Stonehenge Road Rotary Plan Gets Official State Approval

Representatives from the New Hampshire Department of Transportation (NHDOT) held a public hearing on Thursday, June 15, to give new details about a proposed ‘roundabout’ at the intersection of Route 28 and Stonehenge Road.

Ray Chadwick and Terry Pfaff oversaw the meeting.

“No major improvements have been made over the years, with the exception of the Stonehenge Road widening in 2018,” said Chadwick.

“The road experiences long delays during peak traffic hours, requiring modifications to safely allow traffic to enter NH 28.”

A roundabout concept for the intersection was green-lit by the Londonderry Town Council late last year. Stonehenge was originally slated for improvement in 2017 with a cost of $1.7 million with 50 percent of the funding coming from Londonderry, although the town’s contribution has since been replaced by a price cap of $1 million as the project cost has risen to over $4 million.

“Funding for this project will include federal and town of Londonderry funds, and we do not anticipate funds from any other sources,” said Pfaff. “The town’s portion is limited to $1 million, reducing further financial risk to Londonderry.”

Rising costs have been a concern throughout the design process, especially with inflation over the past two-years.

Chadwick called the June meeting a “significant milestone” to the “final design” phase before construction.

Plan for 264 Unit Apartment Complex at Woodmont OK’d

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Planning Board had a public hearing for a formal review of a site plan for a proposed development of a 264 dwelling unit, multi-family, residential development with associated parking and amenities, on Michels Way during the June 7 meeting.

It was explained by Marc Seck, who was representing the applicant, that they were in front of the Planning Board during the fall informally before they formally applied for a conditional use permit.

He said they met with the Heritage Commission twice and the Conservation Commission to get feedback along with working with the different town departments. He added that they have been working to address comments and concerns.

Seck explained that they would have two different building types and that every building has two entrances to come in and out of.

He said they looked at brick, but was drawn towards stone and the Heritage Commission agreed that stone was the right look.

Seck said they would have centralized mail at the clubhouse and some sort of short term parking for drop offs there.

“There’s no individual mail drop off at the building,” Seck said.

He stated that the main entrance would be adjacent to the clubhouse and they will have

The Utilities Committee was still establishing its procedures for the rest of the year at its June 6 meeting.

“Has everybody looked to set themselves up with a Londonderrynh.org email address?” asked Utilities Chair, Lynn Wiles. “I’m not sending any more emails out to private addresses because of the nature of the work we do, I want emails to be available in the public domain.”

Despite a push to limit emails to a town account, a few members continued having technical difficulties with their new accounts. Wiles promised to send out instructions to members on how to set up a government email account.

Planning Board Hear Concept For Buildings on Nashua Road

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Planning Board had a conceptual review and non-binding discussion for a proposed 50,000 square foot building along with associated site improvements for the property at 308 Nashua Road during the June 14 meeting.

It was explained by Karl Dubai, who was representing the owner and applicant GJC Development, that they would have two buildings as part of their proposal, with the left side being used by Steve Jacques, who owns EMR Drywall.

"These are two brother and sister buildings," Dubai said.

Dubai said the property is about seven acres in size and they have been working with the town planning department along with the Department of Transportation.

"There will be some off site improvement plans," Dubai said.

He stated that they would have parking in the front for the businesses.

The drywall business would be on the left side of the property, on the second floor would be his offices, and on the first floor it would be used for storage of some equipment and materials.

Dubai said they are proposing to have garage door bays so they can bring trucks in at night.

"We'd load the trucks in, load the trucks up with material, and then the next day they're off and running," Dubai said.

He noted that they would mostly have box trucks.

Dubai explained that they are proposing to have the drywall business on the left side of the property since it's closer to other commercial businesses.

He said the building on the right side is proposed to be used as a restaurant.

"We think it would do well," Dubai said.

Dubai noted that when they originally started the project before they had a restaurant in mind, but it isn't a guarantee they will be going there anymore.

In addition, they would also have some commercial services and offices there as well as part of the proposal currently.

He said they would likely have metal buildings, but aren't committed to anything yet.

If they aren't able to find a restaurant for the building then their second option is to go with retail for the space. Dubai said they wouldn't develop the building to be used as a restaurant unless they have a tenant in place.

"We tend to be picky about our tenants," Dubai said.

The next Planning Board meeting will take place on July 5 at 7 p.m.

Planning Board Recommend Rezoning of Mammoth Road Property

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

During the June 7 Planning Board meeting, one item discussed was a rezoning request by Page Rock LLC, who was looking to rezone 556 Mammoth Road from a AR-1 Agricultural-Residential zone to a C-II commercial zone. The property is located at the intersection of Mammoth and Grenier Field roads.

It was explained by Brad Westgagte, a lawyer representing the applicant, that they were in front of the board last August and received a favorable recommendation from the Town Council to rezone three properties, however, they never went in front of the Town Council.

"You did favorably recommend that rezoning," Westgate said.

He said at the time they were in negotiations with the abutting property owner and said they thought it would be good for it all to be rezoned together.

"It didn't pan out that way," said Westgate.

He said now they are looking to rezone one lot to C-II, which is the smallest lot out of the three.

"All we're looking to do is rezone the smallest lot," Westgate said.

He said there are a number of uses in the area including industrial, houses, and undevelopable Ar-1 properties.

Westgate told the Planning Board that they are looking to have all of the three properties they own to be zoned the same, noting the other two properties are zoned C-II.

If all goes to plan and they eventually get the property rezoned, Westgate said the plan is to go forward with a proposal to build a 40 unit apartment complex, which is what they also proposed last year.

"We're simply looking to rezone about a third of an acre," Westgate said.

Westgate stated that if they are approved for rezoning and are able to advance in the process they would be bringing a traffic engineer on board to see where they place the driveways. He added that they would also eventually be bringing a full site plan forward, which would include things like landscape plans.

"It's a little premature in the process," Westgate said.

Planning Board member, Ann Chiampa, said she has concerns with it because it is on a busy corner and at times it can be difficult.

Planning Board Chair, Arthur Rugg, noted they could address those concerns when a site plan proposal is in front of them.

The Planning Board voted 6-1-1 to recommend approval by the Town Council for the property to be rezoned with Ex-Officio, Ted Combes, abstaining saying he wanted to wait until he could vote at the Town Council meeting. Chiampa voted against it.

wayfinding signs throughout.

One suggestion made during the meeting was to have stone facades for any of the buildings people can see from the road instead of just having clapboard facades.

Planning Board alternate member, Tony DeFrancesco, said he also agreed. He said it's like a waterfront property where you need two fronts, people driving by should see the "pretty side" and not the back of the building that's not being used.

He said he thinks both the front and back should look the same. He also suggested they have landscaping on the backside of the property to "soften it up."

"I think you've done a great job, but let's put a bow around it and make it even a little bit better," DeFrancesco said.

Seck said they are within the design guidelines, but would be willing to add stone to three more buildings for a total of seven.

"We're within the design guidelines," Seck said.

DeFrancesco said the school district doesn't drive buses on private roads and that it hasn't gone well for developments when it comes to private roads proposing they do so.

He suggested they contact the school district to figure out how to bus students safely, who may live in the development.

One note Seck made is that they haven't designed the swimming pool or green area yet.

"You can expect (a) lounge type area," Seck said.

The Planning Board ruled in favor of a conditional approval with conditions being that they add the stone to the additional three buildings and they add vegetation to the garage area.

LHS Valedictorian and Salutatorian Head to Next Level

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Londonderry High School Class of 2023 celebrated its accomplishments on June 9, which included this year's valedictorian, Dylan Wrisley, and salutatorian, Isabel Schickler.

Dylan Wrisley

Wrisley said despite a demanding schedule, he is happy to be able to earn the valedictorian honor.

"After all the hard work and demanding schedule, trying to keep up with school, work, sports, friends, and family, I am overjoyed to be Londonderry High School's valedictorian," Wrisley said. "Especially, knowing our class and how amazing they are, I take pride in being recognized at the top of a momentous class."

Wrisley said some of

his favorite moments in high school include winning the state football championship in 2021 along with things like driving golf carts in the Memorial Day Parade.

He said graduation is also a top memory he will have from his high school career.

"I was able to see the entirety of our high school careers' recognized and celebrated," Wrisley said.

Wrisley said the most challenging moments of his career came in his fall semesters during his junior and senior years.

"Those semesters consisted of nothing but football and school in order to maintain my best work, both in the classroom and on the field," Wrisley said. "Especially the fall of my senior year, it contained college applications too, so I really didn't have any time to waste. While these times were challenging, I was able to balance all the commitments."

Next year Wrisley is attending Worcester Polytechnic Institute, where he's excited for new classes and to "get to work on planes, drones, and rockets."

"For a career, I have not decided if I want to focus on aeronautical or astronautical concentration, but I will have the next four years to decide that. Either way, I hope to build planes and rockets of some sort," Wrisley said.

Isabel Schickler

Schickler, whose two brothers graduated from Londonderry High School before her, said she is proud to be named salutatorian.

"Earning the distinction of Salutatorian was rewarding, because I felt like my diligence and persistence over the past four years were being recognized," Schickler said. "I didn't necessarily have the goal to be at the top of my class, but my determination led me to this point, and I'm just thankful for everyone who pushed me to be who I am today."

Schickler said her favorite experience happened right before her last week of senior year when she was working on an altered book project with eight other classmates who all pulled an all-nighter as they tried to complete the assignment.

"I didn't finish my book (only one of us did, actually), however, the night was so rewarding in many other ways. My peers and I laughed at our past mistakes, connected with each other, and grew closer as a result of one long night, tackling a huge project," Schickler said.

She said the experience reminded her to enjoy "all of the moments in between the stress and the struggles." "My education will always be something I can pursue, however, the people I meet in high school are people I need to cherish in the four years we have together," Schickler said.

Schickler said a challenging time in her high school year was during her junior year.

"My academic course-load was heavier than it had ever been, and on top of that, I was in treatment for a mental illness I was struggling with. Only a few of my classmates and teachers knew what I was going through, and it was hard to keep up with assignments when half of my time after school was devoted to improving my mental health," Schickler said. "I'm so thankful for my parents and best friends for supporting me during this time, because of them, I chose recovery, and I am a stronger person now."

Next year Schickler is attending the University of Pennsylvania where she will be studying neuroscience.

"I plan to stay in school for at least ten years to earn my PhD. While my future is not set in stone, my current goal is to have a career in neuropsychology," Schickler said.

Former Police Chief William Hart to Serve as U.S. Marshal for N.H.

Senators Jeanne Shaheen and Maggie Hassan issued the following joint statement after the U.S. Senate approved the nomination of Chief William Hart to serve as U.S. Marshal for the District of New Hampshire.

Chief Hart served as Chief of the Londonderry Police Department from 2009 to 2022 and was previously a captain with the department. Prior to his time with the Londonderry Police Department, he served as Rockingham County Attorney from 1995 to 1999. Hart was also a prosecutor and is a Marine Corps veteran.

"We offer our sincerest congratulations to Chief Hart for his confirmation to serve as the next U.S. Marshal for the District of New Hampshire. It's hard to find a U.S. Marshal nominee with more merit. His record as a police chief, prosecutor and Marine Corps veteran exemplifies the values of the US Marshal Service: justice, integrity, service, unity, empowerment and inclusivity," said Senators Shaheen and Hassan. "US Marshals make our country's justice system work by upholding the law and seeking accountability. We're proud to have such an upstanding public servant lead the District of NH, and help protect the rights and liberties of all Granite Staters."

Bring Out the Best in You

The world throws curveballs whether we like it or not, it is all part of life, things beyond our control happen all the time. We only have control over how we respond to a situation. Some people will rise to the occasion, while others will show what they are truly made of.

One of the biggest hurdles we face is how we handle difficult situations. The truth is, these situations tend to bring out the best and the worst in people. It amazes me that some people capitalize on other people's misfortune. Some use it to build themselves up either for power or to make money, by creating scams to rip people off. If you believe in karma, as I do, these folks are in deep trouble.

How we handle these situations is what builds character, and it's what makes us resilient. It is these challenges that we face in life that will only make us stronger and give us the confidence to conquer any obstacle.

I have learned over the years to try and find the light in bad situations and show strength and courage. I find your true character will emerge, bubbling up from deep inside, allowing you to think clearly. It is when you are able to let go of the hopeless and unproductive thoughts and get down to the business of dealing with the situation, then and only then can you see clearly and be free of this burden. Be courageous and run toward the problem rather than away from it, taking action gives you control. What I want to say is to be supportive, give without being asked, and be selfless.

Be hopeful and have faith, there is hope in everyone. Hope motivates you to stay the course in hard times and gives you a reason to pause. Hope also has a way of saying that even a bad start can still have a happy ending.

Face reality and find a way to deal with it rather than withdraw from it. Be mindful of what really matters and appreciate what you already have.

Just know lessons are learned from these challenging situations. Your action serves as a constant reminder that even though the world is large, one person can still make a world of difference.

Be a role model that makes you proud. In times like these, bringing out the best in ourselves may be all we can do.

Let difficult situations and challenges bring out the best in you.

Sea Level Rise Will Impact Cities

To the editor,

The melting of our glaciers and the Arctic and Antarctic ice shelves due to global warming will continue to cause rising sea levels around the world.

If the melting continues at the current rate, by 2050 about 150 million people in the world living near coastlines could be displaced due to flooding. Sea levels could rise by up to eight feet by 2100.

Various coastal cities in the world could be impacted, including the U.S. cities of Boston; Miami; Atlantic City; Key West; Galveston; Seattle; St. Petersburg; Tybee Island, GA; Charleston; New Orleans; Los Angeles; San Diego; Fort Lauderdale; Hoboken; Honolulu and New York. These cities will not be completely under water, but they could experience significant and consistent flooding in some parts of the cities, which could make those areas uninhabitable. Currently, the village of Kivalina Alaska is threatened by rising waters, and it is projected to disappear within 10 years.

We have to reduce the Carbon emissions going into our atmosphere by utilizing more renewable energy sources, including wind and solar power; evaluating small scale nuclear power systems in series; driving electric vehicles; and by conserving our Carbon absorbing natural resources, especially trees.

Other mitigation strategies are using mass transit instead of cars, better insulating homes and buildings, replacing old appliances, and supporting local businesses that promote these strategies.

Stonehenge

"One of the keys for roundabouts is controlling speeds on the approaches and going through the intersection," Higgins stated. "It's important to control those speeds, it reduces the number and severity of crashes while helping with traffic capacity."

When completed, the Stonehenge Project should improve safety for drivers in the area.

The current design will signal drivers to slow down while allowing water to safely drain from the roadway surface to minimize environmental concerns. The project will impact wetlands to a degree, and NHDOT is still talking with federal regulators to finalize some permitting. A stormwater prevention plan will be in place during construction.

There was some concern from residents. John Wilson of 3 Tranquil Drive approved of the design, but worried that "if we build a roundabout, we don't have the flexibility of managing traffic that you do with a light, size of the circle is critical."

"My question is, how are we going to figure out how big this roundabout has to be?" Wilson asked.

Higgins overviewed NHDOT's prediction growth in the area, the road will be wide enough to accommodate 18-wheeler trucks. "We feel this size is adequate for the future to facilitate traffic."

State Senator, Sharon Carson, was more skeptical about how the NHDOT proposal could change traffic flow.

"I'm concerned about how we're going to deal with truck traffic," said Carson. "I am just not sure this is the right thing to do, as opposed to just having a traffic light. There is a roundabout in Derry, and there was just a fatality in their traffic circle, I'm not sure this is going to solve the problem, I want to hear from the town's law enforcement."

The current NHDOT traffic study doesn't anticipate a massive increase in truck traffic and they hope to start construction for the Stonehenge Project in 2025.

According to Town Manager, Mike Malaguti, the $1 million portion the town is contributing has been already acquired.

There was $470,071 received by the town from the State of NH as an increase in Municipal Aid in 2020 and another $520,000 received from the State as a Highway Block grant in 2017.

There was $210,553 accepted as unanticipated revenue with resolution 2020-07.

The $470,071 was originally accepted as $265,553, but $55,000 was paid to the State of NH for preliminary engineering in May of 2020. Another $259,518 was accepted through the March 2020 Ballot as Warrant Article 8.

Housing Complex Proposed on Gilcreast Road at Overgrown Orchard

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Planning Board had a conceptual review and a non-binding discussion for a proposed 96 unit multi family residential development and site improvements for the property located at 35 Gilcreast Road during the June 14 meeting.

Joe Maynard, who was representing the applicant, said it's on 20 acres of land that was previously used for an orchard.

He said right now they are proposing to put in townhouse style buildings with three to six units per structure. Each of them would also have a driveway and a two car garage.

Assistant Town Manager, Kellie Caron, said the proposal needs to be reviewed still and they need to verify if its the correct density.

Planning Board Secretary, Jake Butler, said the driveways proposed were "kind of ugly" and suggested they look at changing them.

Ex-Officio, Bruce

Hallowell, asked about the price point.

Maynard said they would be market rate, but how much is yet to be determined, saying it's hard to tell until things like the road are built.

"It's a moving target," Maynard said.

Hallowell stated he envisions them being like the type of property he was in when he became a homeowner, and hopes it will bring in younger people to help develop the community.

"It's somewhat affordable for a professional starting out," Hallowell said.

He added: "That's kind of what I envision the project as."

Hallowell said they also may want to consider making it an old school New England row house style complex.

"Like an old New England row house with a garage I think is cool," Hallowell said.

Town Council Ex-Officio, Ted Combes, said based on the size of the neighborhood they may want to consider adding a park or playground with some open space for people to walk to.

"It's just a thought to have for your group," Combes said.

Planning Board Vice Chair, Al Sypek, said if they are going to have private roads he thought it would make sense to have a shelter on the road for kids who are waiting for the bus.

One question asked during the meeting was if public roads would be allowed as part of the proposed project.

Caron explained that it's their preference for developments like the one being proposed for the roads to be private, so the town isn't responsible for the maintenance of the road.

Butler said he agreed about having some sort of community area as part of the proposed project as a place for people to go.

Planning Board Chairman, Art Rugg, recommended they work with the town's planning department throughout the process.

"We ask you to work closely with staff, very closely," Rugg said.

He also noted they should meet with the abutters, especially with people from the Nevins, saying it would make sense to meet with them as a group.

"Do the homework," Rugg said.

Utilities

Continued from page 1 said, "We, as a community, need to get our act together in doing these things."

A May proposal to create subcommittees was formalized from the planned unofficial meetings, following a legal recommendation formalizing every meeting. A subcommittee agenda will be posted at least 24 hours before any meeting with publically available minutes of each session to follow New Hampshire's Right to Know law.

"The law is fairly clear that the public is entitled to know when subcommittees are meeting, so the public can attend when they want to," said Town Manager, Mike Malaguti.

All subcommittees are designed to be relatively informal, advisory bodies to streamline work for the full Utilities Committee. Members emphasized that Londonderry residents are always welcome to attend subcommittee meetings if they have any ideas or concerns.

Subcommittees began operating with Michael Speltz for energy concerns in town and a promise to cover energy-related issues. The discussion focused on renewables, including two solar proposals from Twin States Clean Energy and Walden Renewables. Both companies have looked into building solar panels on town property. Twin States and Walden are not the only companies to make a pitch for solar in recent months.

"The problem is that every company seems to envision just leasing town land," said Speltz, as Malaguti added, "I'm getting flooded with calls and solicitations from many solar companies. Some of the property is plainly inappropriate for what we want to do, and I just don't have the bandwidth."

Committee members agreed to look at all solar proposals going into the future and that more information was needed to determine whether Twin States and Walden have a viable proposition for Londonderry.

Another concern was water pressure on Mammoth Road after an engineering report found that the eight and sixteen-inch water lines might not have enough water pressure to keep up with demand in case of a large fire in the area.

"In Pennichuck's Master Plan, it identifies that they do not have sufficient fire protection for a full build-out without a new water tank and better infrastructure," reported Committee member Ray Breslin. "It's why they're building a new water tank up off Harvey Road, to supply water volume and pressure."

Members agreed to invite Pennichuck to a later meeting to get a full picture of the situation.

The Utilities Committee is next scheduled to meet on Tuesday, July 20, in the Moose Hill Conference Room, starting at 7 p.m.

OBITUARY

Vincent Anthony Capobianco

Vincent Anthony Capobianco, 57, of Londonderry, NH, passed away peacefully on Saturday, June 17, 2023, at Massachusetts General Hospital after a ten-year bout with cancer. He was born on August 27, 1965, in Brooklyn, NY, son of Henry and Phyllis (Chiappetta) Capobianco. Vinnie had been a resident of Londonderry for the past 30 years. He was a graduate of Southern NH University, and an avid New York sports fan. Vinnie was the Director of Real Estate at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary in Boston for 25 years before returning to the car business as a Toyota Sales Consultant for the past 6 years. He will be remembered as a devoted father, loving husband, and friend to all.

He is survived by his loving wife of 29 years, Holly (Hackman) Capobianco, two sons and future daughters-in-law, Zachary Capobianco and Briana Capistran, and Nicholas Capobianco and Stephanie Creegan, his mother, Phyllis, two sisters, Ines Capobianco and Marie Dionne, as well as many aunts, uncles, cousins, nieces, and nephews. He was predeceased by his father Henry, and twin sister, Lisa Mwangi.

LONDONDERRY TIMES

At the June 7 Planning Board meeting, one of the public hearings was in regards to a formal review of site plan for a proposed 100,000 sq. ft. warehouse building and associated site improvements at 13 Page Road.

It was explained by Michael Cavanaugh from the applicant Rhino Capital Advisors that they are in a unique situation where for the past year they have been working on the project, including getting financing, which is difficult right now.

He said they found a tenant, but need to have conditional approval in order to get the funding they need. He added that since the tenant is on a tight timeline they need to get a conditional approval in order to show viability for the project.

However, he said while they would be ready to go with making improvements to the site, there are a number of off site improvements that need to be made, including adding utilities and therefore were looking for conditional approvals without all of the off site work being done or the plans being hashed out entirely.

"We have things in place we don't want to fall through," Laura Gandia, a former Associate Planner for the Town who was representing the applicant, said.

She stated that they would be willing to put a number of conditions in place which they would have to complete in order for building permits to be issued.

"We're committed to fulfilling all conditions," Gandia said.

Some of the comments that they are working through for the off site improvements includes the roadway and sewer.

"Rhino Capital needs to ensure all those involved that there is a clear path for development. This can be done tonight with the granting of conditional approval," Gandia said.

Director of Engineering Services, John Trottier, said staff were recommending continuing the project due to the number of comments needing to be addressed.

"Staff recommends the Planning Board continuing this application to allow sufficient time to address outstanding comments and allow further refinement of the offside improvements," Trottier said.

Assistant Town Manager, Kellie Caron, said she also thought they should continue the project and not flat out reject it.

"I would not encourage denial of this application, we're recommending continuance to allow time to address any comments the board may have," Caron said.

She said since there are enough significant outstanding comments needed to be addressed, she thought the board should be involved with it still, but said the board could have the planning department handle it if they wanted to give conditional approval.

"That's within your jurisdictional right," Caron said.

Gandia said if they aren't minor conditions as part of the conditional approval then they would still have to go back in front of the Planning Board, which was the case in their situation.

"That's how the process should be done," Gandia said.

Mark Fortin, who is an abutter to the project, said the project would be a good tax revenue and it's far enough back from the road.

Town Council Chair, John Farrell, said he likes bringing tax revenue to town, but didn't agree with having that many items being addressed at the staff level and not in public. He argued there were other ways it could've been handled, including through a developers agreement.

Planning Board Chair, Art Rugg, said he didn't think they had enough information yet to make a decision.

The Planning Board voted to continue the plan until July 12.

Planning Board Look at Rockingham Road Medical Building

ALEX MALM
LONDONDERRY TIMES

The Planning Board had a conceptual review and non-binding discussion for a proposed 30,000 square foot medical building with associated site improvements for the properties at 175 Rockingham Road, 71 Perkins Road, and 171 Rockingham Road during their June 14 meeting.

Sam Voice, representing the applicant, said they may end up reducing the size of the building and make some changes to the site depending on how many tenants they end up with.

"We're still working out future tenants," he said.

He stated that they expect to know in around 60 days if they will have enough tenants for the original proposal.

Voice said the property is about a third of a mile west of the I-93 Exit 5 interchange, and that the property is about 3.2 acres.

"The proposed development is a 30,000 square foot facility," Voice said.

He explained as of now the proposed project is for two stories, and from the road people will be able to see the two stories, but from the back they would only be able to see one.

Voice said the site proposal meets the open space requirements for zoning, and they have more parking than is required.

He said the requirement is four spaces for every 1,000 square feet, but the proposal is for five for every 1,000 square feet, saying the expected tenants usually need more parking spaces.

Voice noted that they are proposing to have a covered drop off area in the front to protect patients from the elements. The rear entrance would primarily be for employees.

It was pointed out by Voice that there are two wetlands on the lot and in order for the project to be feasible they may need to be impacted and they will be going through the Department of Environmental Services process.

He said the site will comply with the signage ordinances and they aren't expecting to seek relief for it.

Voice said he expects to know what they will be building in terms of size in the next couple of months.

"I think in the next two months we're going to know whether we're building what you see or whether it's half of that," Voice said.

Planning Board member, Ann Chiampa, said she thought having a medical building there is "amazing."

Planning Board alternate member, Tony DeFrancesco, said he also thought it was a great use for the property.

"There's no question the use is brilliant," DeFrancesco said.

Planning Board Chair, Art Rugg, suggested that they work staff and the abutters to the property.

"It's really working with everyone, especially the abutters," Rugg said.

Post 27 Senior Legion Team Off to an Excellent Start

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Londonderry's American Legion Post 27 Senior Baseball squad began their first week of summer baseball season and had a somewhat successful start with two wins and a 10-inning tie.

New head coach, Chris Tutt, headed into the season with a number of players from the Lancers team that is fresh off a state championship in both varsity and junior varsity and hopes to continue that momentum through the summer.

Their season started just three days after the Lancers captured another Division I state title hosting a game against the Post 63 team out of Salem.

The season opener ended with a walk-off 5-4 win, thanks to a seventh inning error, committed by Salem, on a ground ball hit to third by Liam Stot.

It took three pitchers to capture the Post 27 win, with Mike Crowley getting the start, and pitching three, Kevin Rourke came in for two in relief and Joey Cafaro got the win as the two-inning closer.

It was a fairly evenly matched game with both teams getting two runs in the opening inning, followed by Post 27 taking the lead in the bottom of the fourth, only to have Salem come back in the fifth.

Both squads had runs in the sixth, and went into the final inning knotted at four, where Post 27 pulled through.

Leftfielder, Colin Parent, was two for three at the plate and five other Londonderry batters scattered four other hits in the game.

The Post 27 pitchers struck out seven batters, walked three, and gave up eight hits. Two nights later, in another home game at LHS, the team faced Nashua's Coffey Post #3, where they ran out of light and played to a 3-3, 10-inning tie. Leaving the game to be continued at a later date.

thirds of an inning.

Londonderry got all of their runs in the first inning to lead 3-2 until the fourth, when Coffey tied the contest at 3-3.

Carey and Ben Martin were the only Londonderry players to get hits in the game, both in the first, with Carey getting a double to left.

Post 27 pitchers gave up 10-hits, struck out six, and walked seven.

The Londonderry squad finished the week in Derry, at Pinkerton Academy against the Post 9 squad, where they came away with a 2-0 shut out victory.

Hamilton received the win, after pitching five innings and giving up just one hit, while striking out six and walking just three.

Cafaro got the save, pitching two hitless innings and striking out six Derry batters.

Londonderry got their first run in the third, thanks to a two-out triple hit to straight-away center field by Carey. He drove in Hamilton, who was on base with a single.

Post 27's second run of the game came from a ground ball by Devin Boles with two men on in the sixth inning. Jackson Marshall and Rourke were both on with singles.

Carey and Hamilton both had two hits in the game for half of the team's eight hits.

Post 27 was scheduled to play four games in the second week of the season.

The team plays Tuesday against Post 7 (Rochester) and on Wednesday against Post 32 (Exeter). Both games are at LHS and both start at 5:30 p.m.

On Wednesday, the squad will have a double-header in Salem against Post 63 starting at 5:30 p.m.

Aspiring Young Ninja Warriors Heading for World Challenge

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Londonderry twins Eli and Pacey Parece-Grogan are continuing their dream of becoming American Ninja Warrior champions after completing their third year of training in the sport.

The local young athletes, who are 12 and are headed into seventh grade next year, will be taking two trips this summer at the world level of the American Ninja sport.

The twins participated in a number of local Ultimate Ninja Athlete Association (UNAA) competitions of the course of the year and they recently qualified for the UNAA World Ninja competition, taking place in Orlando, Florida on July 26-30, by placing in the top three of a regional competition.

Eli also qualified for World Ninja League (WNL) and is headed to North Carolina, with his family, for the 2023 WNL Championships happening this weekend from June 23 to June 25.

The two siblings live in south Londonderry and during the COVID-19 Pandemic became interested in the parkour-type sport and have been training ever since.

They train at the USA Ninja Challenge gym in Hudson, which is owned by Brian O'Connor, and they train with coach Claire O'Connor.

The two have also been able to train outside the gym. His parents and grandfather constructed a number of Ninja obstacles in their backyard, with one of those obstacles being a 12-foot Warped-Wall, which is one of the major components of the "Ninja" courses.

The Warped-Wall is usually the largest obstacle in any of the Ninja courses, standing between 10- and 14-foot high and is a curved wall that challenges participants to run up and ascend the curved area and climb over it. A very difficult challenge.

Other challenges set up in the yard include a Spider Wall, Quad Steps, Spinning Logs, Jump Hangers, Rings, and Cliffhanger Rails.

The two were able to qualify for the UNAA World Ninja competition at regional qualifier competition that took place in Marlborough Mass. this spring.

Both young athletes are extremely excited about the two trip and have been busy training at the gym and their backyard and are currently fundraising for the Florida trip to the UNAA World Ninja competition.

For those interested in helping with the twin's efforts, both have GoFundMe pages set up.

Lafa Officials Commemorate Mark Bondra with Bench

Lafa Treasurer, Rob Galan, and past president, Tim Dodge, unveil bench.

CHRIS PAUL
LONDONDERRY TIMES

Members of the Londonderry Athletic Field Association (Lafa) paid tribute to a beloved member of the organization, Mark Bondra, with a ceremony, dedicating a bench in his name.

Bondra tragically lost his life nearly one-year ago during a vacation in the lakes region and left behind family members, friends and business associates to mourn his loss.

On Saturday, June 17, a large group gathered under the Pavilion at the Lafa Complex for a remembrance and bench dedication to honor Bondra, who served as the Lafa secretary.

Lafa Treasurer, Rob Galan, led the ceremony, and spoke briefly on his friendship with Bondra.

He began by saying that Bondra went out of his way as secretary to make sure those who couldn't afford to pay for the baseball and softball league, were able to still participate through his financial help with behind-the-scenes work at Lafa.

Also speaking was Tim Dodge, a former president of Lafa, who mentioned what an honor it was to be friends with Bondra.

He said the bench would always live at Lafa to remember Mark's dedication to the Lafa organization.

Mark's wife, Kelly, and children, Hailey, Jayden and Kayla also attended the event.

Concerts On The Common Series Continues Through Summer

The Concerts on the Common Music series continues over the next two weeks, featuring Raquel & The Wildflowers on Wednesday, June 28, and the duo Martin and Kelly on Wednesday, July 5. The concerts are performed each Wednesday night, on the Londonderry Town Common from 7 to 8:30 p.m. The series is organized by the Londonderry Arts Council and is in its 23rd season.

Raquel & The Wildflowers

The council had great feedback from the audience at last year's Raquel & The Wildflowers concert and brought the group back again this year.

This nationally touring energetic powerhouse blends the sound of traditional country music with a rock and roll drive.

Raquel & The Wildflowers previously performed at Country Fest 2021 with headlining artists Dierks Bentley, Kane Brown, and Thomas Rhett, MUSIK FEST 2021 with headlining artists such as Darius Rucker, ZEDD, Sam Hunt, KT Tunstall, opened for multi-platinum artist Andy Grammer, award winning bands and more.

The group is currently working on new original music and are excited to continue touring nationally bringing live music to their fans across the US.

One week later, there

Martin and Kelly

will be another group that has seen the common stage before.

According to the council, "If you were lucky enough to see Martin and Kelly perform for us last year, then you know exactly why they are back. Whoa - what a concert.

The incredibly talented duo of Jilly Martin and Ryan Brooks Kelly have become the next must-see act from New England to Nashville."

"The duo are standouts in today's cross-over country music scene, Jilly & Ryan's songs bridge the boundary between traditional and new country.

They've made their mark with highly acclaimed original music and are winning over audiences each and every time they perform. Jilly and Ryan's compelling songwriting, dynamic vocal harmonies and stunning musicianship have them poised for a breakthrough in the music industry."

Weather Policy: The bad weather venue -is at the Londonderry High School cafeteria.

There is always a concert, if it's raining or bad weather, we move indoors to one of the schools near the Town Common. To determine the exact location, check our Facebook page or web site after 2 p.m. on the day of the concert for more details.

READERS ARE CAUTIONED that we occasionally run ads that require an initial investment or money in advance. We urge our readers to "do their homework" before responding to any ad, check out the advertiser thoroughly and verify their claims to your total satisfaction. Only then should you proceed at your own risk. We try to screen ads that require you to send money before receiving a product or service. But these efforts are no substitute for your own investigation, and we don't endorse or guarantee any claims made in any of the ads we publish. If you want more information about claims made in ads on subjects such as work at home opportunities, travel or vacation specials, purchasing land or vehicles from government surplus or below wholesale, loans or other credit opportunities (including credit repair), or weight loss and other health products and services, we urge you to contact the Office of Attorney General, Consumer Protection Bureau, 33 Capitol Street, Concord, NH 03301 (603-271-3641) or the Better Business Bureau at 603-224-1991. Publisher is not responsible for any loss of business if an ad does not run, and we reserve the right to revoke any ad if deemed necessary. No refunds will be given for prepaid ads.

OBITUARY

Ruth A. (Wittenberg) McGraw

On the morning of June 16, our dear Ruth went to be with her Lord & Savior.

Ruth A. (Wittenberg) McGraw, 80, of Londonderry, passed away Friday, June 16, 2023, at her residence in Londonderry. Ruth was born on March 31, 1943 in Shafter, CA, a daughter of the late Arnold and Evelyn (Ratzlaff) Wittenberg, and had been a resident of Londonderry for the past 26 years, formerly living in Bakersfield, CA.

Ruth is survived by her loving husband of 21 years, Gene McGraw of Londonderry; daughter, Deanna Missert and her husband, Thomas of Windham, NH; three grandchildren, Justin Missert and Brittany Sylvain of Manchester, Kaley Missert of Napa, CA., and three brothers, Ken Wittenberg, Chuck Wittenberg, Arnold-Dean Wittenberg all of California.

Ruth was predeceased by her granddaughter, Devon Nicole Missert, and her sister Dora Bradford.

After graduating from Shafter High School in 1961, Ruth took several jobs, earned her degree from Cal State Bakersfield and went on settled into a position as a Bibliographical Librarian and Supervisor at the Beale Library in Bakersfield for over 20 years. She helped manage all 24 branches of the Kern County Public Library System.

Her plan was to work until Elvis Presley came and swept her off her feet. In the spring of 1997, her daughter Deanna, hired an Elvis impersonator to escort Ruth out of the library, to a limousine and into retirement. She was missed by her co-workers and Kern County had to hire 5 people to do the work she had done over the years. If Ruth was told a job could not be done, she would do it anyway.

Retirement allowed her to sell her home in Bakersfield, and move to Londonderry NH to become known and loved. as Grandma Ruth. She spent the next 25 years showering love, joy and happiness on her family and their friends.

In 2002 fate brought Ruth back together with an amazing man, Cowboy and forever friend. She married her soul mate Gene McGraw. Together they spent the last 21 years filled with life, love, happiness, and crazy adventures.

Ruth had many hobbies that ranged from String Art to Diamond-Dots to playing computer games with her friends. One of her greatest joys was spending time with her grandchildren and the friends they would bring to her home to visit. (And maybe get some of her famous alligator pancakes)

Grandma Ruth loved & was loved by everyone who took two minutes to get to know her. She had an immense heart and cared deeply for her family. She will be deeply missed but fondly and dearly remembered with Love by all those she touched in her journey.

From Gene, Thank you Ruth for giving me 21 years of happiness. I will love you always and forever.

Arrangements for Grandma Ruth's Celebration of Life are set for Monday June 26, from 5 - 7 p.m., at the Peabody Funeral Home, 290 Mammoth Rd., Londonderry, NH 03053. Family and friends are welcome to stop by the Coach Stop Restaurant and Tavern at 176 Mammoth Rd., Londonderry after the celebration for light bites. In lieu of flowers, Ruth had asked that memorial donations be sent to The Devon Nicole House Foundation, PO Box 4206, Windham, NH 03087. (www.devonshouse.org) To send a condolence, please visit, www.peabodyfuneralhome.com
