers in the second week of racing were:

In the boys' 9-year-old group: Rylan Cullen of Derry was first, Ross Morrison of Londonderry was second, and TJ Satusosso of Derry was third.

The girls' 9-year-old group had Sasha Solovyeva of Hudson finish in first, Audrey Pisani of Derry was second, and Zoey MacAskill of Londonderry took third.

The boys' 10-year-old group had Andrew Solovyev of Hudson take first with Colin McKenna of Derry in second, and Reid Spencer of Londonderry in third.

In the girls' 10-year-old group, Calina MacGillivray of Londonderry came in first, Brooke Reiff of Windham was second, and Lacy Manzer of Londonderry was third.

In the boys' 11-year-old race, Uriah Geisser of Londonderry was first, Nicholas Tiney of Sandown was second, and Toby Molloy of Manchester took third.

In the girls' 11-year-old race, Meghan Mullaney and Adelynn Mullaney of Derry finished in first and second.

In the boys' 12-year-old race, Bennett MacCulloch of Londonderry was first, Jacob Tiney of Sandown finished second, and Raymond Blethen of Londonderry was third.

The girls' 12-year-old division, Emma Cyr of Londonderry was first, Isley Morrison of Londonderry came in second, and Kelsey Satusosso of Derry finished in third.

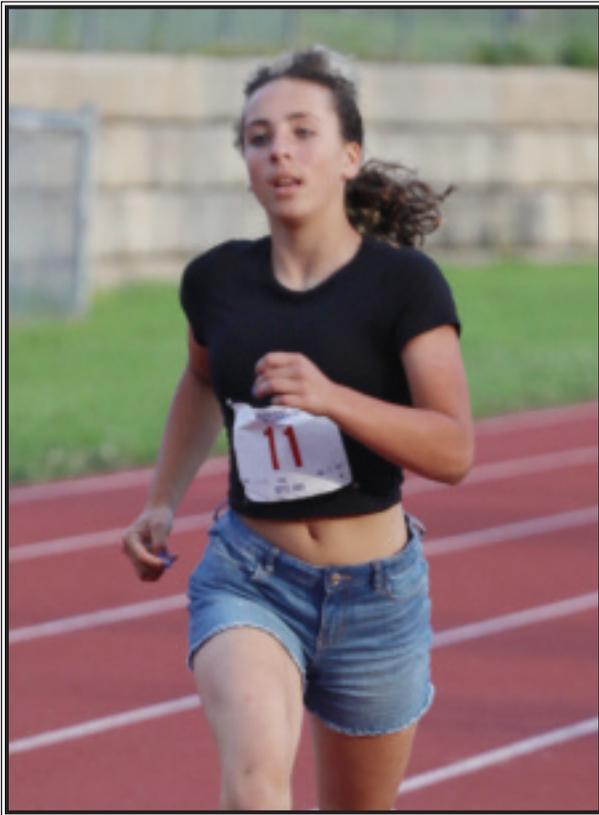

For the boys' 13-year-old group, Mason Hernandez of Londonderry took first and Dimitri Sarantis of Pelham was second.

For the 13-year-old group, Stella Dutton of Windham was first and Jocelyn McGarry of Windham took second.

The final night of the series will be held on Monday night, Aug. 7, starting at 6:30 p.m. at the LHS track. Registration starts at 6 p.m. followed by races starting at 6:30.

Non-perishable food donations are appreciated as an entry fee to help support local food pantries.

Tennis Anyone?

The first half of the third annual Londonderry Tennis Camp took place during the final week of June. The second week will take place from Aug. 21 to Aug. 25, from 9 to 11 a.m. The hot weather and the constant threat of rain, made it necessary to split the camp up this year. Those interested in participating in the second week should contact Roberta Davis at LondonderryTenniscamp@gmail.com for more information.

Cell Phones

Continued from page 1 that there are times when they are used in productive ways and there will be some flexibility for teachers to allow them from time to time for educational purposes.

As part of the policy, students won't be allowed to use their phones to "call, text message, email, or electronically communicate with others from their devices, including other students, parents, guardians, friends, and family, during the school day."

No phones will be allowed to be brought to physical education class, the locker rooms, or any restrooms in the building.

Students will also be forbidden to "photograph, video, and/or audiotape any student or staff member without their consent," according to the policy.

School Board member, Tim Porter, said he was concerned about letting phones be used in classrooms based on discretion and asked if there could be some notice given to parents when they would be used in classrooms.

Van Bennekum said it may need to be vetted more as they go along.

New High School Principal, Rick Barnes, said they had a group of a few administrators and students look at the policy.

"This was pretty much my first task looking at cell phone policy," Barnes said.

He said previously there was no formal policy for cell phone use at the high school level.

"At the high school there really wasn't anything," Barnes said.

"To provide the best possible learning environment, unauthorized use of any personal electronic or audio/visual device is prohibited in classrooms and resource areas," the policy reads.

The policy also outlines what the consequences would be for using electronic devices improperly, ranging from a warning for a first offense, to making a formal referral to the administration.

Also as part of the policy, like at the middle school, "personal electronic devices may be used in the classrooms or resource areas at the discretion of the teacher; students are required to get permission before using any electronic device in class."

Personal electronic devices are "generally permitted outside of the classroom in common areas such as hallways, the cafeteria, and the library media center," according to the policy.

"Students will be expected to immediately comply with any staff member's request to cease use of their personal devices in the common areas as they deem appropriate," the policy reads. "Students who do not comply will be subject to further disciplinary action."

The policy also makes clear that it is "expressly forbidden to photograph, video, and/or audiotape any student or staff member without their consent."

Barnes said he expects it to be a major change with the new policy in place next year.
